POLICE GRAFT CASE WILL GO TO GRAND JURY

Patrolman and Another Are Held to Await Action of Body.

HEARING IS MARKED BY ATTORNEYS' TILT

Bonds Set at $1,000 as Girls Tell Attempt at "Shake-Down."

OBJECTIONS BLOCK STORY OF SHOOTING

Court Rules Extortion Only Charge on Which Evidence Can Be Heard.

Ardie Swortzel, suspended Fourth Precinct policeman, and John C. Elgin, of Seat Pleasant, Md., were held for the grand jury on charges of attempted extortion following a hearing before Judge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Court yesterday. James Crotts bricklayer and carnival performer, who was shot by Policeman S. F. Gravely in connection with the case, will be arraigned on a similar charge if he survives wounds that are likely to prove fatal.

The charges grew out of an alleged attempt to "shake-down" a disorderly house on First near T street northwest early last Wednesday. Rose Marie Foster, the Government's first witness in yesterday's stormy hearing identified Swortzel as the man who she said came to the First street house and exhibited a police badge with the demand for $30 "protection money." Elgin and Crotts, she said, had accompanied the policeman.

The Foster woman's more or less garbled tale of what preceded Crotts shooting was interrupted by frequent tilts between Assistant U. S. Attorney John R. Fitzpatrick and Defense Counsel Crandal Mackey, who was thwarted in most of his efforts to discredit the woman's testimony.

Opponent Called Nuisance.

Mr. Mackey branded his legal opponent as a "nuisance who objects to harmless, relevant questions." "Who are you trying to protect?" Mr Mackey asked, after Mr. Fitzpatrick had objected to questions concerning the Foster woman's occupation and associates.

"I hear your insinuations," Mr Fitzpatrick shouted, "and I say they are entirely loose and out of order."

The witness said that after she had agreed to telephone for the money allegedly demanded by Swortzel, the policeman, Crotts and Elgin had gone across the street to wait for a curtain signal.

"I walked out in the street," she continued, "and just then Detective W. F. Burke and a man who I later learned to be Gravely drove up in a car. I told them what had happened, and they started to drive around the block in search of the men. I saw four men standing near the corner then, and shouted, 'Here they are.' Mr. Burke then drove back."

Shooting Story Withheld.

Mr. Mackey's effort to have her describe the shooting of Crotts was overruled by Judge Hitt, who sustained Mr. Fitzpatrick's claim that this evidence was beyond the scope of the hearing.

Detective Burke, the only other witness, briefly confirmed the Foster woman's description of what happened after she met him on the street, and explained his presence in the precinct by saying that he was covering the First street house in an effort to locate a woman in connection with a recent robbery. He added that Elgin was sitting in a car with Crotts when the latter jumped out and ran. "I joined Gravely in running the man as far as the corner," he stated.

"So you both left Elgin unguarded while you chased Crotts?" Mr. Mackey asked. The witness replied in the affirmative.

All efforts of defense counsel to establish Burke's knowledge of the disorderly house were overruled, although the detective was allowed to admit that he had known the Foster woman "for a long time."

Denies Order to Shoot.

"When you were chasing Crotts, didn't you shout, 'Shoot him, Gravely, shoot him?'" Mr. Mackey asked.

"I said nothing," Burke answered, too late for the Assistant United States attorney's objection. To the next eleven questions asked by the defense counsel, Mr. Fitzpatrick objected, and Judge Hitt sustained the objections on the grounds that the hearing was concerned only with the extortion charge.

"Have you been informed that you are likely to be indicted for complicity in Crotts' shooting?" Mr. Mackey asked.

"I have received no such intimation," Burke said, "and I do not look for such action, as I have done nothing wrong."

After Burke's testimony, Mr. Mackey moved that the charge against Elgin

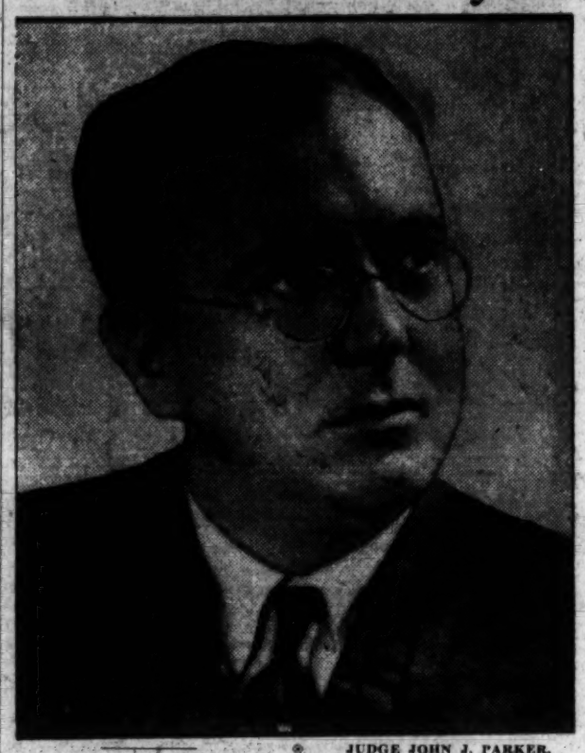
John J. Parker Named To Succeed Sanford



JUDGE JOHN J. PARKER, North Carolina jurist, nominated yesterday by President Hoover to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench created by the death of Justice Edward T. Sanford.

North Carolina Jurist Is On Federal Bench in Fourth District.

(Associated Press.)

The nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to be associate justice of the Supreme Court, succeeding the late Edward T. Sanford, of Tennssee, was forwarded to the Senate yesterday by President Hoover.

The second appointee of Mr. Hoover to the highest tribunal is now on the bench of the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fourth District, embracing Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Like his predecessor, Parker is a Republican.

Judge Parker is 44 years old, and is the youngest man to be nominated to the Supreme Court in 100 years. He is the first man from these States to go to the high court in 70 years. Only two other men as young as he have served on the Supreme Bench—John Jay, the Chief Justice, who was 44

THREE-POWER PACT NOW SEA PARLEY'S AIM

Such Treaty to Allow Increases to Meet French Building.

MANY DIFFICULTIES TO BE SURMOUNTED

Contracting Nations to Be Embarrassed by Italy's Position.

ENGLAND, HOWEVER, FEARS HER INCLUSION

Japan, in Strong Diplomatic Position, Will Demand Cruiser Concessions.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON,

London, March 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—It was stated in American quarters today—and the significance of the statement needs no comment—that the London naval conference next week will probably shape itself toward a three-power agreement among the oceanic powers, the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

While the American view is that the French program need not cause Great Britain to increase her own fleet, nevertheless an agreement between three friendly powers would almost necessarily contain a clause making it plain that each signatory reserves the right to modify its program should a political situation arise affecting the basis upon which any such agreement was made.

Thus the United States is prepared to accept a three-power pact under which Great Britain may build beyond the Rapidan figures if French building makes this appear necessary to the London government, with a corresponding right given to the United States and Japan to hoist their navies in accordance.

Premier Visits King.

Between talks with Secretary of State Stimson and former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki this morning Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald visited King George at Buckingham Palace.

The British monarch was told, it is believed, that the French had practically walked out of the conference and that the British, American and Japanese statesmen are now actively discussing a three-power pact. The British king's right to be consulted when any important change in state policy is in prospect is one upon which the present sovereign always has insisted.

But the technical difficulties in the way of negotiating any three-power treaty, as distinct from a gentlemen's agreement, are so formidable that they may well be unsurmountable. In one sense, France has walked out; in another she is very much present, even though her last two visiting delegates, Minister of Marine Jacques Louis Dumesnil and Minister of Colonies Francois Pietri, returned to Paris tonight.

They will probably come back, however. So may Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, and even Prime Minister Andre Tardieu might find it politic to cross the channel again, though dispatches from Paris say he will not unless there is something for him to do in London.

Italy's Position Is Problem.

France was invited to this conference and apparently proposes to keep a skeleton delegation here. That is awkward enough since France is ready to make the kind of treaty she wants; but Italy's position of injured innocence in the face of three-power treaty talk is a nightmare to the British and American statesmen.

Italy, too, was invited to the conference. Italy has not walked out and Italy alone has consistently of-

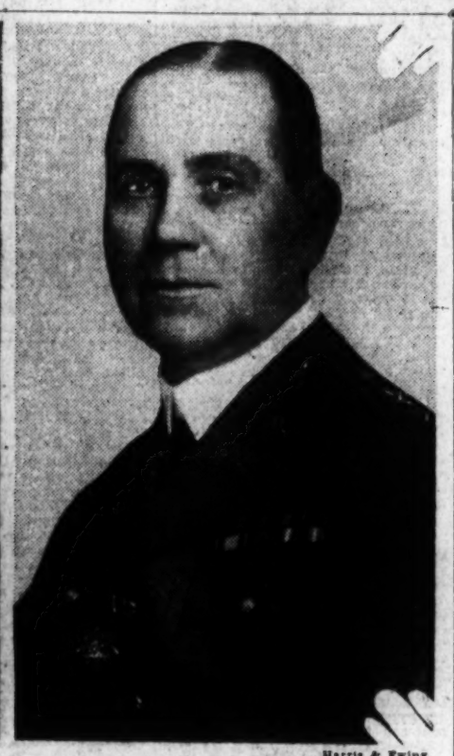
REICHELDERFER AND CROSBY PLAN NO SWEEPING CHANGES AS NEW CHIEFS OF DISTRICT



Harris & Ewing.

Left to right—Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, who were nominated as the two civilian members of the District Commission by President Hoover yesterday.

Doctor and General to Study Duties of Their Posts.

BOTH TO BE SILENT TILL CONFIRMATION

Only Statement Either Makes Is to Deny Shake-Ups.

PHYSICIAN TRAINED IN MILITARY WAYS

Latest Nominee Served for 23 Years in District National Guard.

There will be no overnight and widespread shake-up in the administration of District government affairs by the new Board of District Commissioners.

Although they have never met nor talked with each other, that was the one statement made by the two men whose nominations to be District Commissioners were sent to the Senate yesterday by President Hoover after months of consideration of the problem of giving Washington improved municipal administration.

Dr. Luther Reichelderfer, 56-year-old retired physician and surgeon, who has made Washington his home since he was thirteen years of age, and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, who was retired as chief of cavalry of the Army at midnight Thursday, were nominated by the President to be the two new civilian Commissioners of the District. The Senate is expected to give prompt confirmation to both appointments and the new Commissioners are expected to take the places of Commissioner Sidney P. Taliaferro and Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty by the end of the month.

Considered for Weeks.

Determination of the President to name Gen. Crosby as one of the civilian Commissioners to have supervision of the Police and Fire Departments primarily was announced at the White House some weeks ago, but the final selection of Dr. Reichelderfer, it was reported, was not finally decided on by the President until the day before yesterday. In any event his selection was not admitted at the White House, although it was known weeks ago that Mr. Hoover had Dr. Reichelderfer under serious consideration.

Neither Dr. Reichelderfer, who will be president of the new Board of Commissioners and will take over the duties now performed by Commissioner Taliaferro, who is to become a vice president of Riggs National Bank, nor Gen. Crosby, who will take over the work of Commissioner Dougherty when the latter resumes his private business, would make any statement yesterday about their plans for the conduct of municipal affairs.

"I'm afraid that I am not good copy for the newspapers, but I have not been confirmed and I have not been intimately enough associated with District government affairs to have formed any program which I might set forth in any statement to the press," Dr. Reichelderfer said at his home at 1661 Crescent place northwest yesterday following announcement by the White House that his nomination and that of Gen. Crosby had been sent to the Senate for approval.

Plans Careful Study.

"If I am confirmed I shall take time to give careful study to the functionings of the municipal government departments and I shall not enter upon my new duties with any plan for sweeping, overnight changes."

If the foregoing might seem laconic, it is merely because it is the condensation of an hour's conversation in the course of which Dr. Reichelderfer answered each and every question asked without evasion but volunteered no word which might indicate he considered himself an especial st.

OUSTING OF HUSTON BY G. O. P. FORECAST

Retirement Due Soon, Is Wide Belief as Lobby Inquiry Goes On.

MEETING TO BE CALLED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The executive committee of the Republican national committee is to be called together soon and unless Chairman Claudius H. Huston resigns beforehand or receives an unexpected "break" he will be retired.

This was the virtually unanimous opinion in political circles yesterday following additional testimony against him before the Senate lobby committee.

The executive committee meeting is to be called for the ostensible purpose of selecting a successor to Representative Franklin W. Fort, who recently resigned as secretary, but disposition of the Huston matter will be the business uppermost in mind.

It would not be at all surprising either if Senator Watson, Republican leader, is named to succeed him. Senator Watson will probably be indignant at the use of his name. He is very friendly to Mr. Huston, but there is a definite move on to bring the chairmanship of the party to the Senate.

There is a strong belief, too, that it will not be opposed by the President, or rather that he will not seek to interpose a personal choice, inasmuch as both Dr. Hubert Work and Mr. Huston were his own selections. The feeling on Capitol Hill is that since it is the congressional campaigns with which the new chair-

JURY ORDERS DEATH FOR TRIGGER WOMAN

Mrs. Schroeder Sneers as She Hears Penalty for Killing Trooper.

FAMILY WEEPS-AT NEWS

New Castle, Pa., March 21 (A.P.).—Death in the electric chair was the verdict returned by a jury here tonight in the case of Irene Schroeder, 21, tried for the slaying of Highway Patrolman Brady Paul. The jury's decision was first degree murder, without mercy, which automatically carries the death penalty. The verdict was returned at 9:23 o'clock after the jury had retired at 6:44.

Mrs. Schroeder never flinched as the verdict was brought in. She did not even turn pale. Members of her family could be heard sobbing. Among the spectators in the courtroom many could be seen with handkerchiefs to their eyes. The blonde defendant sneered as she was led from the courtroom.

She had laughed as she entered the courtroom to hear the ten men and two women render their verdict. She chatted with Sheriff and Mrs. Charles N. Johnson while she waited. After the foreman had announced the verdict, Attorneys Thomas A. Dickey and Ben Jarrett, after consulting Irene, moved the court that the jury be polled.

Then in turn, the clerk asked each of the twelve jurors what verdict had been reached. Each and every one replied:

"Guilty of murder in the first degree and fix the penalty of death."

AL CAPONE GIVES UP; CHICAGO FREES HIM

IS SILENT ON SLAYINGS

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—Scarface Al Capone gave himself up to police today and became a free man.

The gang chief, hunted across half the country since his release from a Philadelphia prison last Monday after serving ten months for carrying a pistol, found out the police did not want him after all, that the State's attorney had nothing against him and that the Government was in no hurry to press its delinquent income tax charges or contempt of court proceedings against him.

Capone, the gang chief, dive keeper and liquor lord, whose name has been linked with a score of gangster killings, calmly walked into Chief of Detectives John Stege's office this afternoon, accompanied by his attorney, and said: "Here I am." As it developed, he might well have added: "What of it."

Soft spoken, well dressed, Capone chatted with newspaper men, explaining how he eluded everybody when he was released from prison, leisurely motored back to Chicago with his bodyguard, Frank Rio, who had served the ten months with him, and arrived here two days ago while squads of police and detectives were watching his home and haunts for a trace of him. He said he had gone to the home of a "friend" where he stayed until he talked with his lawyer, Thomas D. Nash, this afternoon, and decided to surrender "and to have it out with the cops."

Nash got in touch with Stege and arranged for the surrender. The police apparently were unprepared for the event. After Capone, accompanied by Phil d'Andre, reputed city hall "front" for the Capone crowd, arrived and chatted briefly with the newspapermen and others in Stege's office, he was taken under heavy guard to the Federal Building to see

Reichelderfer Offers Problem in Headlines

From the standpoint of the newspaper headline writers, the appointment of Gen. Herbert B. Crosby and Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer as District Commissioners was a 50-50 standoff.

The problem of the headline writer is to tell a story of 1,000 words in a headline of eight or less. With Crosby this is not so difficult, as for example: Crosby Played by Trade Group.

In the case of Dr. Reichelderfer, however, the copy editor is faced with the task of crowding a thirteen-letter name into a column only twelve letters wide in some types. If it were good taste, and the nominee would not mind, the headline writers would like to refer to him as "Doc."

EMMITTSBURG NUNS TRAPPED BY CHINESE

Appeals for Immediate Held for Beleaguered Group Sent to Capital.

BESIEGED AT KANCHOW

Appeals for immediate help for Bishop J. A. O'Shea, trapped with 10 American Catholic missionaries, many of them from Emmittsburg, Md., at Kanchow, in the interior of China were relayed today to the State Department.

Accepting the situation as a grave one, Acting Secretary of State Cotton announced that Nelson P. Johnson, American Minister in China, has requested the Chinese war ministry to send troops to protect the Americans.

The State Department also has appealed to the Rev. John J. Burke, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, to have orders cabled to Bishop O'Shea to withdraw from the Kanchow area at the very first opportunity.

TARIFF BILL TO PASS TODAY, IS PREDICTION

Curtis, Tired of Long Debate, Halts Night Sesion as Galeries Roar.

FOUR SCHEDULES REMAIN

(Associated Press.)

The final drive to pass the tariff bill today was promised last night by Senate leaders after attempts both by Democrats and Republicans to keep the Senate in session last night until the measure was disposed of had failed.

After eleven hours of labor had been completed and four more rate schedules still faced amendments, Senators Heflin (Democrat), Alabamo, and Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, led a movement to remain in session last night until the bill was passed.

"Everybody knows that this bill is going to be written in conference, so why not pass it now," shouted the New Hampshire senator.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, acting Democratic leader, interjected that the bill could not be passed in another three hours and it would be "scarcely human" to keep the tired senators in their places any longer.

After further cries from both sides that the session be continued, Mr. Walsh moved a recess until 11 a. m. The "nays" easily drowned out the "ayes," but Vice President Curtis, as weary as the rest, brought the session to an end with "the ayes have it," and the galeries roared.

While leaders were hopeful of passing the bill today, many senators believed the measure would go over until next week on account of set speeches by those who wish to explain their attitude on the bill as a whole.

Queries sent to foreign envoys by The Post asking for expressions of opinion on diplomatic immunity from District traffic regulations and on The Post editorial on the subject have brought five more responses. The issue was revived when a young railway clerk was injured in a collision with a car driven by Commander Juan Polich, Chilean naval attache.

Foreign envoys in Washington actually observe District traffic regulations with more strictness than private citizens of the Capital, Don Manuel C. Tellez, Ambassador of Mexico and dean of the diplomatic corps, points out in his reply to The Post query. His arguments, which are up-

The interesting history of diplomatic immunity is told in David Rankin Barbee's inimitable style. The article is of particular interest at this time because of a traffic accident here this week in which a diplomat was involved and because of the introduction of a bill in the Senate which would enforce traffic regulations against diplomats.

Rudy Vallee to Describe Sensational Rise to Fame

Washington Post Starts Story of Radio Singer Tomorrow.

The story for which all Washington has been waiting begins tomorrow in The Washington Post.

It is "Vagabond Dreams Come True," or the life story of Rudy Vallee, written by himself.

When Vallee first sprang into prominence as a radio entertainer, then as a motion picture artist and as the leader of one of the country's best liked bands, there were many doubters and scoffers.

Nobody could be all they said of this boy, the cynical declared. And that impression may prevail in many of the cities of the Nation today. But in Washington, Rudy Vallee is a real personage, a prince of good fellows and an entertainer de luxe. For Rudy

George sent for the benefit of the District government. There was no oratory in anything he said. There was nothing of the hale-fellow-well-met. On the whole, he is reticent, although entirely unabashed at even somewhat personal questions which he answered in the same even, quiet voice.

Although neither has met nor talked with the other, Gen. Crosby said much the same thing as did Dr. Reichelderfer. He plans no drastic and immediate changes in the departments he will supervise. The first thing he wants and intends to do is to familiarize himself at first hand with their workings.

No Sweeping Changes Loom.

"I have some ideas," the general admitted, "but I have formed no definite policies at this time. I am anxious to get acquainted with the details of the office and my first step will be to go to the District Building as soon as I can and meet the officials and begin to get first-hand knowledge of District administrative affairs.

"I can assure you," he told a reporter, "that there will not be any immediate or radical changes in the administration of the departments that will come under me. I want to go to the District Building and get more information about the work. I have been making some study of the matter since President Hoover asked me to take the work, but I want to do more."

Neither of the two men nominated by President Hoover is known to him as an intimate friend. Dr. Reichelderfer never has met the President. Gen. Crosby had met the President only once before the Chief Executive decided to name him as one of the District Commissioners. The general was on an inspection trip through the West at the time the President reached his decision. An order from the Secretary of War brought the general back to Washington immediately.

Incumbents Hold Over.

He is said to have told President Hoover that he had not even given a thought to such a post as District Commissioner but that he was a good soldier and had always been and he would take the job if that was desired.

The terms of Commissioners Dougherty and Taliaferro expired last February 4 and both have been serving beyond that date at the expressed wish of the President. Recently Commissioner Taliaferro wrote the President asking that he be relieved from further service after the end of this month and the President agreed.

Sending of the names of the new Commissioners to the Senate was delayed because of the fact that Gen. Crosby was still an active Army officer—chief of calvary—until midnight Thursday. Early yesterday, as soon as possible after Gen. Crosby was put on the Army retired list, the President sent his name and that of Dr. Reichelderfer to the Senate. Both men are ready to assume office as soon as they are confirmed.

New Board Is Sought.

An entirely new Board of Commissioners was reported to be Mr. Hoover's desire. This would mean the assignment of Col. William B. Ladue, Engineer Commissioner, to another post. The chief of engineers was said to have been asked to suggest another engineer officer, but nothing definite has been done about that, so far as is known.

It is no secret that many high ranking officers of the Army Engineer Corps have a high regard for the ability of Col. Ladue and there has been a general anxiety that nothing be done which would seem a reflection on the career which has placed Col. Ladue among the highest ranking officers of the corps.

It has been pointed out that during his administration as Engineer Commissioner he has practically reorganized the District government engineer department and put fundamental reforms in effect.

All Have Military Training.

Whether Col. Ladue comprises the third of the new triumvirate in District municipal affairs or another officer of the Engineer Corps eventually supplants him, if the two men named yesterday are confirmed, as expected, the new board of District Commissioners will be comprised of three men who have been actively identified with the military if they are not actually military officers. An active Army officer will be serving as Engineer Commissioner. Gen. Crosby was an active Army officer until retired Thursday midnight; and Dr. Reichelderfer was associated with the District National Guard as an officer for 23 years.

He was appointed to the guard as an instructor in rifle shooting. Back in those days he was a marksman of no mean ability and for a number of years was a member of the District rifle teams which participated in national championship matches. His first rank was that of first lieutenant; later he became a lieutenant colonel of infantry and finally chief surgeon. He was a lieutenant colonel in the regular Army in France during the World War and now has the rank of colonel in the Medical Reserve Corps.

But his activities were not confined to the National Guard and his days of competing in rifle matches are past, for he hasn't fired a rifle for 10 years. If there is anything of the militarist apparent about him, it is his reserve, but even that is of the physician and surgeon rather than the militarist.

Is Native of Ohio.

Born in Hallsville, Ohio, in 1874, Dr. Reichelderfer came to Washington in 1887, when he was 13 years old. He went to the Franklin School, the building of which is now used as the executive offices of the school system, later attending Central High School, from which he was graduated in 1892. He was colonel of the high school cadet corps at that time, and several District officials, including William W. Bride, corporation counsel, recall him in that important position, while they were attending high school.

Hundreds of other Washington men and women recall him as their mathematics teacher at Business High School. It was while he was mathematics teacher at Business that he began the study of medicine at Columbian University, which since has become George Washington University, from which he was graduated with class honors in 1899.

An interne in Garfield Hospital in 1899, he was superintendent and chief resident physician in 1900, remaining in that post until 1907. Subsequently he was a member of the staff of surgeons of Garfield, Children's and Tuberculosis Hospitals until his retirement from active practice in 1924. One of the founders of the American College of Surgeons in 1913, he was president of the District Medical Society in 1923 and is a member of other medical societies.

Medical Society Backs Him.

It was the Medical Society which is said first to have called Dr. Reichelderfer to the attention of the President for appointment as Commissioner. The society formally indorsed him for the post several weeks ago. Aside from his professional practice and his hospital work, Dr. Reichelderfer has not been prominently identified with welfare or charitable work. He doesn't play bridge. If he has any hobby it might be said to be travel.

He is not as rich as he has been reported to be. The Reichelderfer family consists of the doctor and Mrs. Reichelderfer, a slim, active woman with gray hair, blue eyes and pleasant smile. They live in a sunny apartment with large windows and furnishings which are for comfort as well as to make a pleasant picture. The Reichelderfer pocketbook was not filled by means of large real estate transactions, but the proceeds of a small piece of property here and another there helped swell the income from a successful practice, and, though not wealthy, as wealth is considered in America today, the total enabled retirement and gratification of the desires of Dr. and Mrs. Reichelderfer to travel. In recent years they have usually taken a motor trip and have gone abroad, too.

Mrs. Reichelderfer, by the way, is a native Washingtonian. Before her marriage she was Miss Mary Macauley.

TAFT ESTATE VALUE FIXED AT $475,000

Widow Files Petition for the Issuance of Letters Testamentary.

SECURITIES MAIN ASSETS

William Howard Taft, who died March 8, left an estate valued at approximately $475,000, according to the petition for the issuance of letters testamentary filed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court by the widow, Mrs. Helen H. Taft.

The estate consists of stocks, bonds and personal property estimated to be worth $350,000, and real estate at Murray Bay, Province of Quebec, Dominion of Canada, and at 2215 Wyoming avenue northwest, Washington, valued at approximately $125,000.

Mrs. Taft points out that under the terms of the will she was made the beneficiary of the residuary estate and also was designated as executrix.

Cites Rights Due Her.

She sets out that as such executrix and sole beneficiary, she is entitled "to letters testamentary upon the giving of a special bond, as provided by section 264 of the Code of Law for the District of Columbia," and upon the filing of waivers of citation and consents from her three children—Robert Alphonso Taft, Cincinnati, Ohio; Helen Taft Manning, Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Charles Phelps Taft, also of Cincinnati.

Under the will, the three children were left addresses, correspondence, copyrights and other valuable papers to do with as they like, so long as their mother gives her consent. No mention of the approximate value of these documents is contained in the widow's petition.

Yale Legacy Paid.

Regarding special bequests made by Mr. Taft to Yale University and the Foundation of the Taft School, the widow says: "Your petitioner is informed and believes, and upon such information and belief, avers that said decedent, in his lifetime paid to Yale University the legacy of $10,000 mentioned in his aforesaid will and the first and second codicils thereto, which codicils provide 'that any payment which I may make in my lifetime on account of said subscription (a subscription to the endowment then being raised for said university) shall be deducted from the amount of the aforesaid legacy;' and your petitioner is informed and believes, and upon such information and belief, avers that said decedent in his lifetime, paid to the Foundation of the Taft School the legacy of $2,500 given to said foundation in the first codicil to his said last will and testament, as modified by the second codicil to said last will and testament, in which he directed 'that the total amount of any gifts or contributions which I may make to said foundation in my lifetime shall be deducted from the amount of said legacy.'"

The widow estimates that her husband owed debts of approximately $500 and that the expenses of his last illness and funeral will total $2,500.

Attorneys McKenney, Flannery and Craighill appear for the widow.

Envoys State Their Views on Traffic Immunity

BRAZIL.

Diplomats do not seek automobile accidents "as a sportive trick," S. Gurgel do Amaral, Brazilian Ambassador, remarks in a letter discussing the immunity of an envoy in an auto accident; but the penalty he incurs, he adds, is much more severe than the fines imposed on private citizens in that it is likely to cause his recall and the subsequent ruin of his career. He says:

S. Gurgel do Amaral

"I thank you for your letter of the 19th instant, with regard to the editorial of The Washington Post of the previous day under the title 'Diplomats in Traffic.'

"I consider your letter a friendly gesture and I ask you to receive this answer in the same light.

"I beg of you to allow me to keep myself aloof from any controversy on the subject you submit to my consideration. I will gladly discuss with you my views on the subject when the moment comes for the press, adverse in its criticisms of diplomats in cases of automobile accidents, to realize that, although they are immune from arrest in accordance with the adopted principles of international law, they can not unfortunately immunize themselves from automobile accidents, and until such time when the same press will realize that automobile disasters, which are considered unavoidable accidents whenever private citizens are concerned, will cease to be considered crimes when the diplomat is responsible for the accident or disaster.

"I do not know myself how to drive a car and prefer to have at my service an experienced American chauffeur who, up to this time, has preserved my car from any accident whatever, either injurious to the public or to myself. He has permanent instructions, which he fulfills to the very letter, to obey all traffic rules. I feel sure that all responsible diplomats always keep in mind the utmost regard for trafic regulations of the countries where they are accredited, just as they expect foreign diplomats in their respective countries to act in the same way.

"I trust that you are the first to understand that no diplomat seeks an automobile accident as if it were a sportive trick. They are fully aware that the penalty they incur for any disregard of rules is markedly superior in severity to the penalties applied to private citizens, which are simply fine or arrest, whereas the diplomats are apt to lose their positions, which, in the majority of cases, are the result of many years of hard-earned careers.

"I myself, my dear sir, two years ago, when my car, together with a long line of cars, was in full stop owing to road repairs, somewhere in Massachusetts, was nearly crushed to death, with my chauffeur, by a heavy sedan driven by an American gentleman from Providence. I realized immediately his distress in the face of a mistake or error of judgment, which he promptly confessed, and, instead of showing him any bad feeling, I did my very best to comfort him in his predicament. The whole affair ended in a frank atmosphere of friendship, and I was indemnified without undue delay for the severe damage suffered by my car. I do hope that the majority of people will think that this was the proper way to face the situation.

"With high regard, believe me, my dear sir,

"Very sincerely yours,

"S. GORGEL DO AMAREL.

Immunity from District traffic regulations "calls for scrupulous observance of the local traffic rules," H. H. Bachke, Minister from Norway, says in a letter, and members of the Diplomatic Corps confirm generally to the regulations. His communication follows:

H. H. Bachke.

"In reply to your letter, dated March 19, 1930, drawing my attention to your editorial from The Washington Post for the same day, 'Diplomats in Traffic,' I beg to say that I have always felt that the courtesy extended to the diplomatic corps calls for scrupulous observance of the local traffic rules. My own chauffeur has orders always to observe with the greatest care the traffic regulations in or outside Washington. It has also been my impression that the members of the corps generally do conform themselves strictly to these rules.

"That automobile collisions or accidents occur is, and will unfortunately be, unavoidable. My own car has twice or three times been run into by private automobile drivers in Washington in violation of the rules. I do not believe that reliable statistics would show that the number of accidents or collisions caused by diplomatic cars in Washington are considered in proportion to accidents caused by other cars comes out to the disadvantage of the diplomats.

"I am certain there is no difference of opinion among diplomats in Washington as to their desire to maintain the most friendly relations with the citizens of Washington. The courtesy and friendliness extended to the diplomats by the local population show that this desire is reciprocal, and I for my part, would very much regret if there should be any change in these feelings of mutual sympathy.

"Yours sincerely,

"H. H. BACHKE."

COSTA RICA.

A defense of Commander Polich and an expression of opinion that diplomatic immunity should make foreign representatives more careful are given by Don Fernando E. Piza, First Secretary of the Costa Rican Legation, in reply to The Post's query. His letter follows:

Fernando E. Piza.

"I beg to reply to your esteemed letter of yesterday, addressed to Don Manuel Castro-Quesada, regarding the editorial of The Washington Post entitled 'Diplomats in Traffic,' on which you ask me to comment.

"First of all, I want to thank you very much for this first opportunity ever offered by Washington newspapers to foreign representatives to express their opinion on a matter which directly concerns all of us and which has been so one-sidedly discussed in the city dailies.

"In my opinion, and I act accordingly, the fact that we are immune should make us be more careful and have much more regard for the law than any other person not enjoying this privilege. But, unfortunately, as careful as we may be and as much regard for the law as we may have, we are still human beings and consequently subject to make mistakes and liable to have 'accidents which are just as unpleasant for a diplomat as they are for any other human being.

"The paragraph of the editorial in question, which reads as follows: 'especially young bloods who take delight in violating the traffic rules and then escaping the penalty by invoking their diplomatic immunity' is hardly applicable in the case under discussion because we all know Commander Polich to be quiet and respectful and to have great regard for the law. I have often gone driving with him and I have never seen him even reach the authorized speed limit; so much so that whenever we go out of the city, having to go a considerable distance, we often ask the commander to leave some time ahead of the rest so that he may get there at the same time.

"The fact that Commander Polich rushed to the police station to inform them of the accident immediately after taking care of the stricken boy, shows that he was not trying to avoid the action of the law.

"I do think that a man who has such a clean social and official record as Commander Polich and who is so fond of this country and the North American people, is indeed entitled to some consideration and not to have everybody else's mistakes piled on his misfortune.

"I dare say that there is no one chief of mission in Washington who will ever have to be told to have a subordinate recalled but that they would all do so if in true justice the case calls for such a drastic measure.

"This statement is to be regarded as my own personal opinion and not by any means as that of the first secretary of the Legation of Costa Rica.

"Yours very truly,

"F. E. PIZA."

AUSTRIA.

Hearty indorsement of the policy suggested by The Post editorial on diplomatic immunity from District traffic regulations, viz., the recall of the offender, is given by Edgar L. G. Prochnik, Austrian Minister. His letter follows:

E. L. G. Prochnik.

"Before complying with your request contained in your favor of March 19, that I express my opinion concerning an editorial published in The Washington Post under the caption 'Diplomats in Traffic,' I wish to preclude any possible misconstruction on the scope and purport of my following statement by emphasizing that by no means is it based on any special or individual occurrence, nor may be taken as an utterance by a spokesman for the Diplomatic Corps. No one of my words reflects on matters not strictly confined to the domain of this legation.

"Your suggestion fully coincides with the policy which guides the administration of Austrian foreign service. We consider it one of the main prerequisites to maintaining and strengthening friendly relations in foreign lands, that persons engaged in the pursuit of such mission be agreeable to the community in which they live and work; the more so, as they have to overcome certain barriers which nature always places between people foreign to each other by origin, customs, traditions and views.

"Just as you or I would not remain a minute longer in a house where our presence is not enjoyed by the host and the company in general, no official connected with the Austrian Legation, regardless of the rank he occupies, will remain or be allowed to remain at his post, when his presence there offends public sentiment.

"This principle has nothing to do with the question of right or wrong. The mere fact that an official connected with our mission has the bad luck of arousing public feeling against him would be sufficient for his removal, be he in justice responsible or not responsible for the offense given.

"Furthermore it might be of interest to you to know that the immunities enjoyed by Austrian diplomats in foreign countries do not render them immune from penal prosecution under the laws of their own country for offenses committed outside of Austrian territory.

"Yours very truly,

"EDGAR PROCHNIK."

NAPOLEON NECKLACE ROW ENDS AMICABLY

SELLER STILL IS SOUGHT

New York, March 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The affair of the archduchess' necklace—the $350,000 string of diamonds which Col. Charles F. Townsend, a representative of the Archduchess Marie Therese of Austria, sold to a New York jeweler last month for $60,000—was brought to an amicable conclusion today so far as concerns the questions of custody and ownership of the historic gems.

By agreement out of court between the jeweler, David M. Michel, and the archduchess' American representatives, the necklace, which gains the bulk of its value from the fact it was a gift from Napoleon to his Empress Marie Louise in 1811, was returned to the archduchess who, in turn, partly recompensed Mr. Michel for the $60,000 he had paid for it.

"Mr. Michel, having in mind his failure to take more adequate precautions with respect to Townsend's right to sell the necklace to him for $60,000, and in recognition of the archduchess' consideration of his plight, has assumed part of the loss arising out of the transaction," was the way the arrangement was explained by Laurence A. Steinhardt, counsel for Mrs. Anna Eisenmenger, and Dr. George Schmidt, the Austrian consul general, as the New York representatives of Archduchess Marie Therese.

"The balance of the loss has been assumed by the archduchess. Both parties have agreed that the consideration for the return of the necklace to the archduchess is not to be discussed."

As a result of the agreement a supreme court suit begun by the archduchess to regain the necklace has been discontinued, and an injunction restraining Michel from breaking up or disposing of the jewelry has been canceled, Mr. Steinhardt added.

Search for Townsend and his wife has been under way for several weeks, but so far without success. It was said at the district attorney's office that the facts surrounding the sale of the necklace by Townsend will be laid before the grand jury as soon as additional documents concerning the ownership of the jewels are received from Vienna.

SLAIN THUG FOUND AS ROTHSTEIN AID

Gangster-Ride Victim Now Identified as Henchman of Late Gambler.

CAUSED DEATH OF FIVE

Newark, N. J., March 21 (A.P.).—The body of a gangster's "ride" victim who was shot through the brain and cremated in the vehicle which carried him to death on Newark's outskirts last August, has been identified as that of Eugene Moran, New York racketeer and associate of the late Arnold Rothstein, slain gambler.

With their announcement, police revealed that Moran's activities as henchman to Rothstein at a salary of $1,000 a week was the cause of the death of five other gangsters in a war that had its inception with Moran's attempt upon the life of one Eddie Diamond, in Denver, November 5, 1928.

Three of the men who took Moran on his last automobile ride were among the casualties, Frank E. Brex, deputy chief of Newark police, said.

Two Killed, One Wounded.

They were James Batto, New York gambler, found slumped over the steering wheel of an automobile in Fifth avenue, New York, last September; Daniel Ahern, New York racketeer, shot and wounded in Cleveland also last September, and Mortimer Schubert, whose body was found in a parked automobile in Upper Manhattan two months later.

Eddie Diamond escaped unscathed from the attack upon him with machine guns and died later of tuberculosis, from which he was seeking a cure in Denver. Eddie and his brother Jack had fallen out with Rothstein, Brex said, and Moran was commissioned by the gambler to go to Denver and "take care" of Eddie first.

Rothstein himself was killed in a New York hotel the day before Moran sought to accomplish his task.

Bodyguard Also Dies.

The series of slayings that followed took in Thomas ("Fat") Walsh, former Rothstein bodyguard, who was shot by a visitor in a Miami, Fla., hotel.

In the meantime, Frank Devlin, Moran's chief aid in the Denver machine gunning, was killed. Moran was the third victim of the series, and then followed Batto, Ahern, Schubert, and Harry Vesey, whose body was found in Hoboken January 10.

After first announcing that Ahern was killed in Cleveland, Newark police said they learned he had been merely wounded and that New York City authorities were searching for him.

Dr. Claude H. Van Tyne, Historian, Is Dead at 60

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 21 (A.P.).—Dr. Claude H. Van Tyne, professor of history at the University of Michigan, died here today. He was 60 years old.

Dr. Van Tyne was an authority on subjects related to the American Revolution and wrote numerous textbooks and reference works on that subject. Among his best-known works were "Causes of the War of Independence" and "A History of the American Revolution."

JURY TO GET DOHENY CASE EARLY TODAY

Attorneys Finish Two-Day Arguments in $100,000 Bribery Trial.

HOGAN PLEA PASSIONATE

(Associated Press.)

The charge that Edward L. Doheny bribed a Cabinet officer to obtain oil leases will be given into the hands of a jury of nine men and three women early today.

Two days of arguments by counsel ended last night. Judge William Hitz of the District of Columbia Supreme Court deferred until today the delivery of his instructions to the jury.

During the last two days the multimillionaire has sat in court and heard himself alternately condemned as a man who paid $100,000 to Albert B. Fall to influence him to award the Doheny company a lease to the Elk Hill naval oil reserve and praised as a blameless man who loaned the money to an old friend in need.

Hogan's Appeal Impassioned.

The arguments ended later an impassioned appeal by Frank J. Hogan, of defense counsel, that his client be acquitted, and a calm recital by Owen J. Roberts, special Government prosecutor, of the evidence that had been presented as he saw it.

Mr. Roberts told the jury the evidence in the case "makes out beyond doubt" that Mr. Doheny had given Mr. Fall the money with intent that the Secretary of the Interior should be influenced by it to award his company leases.

"Nobody can deny and nobody has denied that Mr. Doheny's company was after those leases," he said. "And nobody can deny there was an advance of $100,000 to Mr. Fall."

Appeal Three Hours Long.

Mr. Hogan devoted three hours to explaining his contention that testimony showed the Navy had ordered the Interior Department to negotiate the Pearl Harbor contract for naval oil storage, as well as the lease which the Government charges Mr. Doheny got through bribery.

The Pearl Harbor contract contained a preferential clause that gave Mr. Doheny's Pan-American Co. the preference to any lease in the Elk Hills naval oil reserve that the Government decided to make.

Mr. Hogan told the jury the award was made after naval officials and subordinates of the Interior Department had reported that it was the best of four bids submitted on the project. Mr. Fall, he said, was "2,000 miles away" when this decision was reached. Subordinates telegraphed him, the counsel said, for permission to execute the contract, to which he replied to do so if Secretary Denby of the Navy wished it awarded to the Pan-American.

"Not a word was received from Mr. Fall," he exclaimed, "except to say, 'Put it up to Denby.'"

Simon Kann Is Elected To Succeed His Brother

The vacancy created by the recent death of Sigmund Kann, president of S. Kann Sons Co., was filled yesterday by the election of his brother, Simon Kann, at a directors' meeting. The policy of the store will be unchanged, it was said.

Other personnel changes announced yesterday are that B. B. Burgunder, treasurer, will also act as vice president, and that Frank Brown has been promoted to comptroller, succeeding Robert Rives, retired. Sol Kann retains the secretaryship.

AMBASSADOR TELLEZ LAUDS LAW OBSERVANCE OF ENVOYS

held by a previous Post editorial, as quoted, are as follows:

"I acknowledge receipt of your communication of March 19, 1930, and I beg leave, in reply, to quote the following remarks from the editorial note printed in your own paper in its issue of June 30, 1929, remarks which seem, under the circumstances, pertinent:

"'Diplomats, by courtesy and respect, generally observe the laws of the country in which they are stationed but they are not bound to observe its laws, and the comity that exists between nations would be destroyed if attempts were made to make them amenable to the law. The fact that diplomatic immunity is recognized in international law may sometimes prove embarrassing, but it is so fundamentally important that no one would destroy it if he could. . . .

"'But governments have an efficacious punishment for diplomats law-breakers, . . . their recall can be requested. . . . .

"'The Senate resolution calling for a list of diplomatic traffic violations is foolish. The record compiled by Maj. Pratt proves that the corps as a whole is law abiding.'

"Furthermore, I also beg leave to quote the following equally pertinent note which in another place of the same issue of your paper appeared under the following caption:

"Diplomats See Praise in Traffic Statistics.

"Washington police made public a list of diplomats who had violated traffic laws. The diplomats were congratulating themselves. Thus we prove we are law-abiding residents.

"Thirty-five diplomats, said the police, have violated traffic regulations in only thirteen years, 'and that,' said an ambassador, 'averages three violations by diplomats each year.' There are 400 diplomats in the corps. Traffic police arrested 108 Washington citizens yesterday, and Washington has 500,000 inhabitants. By adding, subtracting and dividing, that proves we foreign diplomats, although we are immune from arrest, are 13 times more respectful of your traffic laws than are the citizens of your own country.

"In fairness to the uninformed section of the public, may I not add that accidents of the kind under reference, unhappy and regretful as they are, are not exclusively restricted to the City of Washington; but that, in proportion to their populations, equally occur in all the other city capitals of the world. Yours faithfully,

"MANUEL TELLEZ,
"Ambassador of Mexico."

Kentucky Passes Statute To Delay Vote Tabulation

Frankfort, Ky., March 21 (A.P.).—Kentucky will no longer count its votes on election night. Under a new law, passed by the General Assembly with the avowed purpose of reducing fraud at the polls, the ballot boxes are to be secured with three locks, taken to the county seat and the returns tabulated on the day after election. Different election officials will hold the keys overnight.

This border State, which has become more doubtful in recent years, and which in 1928 helped lead the way in pointing to the overwhelming election of Herbert Hoover, thus in a close contest may stand in the position that California occupied in the famous Wilson-Hughes contest of 1926.

The effect on the tabulation in Louisville is expected to cause considerably more delay than in the sparsely settled counties, especially in the cases of minor offices. In the primary the delay will be even greater, for they are held on Saturdays, and the law provides for the count to begin on Monday when the Sabbath intervenes. The bill was introduced in the Assembly by Representative Ralph Gilbert, Democrat, Shelby County, a former member of Congress. Gilbert, who was defeated for reelection in 1928, has announced that he will be a candidate for Congress again this fall.

Counting of the votes in the county clerk's office in the presence of the election commissioners and two disinterested witnesses was said by proponents of the measure to assure honest elections.

The boxes themselves must have such small slots that only one ballot may be inserted at a time and election officials must remain at least 15 feet away from a voter as he marks and casts his ballot.

The measure became a law without the signature of Gov. Sampson, who did not sign or veto it within the ten-day limit.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 10:18 p. m. to 11 today.

President Hoover forwarded these nominations:

Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to be an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court; Gen. Herbert B. Crosby and Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer to be Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and Benjamin M. Day, to be Commissioner of Immigration for the Port of New York.

Continued debate on the tariff bill, refusing for the fifth time to place a duty on oil, rejecting for the second time a proposal to retain common brick on the free list, and reversing itself again by voting a reduction in existing duties on plate glass.

Adopted a joint resolution for the erection of a monument in Washington to Orville and Wilbur Wright.

Senator Watson (Republican), Indiana, announced a plan for a week's recess after the tariff bill has been passed.

Dr. John P. Andrews, secretary of the American Association for Labor Legislation, and Miss Frances Perkins, industrial commissioner for the State of New York, appeared before the committee investigating unemployment and described conditions throughout the country.

Lobby committee received testimony of Fred H. Haggerson, president of the Union Carbide Co., that Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee had not sold maps to the company as Huston testified he did.

HOUSE.

Met at 12 and adjourned at 6:10 to 12 Monday.

Representative Fish (Republican), New York, introduced a joint resolution authorizing the President to initiate consultations for the prevention of war.

Adopted the French resolution providing $300,000 to compete the restoration of the old frigate Constitution.

Lieut. Col. H. L. Landers reported to the military committee that the expenditure of $30,000,000 would be necessary for monuments to commemorate American military engagements.

Judiciary subcommittee laid prohibition enforcement program before the full committee.

RUM HEARINGS GIVE WAY TO CRIME BILL

House Judiciary Committee Will Devote Attention to New Measure.

CHANGES ARE PROPOSED

(Associated Press.)

Attention of the House judiciary committee will be turned from hearings on measures to repeal the eighteenth amendment next week to the law enforcement commission's proposed legislation to strengthen dry law execution.

With the prospect of dry forces ending their presentation of witnesses on Wednesday, the committee set aside Thursday for consideration of five measures formulated by a subcommittee to carry out in modified form recommendations of the enforcement commission.

The subgroup approved the last two of the measures yesterday. One would make more effective the padlock law by authorizing serving through publication absentee owners of liquor dispensing establishments. The second would authorize State officers to arrest on Federal charges operators and occupants of automobiles conveying liquor. It also would authorize confiscation under the Federal laws of liquor-laden automobiles.

Action on Proposals.

The subcommittee discarded a commission proposal because of failure of agreement to define slight and casual violators of the dry laws; it referred to the full committee without recommendation, however, a bill by Representative Stobbs (Republican), Massachusetts, to amend the Jones law to fix the maximum penalty for misdemeanor cases at six months in jail and a fine of $500.

It also referred in a like manner a bill by Representative Christopherson (Republican), South Dakota, to amend the United States criminal code to define all misdemeanor cases under the Federal laws.

The fifth measure would broaden the powers of the United States commissioners to permit them to handle misdemeanor liquor cases in order to relieve Federal court congestion. Representative Christopherson, chairman of the subcommittee, said that the full group held a divided opinion on some of the measures, and expressed doubt that early action would be forthcoming on them.

Chairman Snell, of the House rules committee, expressed the opinion that there is little prospect for the passage of any of these measures during the present session in view of other pending legislation.

Final Dry Hearings.

In the meantime, however, wets and drys who have been voicing their views on prohibition are preparing for a spectacular finish to the hearings before the judiciary committee.

Although the drys have not completed their Wednesday program, F. Scott McBride, of the Antisaloon League, and Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Methodist Board of Temperance, are expected to appear.

The following week, Chairman Graham plans to give the wets an opportunity to offer rebuttal testimony. None of the members of the committee expects that a bill either to modify or repeal the amendment will be reported at this session.

Three Miners Die in Landslide.

Warsaw, March 21 (A.P.).—Three miners were killed and several injured in a landslide last night which followed an earthquake near Kattowitz, in upper Silesia.

Colombian Labor Riot Kills Two, Wounds Five

Bogota, Colombia, March 21 (A.P.).—Advices from Medellin stated today that two persons were killed and five wounded in an unemployment demonstration that ended in clash with police. The crowd hurled stones at stores, causing considerable damage. The police opened fire.

Latest advices said that order had been restored but troops were ready for action if the situation required.

Red Plane Crashes in Poland.

Warsaw, March 21 (A.P.).—While flying over Polish territory near Vilna, a Soviet military airplane caught fire today and crashed. The plane was damaged but the pilot and observer escaped with slight injuries. Both men, who were fully armed, were interned.

Three Arraigned In Still Capture

All Plead Not Guilty and Ask Trial by Jury; Free on $2,000 Bonds.

Three men who were arrested Thursday by Second and Twelfth Precinct police in connection with the seizure of a 1,000-gallon still in a house on S street northeast near Third street, pleaded not guilty and demanded jury trials yesterday when arraigned before Judge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Court. All were charged with nuisance, possession of apparatus designed for the manufacture of whisky and illegal possession of intoxicants.

The men who are at liberty under bonds of $2,000 were booked as John Gotzainger, 48 years old; George Nekolu, 40 years old, and Frank Henry Ippolito, 28 years old. They were represented by Attorney Harry Whelan.

Assistant United States Attorney David Aiken Hart who prosecuted explained that the men were not charged with manufacturing liquor, which would have sent their case automatically to the grand jury.

ARSENAL EXPLOSION IS FATAL TO THREE

Trio Hurt in Blast Caused When Powder Brick Is Touched Off.

ROOF PIERCED BY STEEL

Dover, N. J., March 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A captain and two civilian employes at the Picatinny Arsenal of the United States Army near here were instantly killed and three civilian employes were injured late today when a small quantity of powder in an experimental mixing machine exploded and hurled jagged fragments of steel in all directions.

The dead: Capt. John B. Fidlar, Ordnance Department, U. S. A.; Stephen D. Deevy, Frank Stephens.

The injured: Casper P. T. Kafke, Edward Goldsworthy, George F. Gordon.

The injured civilians were taken to the Dover General Hospital, where it was said that they will recover.

Previous Blast Recalled.

The experiment was being held in one of the buildings recently completed by the Army to take the place of structures demolished in the explosion at the Naval Arsenal adjoining on July 10, 1926. Twenty-one persons were killed and damage estimated at $50,000,000 was caused in the 1926 explosion.

The explosion today took place in what is known as the mixing building in the center of the factory group. The captain and his two assistants were handling a large brick of smokeless powder. They placed it in the machine and prepared to pass it through dies from which it would emerge in spaghetti form, for special use.

But the machine worked a little too fast and there was friction, in the opinion of other Army experts. Heat developed by this friction touched off the powder. The top of the pressing machine was hurled through the roof of the arsenal and bits of the machine, swept through the room with terrific power, killing Capt. Fidlar and his aids instantly. They were also severely burned by the flame that shot through the room.

Other Explosives Safe.

The buildings at the arsenal are so arranged that explosions are not likely to spread. Two hundred feet away were others containing large quantities of smokeless powder, nitroglycerin and other high explosives. Officers at the arsenal said that there had been little danger of the flames from the explosion in the mixing building reaching and touching off the other explosives.

Capt. Fidlar was 38 years old and is survived by a widow. He was graduated from Ames College, at Davenport, Iowa, and served with the Field Artillery in France during the World War.

Stevens, one of the civilians killed, was 25. His wife is in a hospital in a serious condition from cancer and it is feared by physicians that the news of the death of her husband may prove fatal. Deevy, the other civilian who was killed, is survived by a wife and three children.

Pilot, Broker Burn To Death in Plane

President of Air Transport and Companion Die in Ground Crash.

Sugar City, Colo., March 21 (A. P.).—H. Ray Findelsen, 35, pilot, and Harry Abel, 45, passenger, were burned to death near here today when their airplane was wrecked in landing and caught fire.

Findelsen was president of the Southern Colorado Air Transport Co. Abel was a Pueblo, Col., investment broker. The men flew here to inspect the airport. In attempting to land, the ship suddenly lurched and dived. As it hit the ground the gasoline tank exploded. Several in the crowd ran to their automobiles, seized fire extinguishers and tried to fight the flames, but the men were dead before rescuers could reach them.

ahead as the jurors were polled. Then, still sneering, she was hurried away to her cell in the county jail, through crowds of curious watchers and cameramen with booming flashlights.

The trial, which opened here March 10, terminated with the State demanding the extreme penalty and Mr. Dickey, counsel for Mrs. Schroeder, asking that if a first degree verdict be returned it contain a recommendation for mercy. That would automatically provide a life sentence, he explained. He did not ask acquittal. It was his contention Paul was wounded by a shot from the pistol of Private Ernest Moore, companion patrolman.

Stating that the defendant had been hurt as a child, Mr. Dickey asked if there was not some cure "for a woman like this?" He also asked, "Should she be taken away from Donnie, her 4-year-old son?" Attorney Ben Jarrett, of the defense, termed Mrs. Schroeder as "one of God's unfortunates."

The charge, given by Judge R. L. Hildebrand, occupied about an hour and outlined the various verdicts the jury might bring in.

Man Who Killed Self For Thrill Is Buried

Kings Mountain, N. C., March 21 (A.P.).—This afternoon they buried Hunter Shepherd, 23, who had "always wanted to do something thrilling" and so committed suicide.

"Dear World: Everybody has the wrong opinion of me," young Shepherd wrote in a note found on the ground near his body, discovered late yesterday in a pine grove near his home. "I always wanted to do something thrilling, and this life has been a failure with me. So this will be the last of H. T. Shepherd, better known as Dick."

Cashier Kills Bandit And Captures Another

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—Three years ago E. J. Eckman, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Riverside, concealed in his cage a high-powered rifle. Today he used it, shot one bank robber, captured another and recovered $2,000 in cash that had been taken from him.

Walter Young, who said he was from Kansas City, was wounded, perhaps fatally. Ben Howard, his companion, was captured.

Austrians Eat More Rice.

Washington, March 21 (A.P.).—Austrians are becoming rice eaters despite the fact that the country produces none. It comes from Italy, British India and the United States. American rice is rapidly increasing in popularity because of its attractive appearance and the fact it is sold in small sacks.

PARLEY DELEGATES' RANKS TO DWINDLE

Morrow Is Expected to Be First of U. S. Envoys to Start Home.

ADVISERS MOSTLY IDLE

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Unless the deadlock at the London conference is broken by the end of next week, there is to be a thinning out of the personnel attached to the delegations and at least one of the American delegates will engage passage for home. Ambassador Dwight Morrow, who will enter the New Jersey primaries for the senatorship of that State early this summer, desires to leave London as soon as he can be spared and it is realized that it will be an unfair burden to keep him much after next week.

Meanwhile Senators Reed and Robinson are somewhat concerned over the prospect of an indefinite stay abroad. They were led to believe at the outset that they would not have to be absent from their senatorial duties more than two months or three months in any event. They left on January 10 and have been gone two months and ten days and see no prospect of being back by April 10 unless they are relieved. There are difficulties, however, incident to the departure of delegates in advance of whatever treaty may yet emerge from the conference.

But despite this, the Australian delegation has already booked passage for April 12 next and all arrangements are being made in advance for their departure. The Italian delegation is now expected to follow the example set by the French and permit part of its membership to return to Rome until there is some need for their presence in London. Both Premier Tardieu, of France and Foreign Minister Briand will remain continuously in Paris unless something develops to require their presence in London. It is now stated that M. Tardieu does not propose to return to London merely to engage in further futile conferences. M. Briand, before leaving London on Thursday, said publicly that he saw no use in sitting around looking out of a window.

The technical advisers to the various delegations and the large staffs that were expected to be kept busy have had little to do for weeks, it now develops. This means a constantly growing item of expense and part of the personnel of each delegation is expected to leave the scene of the conference after next week. This will include others than those who have already engaged passage. At least two of the American naval advisers are returning on April 2.

This does not mean that there will be no treaty resulting from the London conference. It has been planned all along, in the event of failure to consummate some sort of naval treaty which will suffice to give the general public an impression that something has been accomplished. Such a treaty would, of course, not bring about naval reduction or binding agreements of a definite character nor would it solve the cruiser problem, but it may deal with battleship replacements, rules for humanizing submarine warfare and may likewise express the determination of all powers represented to refrain from war. The general terms of an emergency treaty were tentatively framed in advance of the conference with a view to offsetting the unfortunate effect of a failure to agree among the signatory powers.

BRIAND TO RETURN TO LONDON PARLEY

Tardieu Plans Resumption of Negotiations if Deadlock Can Be Broken.

SEEK TO AVOID BLAME

Paris, March 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand will return to the London naval conference probably Monday, it was announced here tonight. Prime Minister Andre Tardieu also will return to London, but only when negotiations there have advanced beyond the present deadlock.

The French premier could not in any event leave Paris just now, as he is in a deadlock of his own over the French budget. The finance commissions of the Chamber of Deputies and of the Senate are opposed to each other, that of the Chamber finding that a surplus will result from the 1930 budget and the Senate foreseeing a deficit.

The budget bill ought to be voted by the Senate before April 1, but the time is getting short, and in view of the fact that the two finance commissions are at loggerheads, a provisional monthly credit, which has not been resorted to for nearly four years, is again being talked about.

Voting of Young Plan Up.

The voting of the Young plan, which brought Briand back to Paris, probably will proceed without serious difficulty permitting the foreign minister to return to London.

As Jacques Louis Dumesnil, minister of marine, and Francois Pietri, minister of colonies, are expected back here tomorrow, leaving only Ambassador Aime Joseph de Fleuriau as a delegate at London. The government is trying to avoid giving the appearance of neglecting the negotiations at London. In point of fact, however, Briand regards the conference as having reached the limit of its possibilities unless Italy makes some sudden change and drops her claim to parity with France.

In the French view the three outstanding achievements of the London parley will be the following: First, adoption of a method for classification of warships which will be useful in the disarmament work at Geneva; second, humanizing of submarines third, fixing tonnage as announced at London.

Briand has not entirely given hope of a Mediterranean pact, but otherwise sees no chance of doing anything with Italy.

Would Avoid Blame.

The principle preoccupation here is not to have responsibility placed on France if the conference fails. It is being argued in Paris that France is showing no greater obstinacy in maintaining the fleet she needs for security than the other powers are in upholding their respective claims. The United States' claim to parity with Great Britain, Japan's insistence upon a 70 per cent ratio, Great Britain's insistence upon maintenance of the Europeans two-power standard and Italy's claim to parity with France are all cited in support of this contention. That all five powers participating in the conference will be equally responsible if it fails is the French position.

OUSTING OF HUSTON BY G. O. P. COMMITTEE IS FORECAST

man will have to deal, the selection should be made by those most directly involved in these campaigns.

So far there is not the slightest indication that Mr. Huston intends voluntarily to resign. Instead of being ruffled at yesterday's hearing he went calmly out to play golf. His disposition is to fight and his record is that he is a good fighter. But the irresistible forces seem now definitely to be moving against him, and only a miracle, it is felt, will save him.

There has been no indication as to how the President feels about the matter, admittedly one of the most embarrassing with which he has had to deal. Mr. Huston is one of his closest friends. He was probably among the first five men, if not the first two, to conceive the idea of Mr. Hoover's being President and joined him shortly after he became Secretary of Commerce, serving as Assistant Secretary. In that capacity he made a trip to Russia for Mr. Hoover.

Selection Not Surprising.

It is, indeed, harder to conceive any one closer to Mr. Hoover in the succeeding years and through the Presidential campaign than Mr. Huston. He was one of the visitors at Miami Beach in the Cabinet selection days that the newspapermen with Mr. Hoover did not know about until later. His subsequent selection as national chairman was therefore no surprise at all.

When his name first came into the lobby hearing, Mr. Huston has since told the committee he and the President discussed the matter. It is authoritatively stated, however, that they have not met since the testimony began to get what might be termed as hot.

Yesterday W. E. Moore, New York representative of Mr. Huston, testified that at the time Mr. Huston received $22,000 from the Union Carbide Co. and placed it in his stock market account the account was $19,000 in the "red." This was on March 9, 1929. Mr. Moore testified that $19,000 was owing the brokerage firm of Blyth & Bonner on February 28 and that there were no deposits between that date and March 9. This $22,000 was the first payment of a $36,100 contribution the carbide company made to the Tennessee River Improvement Association, of which Mr. Huston was president. The association was lobbying to have Muscle Shoals turned over to the American Cynamid Co., with which the carbide company is associated.

Plea for Money Told.

P. H. Haggerson, president of the carbide company, testified that Mr. Huston called him to his office in New York early in March—Senator Blaine brought out that it was just after Mr. Huston had returned from Mr. Hoover's inauguration—and told him the Tennessee River Improvement Association had to have funds, that it "had no money, they were in debt, and it was about impossible to raise any more money down in the Tennessee Valley, and he wanted to know if we wouldn't help support it."

Mr. Haggerson testified that Mr Huston told him if he decided to make a contribution to send the money to Mr. Moore. Subsequently, the money was delivered to Mr. Moore by messenger, and at Mr. Huston's direction, Mr. Moore testified, he placed it in his stock account, which Mr. Huston has testified also includes funds of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Asked why he made out a personal check for the money, Mr. Haggerson said he was under the impression that there was considerable urgency about getting the $22,000 to Mr. Huston, and that he probably made out the check after business hours.

Second Payment Made.

A second payment of $14,100 was made in June, 1929, and Mr. Moore placed this in a separate account. He explained that Mr. Huston had given him no instructions about this fund so he established a separate account and it made a profit of $500. It has since been closed out. The other account is still active. Mr. Haggerson gave his personal check for this too, explaining that he probably did so because he had given a personal check the first time.

Mr. Haggerson's testimony somewhat conflicted with that of Mr. Huston as to the purpose of these payments. Mr. Huston had testified they were for the purchase of maps which the association had prepared.

"There was some talk about maps and data," Mr. Haggerson said.

"Did you buy them?" Senator Caraway asked.

"I wouldn't say that we bought them," Mr. Haggerson replied. "I would say that they were a consideration in the transaction." The carbide company has not yet received the maps, it has been testified.

Worthington Got Funds.'

Mr Huston has testified and shown canceled checks to the effect that regardless of the apparent roundabout ways in which the carbide funds were handled they ultimately found their way to J. W. Worthington, secretary of the improvement association. In fact, one payment of about $4,000 was made to him on the day before the $22,000 contribution was made. It is fairly generally known, too, that Mr. Huston and Mr. Worthington constituted the Tennessee association and their friends argue that they could handle their money in any way they saw fit. But no such picture as this has developed before the committee.

The picture that has developed has resulted in an almost unanimous senatorial clamor that he must go. And with his retirement there is a senatorial determination to bring the party chairmanship to the Senate Senators generally were right well pleased with Mr. Huston's appointment. They felt that here was a man who talked their own political language and whenever they wanted anything done he was a man who could understand and do it without moving around in circles.

And there is no reason to believe they were disappointed either. They got along splendidly with Mr. Huston, but now that the "breaks" have gone against him and change must be made there is a strong senatorial feeling that a senator-chairman would make for better conditions all around, improve the Senate's relations with the President for one thing.

The President had a long conference with R. G. Nutt, the party's treasurer. Mr. Nutt declined to say what the purpose of the conference was but it was rather obvious that it had to do with Mr. Huston.

American Seeks to Fix Sofas in King's Palace

London, March 21 (A.P.).—One of the senators in the American naval delegation received a letter from the United States this morning asking him to see King George immediately.

Thinking the letter referred to the naval conference, the senator read on to find that the writer desired him to arrange a contract for his constituent to reupholster the sofas in Buckingham Palace.

THREE-POWER PACT NOW PARLEY'S AIM

Many Technical Difficulties to Be Surmounted if Treaty Is Drawn.

ITALY GIVES PROBLEM

fered naval reduction. If Italy is now to be told that she is to be excluded from a treaty, the repercussions may be terrific.

A four-power treaty with Italy in and France out may commend itself to some here, but not to Great Britain. The New York World News Service can state definitely that under no conditions will Great Britain sign such a treaty. This is because, in any circumstances, particularly in the present state of bitter Franco-Italian relations, Great Britain does not propose to offend Paris for the sake of pleasing Rome or vice versa. Absolute neutrality between France and Italy will be maintained by the British, which leaves only the cumbrous "double four" pair of treaties as a possible way out. Under these the oceanic powers would conclude two treaties, one with Italy, the other with France. This is scarcely practicable, but the proposal shows the desperate straits of the conference tonight.

French-Italian Talk Fails.

What may be the last direct Franco-Italian negotiations at this conference took place tonight in the shape of a long talk between Dusmenil, Pietri and Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister. It failed completely and Grandi afterward told the New York World News Service corresondent:

"It was friendly, for Pietri is a personal friend of mine. We went over the whole ground. France wants us to reduce our effective fighting strength below her own and on such a basis no agreement is conceivable.

"I told them that if I agreed to this, there was one Italian who would have to commit hari kari, just as the story goes (he spoke jokingly). Admiral Takarabe said he would commit hari kari if the Japanese government in Tokyo accepted the American proposals."

Frank and outspoken about the Franco-Italian situation, which he clearly regards as hopeless, Grandi declined to comment on the three-power negotiations.

Japanese Stick to Demand.

A British official spokesman, asked tonight about an American-Japanese agreement, replied that there was no agreement, but that the suggested arrangement was not merely American-Japanese but three-powered, including Great Britain.

The Japanese delegation admitted today that their proposals early next week will stick to their demand for 70 per cent in big cruisers. There appears little doubt to the writer, although this is not yet admitted by any of the Americans, that the Japanese diplomatic position is now so strong that an extra 10,000-ton Japanese cruiser will be wrung out of the reluctant Americans as the price of an agreement. The Japanese will probably ask for two and get one, and also receive an increase in submarine tonnage. Although it is arguable at this stage that both sides are bluffing, the Japanese appear to be the better bluffers.

If the Americans give way, as I am now sure they will, and Japan gets her 70 per cent, the American shift will be defended on the following grounds, which show that diplomatic handling of this affair has been far from brilliant:

Status of Cruisers.

There are four 7,400-ton Japanese 8-inch-gun cruisers, which, although smaller than the standard 10,000-ton cruisers the Americans have, always have been regarded as "treaty cruisers." Accordingly, all negotiations regarding the ratio of treaty cruisers between the United States and Japan have included these four ships.

But if and when Japan is permitted to build up to the full 70 per cent in these treaty cruisers, and thus Japan has won her fight, the Americans will permit it to become known that these four ships are in reality greatly inferior in fighting power to the new 8,200-ton cruisers mounting twelve 6-inch guns each which the United States proposes to build.

These new 6-inch guns can fire faster for greater distance and with heavier projectiles than the old Japanese 8-inch guns on her older and smaller four "treaty cruisers." The New York World News Service has the highest authority for these statements.

And these facts make the whole American-Japanese controversy over 8-inch-gun cruisers appear if not ridiculous at least unnecessary.

The New York World News Service understands that Stimson and MacDonald decided at their conference this morning to send cables to the British and American ambassadors at Tokyo stating that last week's American offer to Japan had the full support of the British government. This is regarded as the first definite action taken toward a three-power agreement.

JAPAN IS CAUTIOUS ON AMERICAN PLAN

Country Believes Rejection Would Smash Naval Conference.

BUT IS NOT SATISFIED

Tokyo, March 21 (A.P.).—The Japanese government is cautiously considering the tentative agreement of the Japanese and American delegates to the London naval conference, having apparently become convinced that its rejection of the proposal would cause a break-up of the conference and vitally affect Japan's relations with Anglo-Saxon powers.

Conferences between civil and naval authorities of Japan may continue another full week before the government decides whether to accept or reject the tentative schedule which would give the United States a total tonnage of 527,000 and Japan 366,900, the latter being 69.6 per cent of the American total.

While Japan has been contending for but 70 per cent of the American and British total, Japanese naval leaders have pointed out that the American proposal did not meet three of Japan's fundamental desires —first, a 70 per cent ratio with Great Britain and the United States in large cruisers; second, a 70 per cent of auxiliary tonnage, and third, 78,000 tons of submarines.

The matter is so complex, with numerous divergencies to be adjusted, that it is believed the cabinet meeting tomorrow will be unable to reach a decision. Instructions to the Japanese delegation in London are not expected to be sent until after Tuesday's cabinet meeting, and may not be transmitted before meeting of March 28.

Although a portion of the newspapers and people is backing the naval faction in its stand for larger Japanese tonnage, Premier Hamaguchi and his government are proceeding with the utmost deliberation.

GRAND JURY GETS EXTORTION CASE

be dropped, "as not one iota of evidence has been brought against him, although the Government has established a prima facie case against Swortzel."

Mr. Fitzpatrick countered with an argument stressing Crotta' reputed confessing that a conspiracy for an overt act had been formed, and the judge held both defendants in $1,000 bond. Swortzel renewed his bond, obtained Thursday, and Elgin was expected to post his last night.

Detective Gravely, who will be tried before the Police Board on a charge of unauthorized use of his pistol in wounding Crotts, sat in the crowded courtroom during the hearing.

Marie Foster and Frances O'Brien, inmates of the First street house, where the case originated, will be tried in Police Court on disorderly conduct charges. Both are out on bonds of $2,000 and $1,000, respectively.

Reports from Casualty Hospital last night said that Crotts had showed some improvement, although fears for his recovery were still entertained.

Senate Echoes Heard.

Meanwhile, this latest disturbance in the Police Department awoke echoes in the Senate, and was held up by Senator Robsion, of Kentucky, as ample justification for greater care in making up the Civil Service Commission's list of eligibles for appointment to the force. Stressing the fact that the selection of eligibles for police appointments is not entirely in the hands of the Police Department, Senator Robsion urged that the records and qualifications of candidates be submitted to a more searching examination than that required in the past.

Senator Blease, of South Carolina, pointed to the Gravely shooting as proof of his oft-repeated assertions that all was not well in the Police Department. He inserted a newspaper account of the affair in the record, and promised more revelations in the near future.

In discussing police conditions off the floor of the Senate, Mr. Robsion said that the Gravely affair had not altered his support of increased pay for the department. "I do think, however," he said, "that every precaution should be taken to see that the right type of men are appointed on the police force."

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, chief of the homicide squad, yesterday denied that he had issued orders that Crotts be held incommunicado in the hospital, or that he had made any statement whatsoever to prevent members of the wounded man's family from visiting him. Although denied admittance to the room Thursday night, members of the family visited Crotts last night after Lieut. Kelly had called at the hospital to deny issuance of the report.

Dentist Falls to Death; Patient Patiently Waits

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—Rudolph H. Bloese, dentist, was killed today when he fell from a fourth-floor fire escape outside his office while feeding some of Chicago's thousands of pigeons.

Police sent the body to the morgue then went to the office. They found Mrs. R. L. Kors, of Glencoe, in the operating chair waiting for the dentist to finish treating her teeth.

Hoover Plans Talk at Fete For Dr. Welch

President Will Help to Honor Pathologist on Birthday.

By JEAN ELIOT.

PRESIDENT HOOVER will speak at the celebration of the eightieth birthday of Dr. William Henry Welch, of Johns Hopkins University, "dean of American medicine," which is to be held at Memorial Continental Hall on Tuesday, April 8, at noon. This is being arranged by a distinguished group of scientists, headed by the "absent minded professor," Dr. Albert A. Michelson, of the University of Chicago. Diplomats, Government officials, distinguished men of science and of letters will attend.

Dr. Michelson's new title of the "absent minded professor" was gained recently when he gave a luncheon in Chicago in compliment to Dr. Lee De Forest, radio tube inventor—and forgot to be present. His assistants, in arranging the birthday celebration for Dr. Welch, who will probably see that he doesn't forget this time, are Dr. Simon Flexner, Mr. John A. Kingsbury, Dr. William T. Councilman, Dr. Harvey Cushing, Mr. Abraham Flexner, Mr. Homer Folks, Dr. William H. Howell, Dr. Vernon Kellogg, Dr. William G. MacCallum, Dr. Eugene L. Opie, Mr. John D. Rockefeller, jr., Mr. Wickliffe Rose and Senator Frederic C. Walcott.

Dr. Welch was one of a little group of distinguished scientists who attended the dinner given at the White House in honor of Mme. Curie, co-discoverer of radium, when she visited this country a few months ago. He is internationally known, being a member of the most important medical societies of England, France, Italy, Belgium and other foreign countries, as well as of many American groups. He has the coveted Japanese decoration, the Order of the Rising Sun; the Medal of Honor of the University of Vienna, a Serbian decoration, the Order of Mercy; the gold medal of the National Institute of Social Sciences, and is an officer of the Legion of Honor. Besides being distinguished as a pathologist he has written many authoritative volumes and papers on medicine and is famous as a lecturer and administrator.

Cuban Ambassador Feted in Palm Beach.

The Cuban Ambassador, Senor Don Orestes Ferrara, is passing some time in Palm Beach, where he went early this week. Dr. Ferrara will probably pay a short visit to Cuba the end of this week and is expected to return here Tuesday or Wednesday. While in Palm Beach, where he went to address the Anglers' Club, the ambassador has been much entertained. On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury gave a tea at El Mirasol in his honor. Guests included the First Secretary of the German Embassy and Frau Lohmann, who are in Palm Beach for a few days, and the newly appointed Ambassador to Poland and Mrs. John North Willys, and a number of Government representatives who were in Florida to attend the annual dinner Thursday night at the Anglers and Sports Club.

Senora Ferrara, who is observing a brief period of mourning, did not accompany the ambassador, but remained in New York, where she has been for about two weeks.

The Belgian Ambassador, Prince Albert de Ligne, with his youngest daughter, Princess Helen, sailed yesterday on the Lapland for Europe, where he will join Princess de Ligne and their two older daughters, who have been abroad since January. They will remain about two months, when the entire family will return to Washington together.

Another passenger aboard the Lapland is the retiring Counselor of the Spanish Embassy, Senor Don Mariano de Amoedo y Galarmendi, who is bound for Brussels to assume his new duties as Counselor of the Spanish Embassy.

The Minister of Canada and Mrs. Vincent Massey will return to Washington today from New York, where they have passed several days.

Last evening they were the dinner guests of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Falls, after which they attended the military review at the Seventh Regiment Armory, where the minister reviewed the maneuvers.

Col. Wood Hampton Hayes and officers of the field and staff gave a small dinner before the review for the members of his staff.

Representative and Mrs. S. Wallace Dempsey entertained at dinner last evening preceding the Friday evening dancing class, which met at the Willard.

Among those who entertained at dinner in the crystal room at the Willard last evening, preceding the dancing class, were Assistant Postmaster General and Mrs. Fred A. Tilton, and Mr. Raymond Richardson, who had a party of 28.

Hungarian Envoy And Family Return.

The Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi with their daughters have returned to Washington and are at the legation in Massachusetts avenue to remain through the spring. They have been abroad since mid-January and spent a few days in New York following their return.

Capt. Hayne Ellis Takes Newport Home.

Capt. Hayne Ellis, U. S. N., and Mrs. Ellis have leased Restmer, the residence of Rear Admiral Howard at Newport, R. I. Capt. Ellis, who is now in command of the U. S. S. Arkansas, will attend the next class at the Naval War College at Newport. Capt. and Mrs. Ellis sold their Washington home, Woodley, to the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson and Mrs. Ellis has had an apartment at Wardman Park Hotel for the winter.

Miss Martha Ellis, who has been visiting in New York, returned to Washington on Wednesday.

Army Officer Plans to Wed In Honolulu

Miss Huntley Engaged to Lieut. Early, of Air Corps.

Capt. William S. Zane, Supply Corps, U. S. N., and Mrs. Zane have announced from Honolulu the engagement of Mrs. Zane's daughter, Miss Jean Barr Huntley, to Lieut. James Francis Early, Air Corps, U. S. A. Capt. Early is a graduate of the Military Academy, class of 1923, and has been stationed at Luke Field, Hawaii, for the last two years.

Capt. Zane was recently transferred to Honolulu from Washington after being on duty in the Navy Department for several years.

The wedding will take place in Honolulu the latter part of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Randolph Taylor announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Taylor Atkinson, to Mr. Benjamin Butler Cain, jr. The ceremony took place on Wednesday in the Church of the New Jerusalem, the pastor, the Rev. Paul Sperry, officiating. Mrs. William H. Donohue, of New York, was the bride's only attendant, and Mr. John Bergen served as best man.

After a short trip to Nassau, in the Bahamas, Mr. and Mrs. Cain will make their home in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are former residents of Washington, but are now living in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. P. de M. Barberg entertained at luncheon at the Carlton yesterday for Mrs. Fred T. Corey, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Mann, who have been in New York for several days, will sail today on the Bermuda for a ten days stay in Bermuda.

Commander Silvio Scaroni, air attache to the Italian Embassy, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower in compliment to the newly appointed air attache, Commander Paolo Sbernadori.

Commander Scaroni and his successor returned Thursday to Washington from a trip to the leading aeronautic supply manufacturing centers in New York, New Jersey and Ohio.

Mrs. L. W. Glazebrook Returns to Capital.

Mrs. Larkin W. Glazebrook and her daughter, Miss Virginia Glazebrook, have returned to Washington after accompanying Dr. Glazebrook on a six months' business trip to Arizona, Colorado and California and back by way of the Southern route. Dr. Glazebrook was delayed in the South for a few days, but reached town yesterday. They were in New Orleans at the time of the Madri Gras festivities and were much entertained.

Miss Glazebrook will be a debutante next season, having postponed her proposed debut this year to travel with Dr. and Mrs. Glazebrook.

Mrs. Arthur Bullard is passing a few days in New York at the Gladstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson, of New York, have taken a suite at the Carlton, where they will remain for several days.

Mr. Stuart W. Cramer, of Cramerton, N. C., is a guest at the Willard over Sunday.

Author Plans Capital Visit For Few Days

Winston Churchill and Wife Sojourning in District.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill, who have been at the Villa Margherita, Charleston, S. C., will arrive in Washington today and will be at Wardman Park Hotel for several days—not the Winston Churchill, stormy petrel of British politics, who was a visitor in this country a few months ago, but "the American Winston Churchill," author of "Richard Carvel," "The Crisis," "The Crossing," "Coniston" and other historical novels featuring a C in their titles.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Churchill are listed in the Social Register as "of New York and Boston," they spend most of their time at Cornish, N. H., where they have a country home, Wicopy Corners. One wonders if they have moved of late years or if this is the same place, under another and more modern name, as Harlakenden House, the Churchill estate at Cornish in which the late President Wilson established the summer White House for a year or two.

Dr. Ada Wahlen, Mrs. William Lee Corbin, Mrs. Albert G. Dodge and Miss Thelma Schmitt will be hostesses at the dance given by the Women's City Club tonight at the clubhouse, 22 Jackson place, at 9 o'clock. Patronesses are Mrs. Merritt O. Chance, Mrs. Douglas White, Mrs. Mattie Carter, Miss Grace Williams, Miss Zelma Barnes, Dr. Jennie Baker, Mrs. Irvin Fullmer, Mrs. Joseph Kaiser, Mrs. T. E. Young, Miss Maria Swife, Miss Violet Ann Hambleton, Miss Hazel Shield, Miss Waldecker, Miss Meda Ann Martin, Mrs. Pauline M. Floyd, Mrs. Cecelia Ward and Mrs. Edith Orland Fitzgerald.

Hunt Club Run Planned Today.

The Riding and Hunt Club's run today will start from Mr. "Cy" Cummings' estate in Maryland.

Among those planning to follow the hounds are Maj. and Mrs. George Patton, Mrs. Preece, Miss Louise Myers, Miss Persis Myers, Mrs. Arthur Snyder and her daughter, Miss Sophie Snyder, Mr. H. T. Cole, Miss Elizabeth Jackson, Miss Elizabeth Martin, Mr. Melvin C. Hazen, Miss Winifred West, Mr. Chester A. Gwinn, Mr. John Finnerty, Mrs. F. M. Andrews and Maj. W. M. Grimes.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hamilton and Miss Mary Emily Hamilton, of Washington, are at Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, to remain for a stay of two weeks.

Mrs. Coffin Van Rensselaer, of New York, and Miss Maude Wetmore, of Newport, who came to Washington for the unveiling of the column donated to the new Red Cross Building by the National Woman's Overseas Service League, will leave the Mayflower today.

Syracuse Educator Speaks in Capital.

Dr. Burges Johnson, professor of English and director of public relations at Syracuse University, was the speaker and guest of honor at a luncheon which the Syracuse University Alumnae of Washington gave at the clubhouse of the American Association of University Women yesterday. The men who have graduated from Syracuse were invited to hear Dr. Johnson, who spoke on the subject, "Get Educated Quick." Dr. Johnson has been editor of Judge and Outing magazines and has been on the editorial staff of Everybody's, Harper's and North American Review and many other publications. The committee on arrangements included Mrs. James Shera Montgomery, Mrs. J. B. Handy, Mrs. Walter Erskine, Mrs. Theodore B. Nickson and Mrs. George W. Billings.

Leiters Leave On Prolonged Visit Abroad

Stops Are Planned at Trieste and Naples, Then Rome.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter sailed yesterday from New York for Italy on the S. S. Saturnia, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Nancy Leiter. Mr. Eugene Pike, of Chicago, who frequently visits Mr. and Mrs. Leiter in Washington, is also a member of their party. After touching at Trieste and Naples, they expect to go to Rome for a prolonged visit and later on Mrs. Leiter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. Frederick Sterling, United States Minister to Ireland, and Mrs. Sterling will join them in Rome. Mr. and Mrs. Huston Rawls, the latter another sister of Mrs. Leiter, expect to go abroad later and will spend some time at Mr. and Mrs. Sterling's home in Dublin.

Mrs. Leiter's mother, Mrs. John R. Williams, went to New York to see them off, but will return to Washington tomorrow. She had expected to go abroad with Mr. and Mrs. Leiter, but has changed her plans and will devote much of the next few weeks to decorating and furnishing the house on the North Shore, which she has purchased as a summer home. This is near Edgewater Beach, the seaside home of Mr. and Mrs. Leiter at Beverly Farms, Mass.

Representative and Mrs. Charles A. Eaton will entertain informally at dinner tonight at Bellevue, their Georgetown residence. They have as guests Mr. Robert Hedges and Mr. Benjamin Hedges, of Princeton University, who will remain over the week-end.

Mrs. Frank C. Letts will return to Washington on Sunday after spending several weeks at Castle Springs, Ariz.

Mrs. Geneva Dunham will entertain a party of twelve at the meeting of the Kentucky Society on Tuesday evening at the Willard, later taking her guests to a buffet supper at her home.

Dr. John C. Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, and Mrs. Merriam were honor guests at a dinner given by Representative and Mrs. Guy U. Hardy at their home, 2017 Belmont road, last night. Other guests were Representative Florence P. Kahn, Representative and Mrs. Albert E. Carter, Representative and Mrs. W. E. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson Furness and Mr. Lyman Hardy.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Spicer motored from their home in Cleveland, Ohio, and are spending a few days at the Cairo Hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Simkins, of Washington, are at Hotel Traymore, and Mrs. Marian St. J. Aldridge has also joined the Washington colony at Hotel Traymore.

Dr. Susan H. Ballou, of Bryn Mawr College, is at the Dodge Hotel for the week-end accompanied by Miss Eloise Gerry, of the United States Forest Service at Madison, Wis.

Mrs. Edward W. McDuff, of Providence, R. I., is spending several days at the Powhatan.

GHOST HUNT TINGES INDIAN MURDER CASE

NINE JURORS SELECTED

Buffalo, N. Y., March 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Eight months ago, a fabulously ancient and chronically alcoholic Seneca Indian known in this region as "Sassafras Charlie" Bowen, informed his 80-year-old wife that ghosts were becoming bothersome around their cabin and that he was going to exterminate and exorcise them. So, armed with scrapings from a wild cherry root and several time-tested incantations and gestures, he gave her his loaded revolver to shoot any ghosts who might annoy her in his absence and walked out into the haunted night.

Now this, one should suppose, should never have affected the lives of Henri Marchand, a French painter and sculptor, and his wife Clotilde, who lived at the edge of the Cattaragus Reservation.

But Clotilde Marchand was beaten to death with a dime store hammer by old Nancy Bowen, twelve days ago, and Henri Marchand is now a prisoner in the county jail—he and Lilac Jimerson, a sharp-faced Indian spinster whom he, by his own admission, had seduced that she might be more easily persuaded to pose for him—and old "Sassafras Charlie's" ghost hunt was the start of it all.

Didn't Survive Hunt.

Old Charlie, you see, didn't survive his ghost hunt. Perhaps he died, quite naturally, from exposure of his ancient, whisky-soaked body to the damp and chill of that September night.

But there is a chance that "Ma" Bowen, a simple, almost senile old woman, mistook the returning Charlie for one of the ghosts he had gone out to exorcise and shot him with his own revolver.

There is now a plan afoot to exhume Charlie's body, in the coffin for which the Senecas collected $50, and see whether he was shot or died from natural causes. If he was shot by old Nancy, then both her counsel and the defenders of Lilac Jimerson (and of Marchand if he is indicted by the grond jury, which is still in session) can and will argue that she was plainly unbalanced in her fear of ghosts and spirits and that she needed no such elaborate incitement as the State charges against Lilac Jimerson to drive her to kill Mrs. Marchand.

Nine Jurors Selected.

The Jimerson woman is on trial for inciting the murder. Three days of jury picking ended at noon today with nine jurors in the box and a panel of 137 talesmen exhausted. On Monday a fresh panel will be called.

"If I can find any evidence directly connecting Marchand with this murder, I most certainly will ask for his indictment," Moore says.

Lilac Jimerson has both half accused Marchand to reporters and absolved him in a statement given out through her lawyers.

"He was the first man I ever had anything to do with," she said. "I am an ugly woman, and I never had any sweethearts. I never went anywhere, I never had any good times, I never have had yet. I guess the only parties I ever went to in my life with a man were with my cousin, but he wasn't my sweetheart."

Wooed in Woods.

She told how Marchand used to take her in his car to the doctors, 7 miles away, and how those trips were virtually the only excursions she ever made away from her shanty and her garden patch.

Many times we came home in the twflight, and he would stop his car in the woods and make love to me. It is not true what they say—that I posed for him many times, and that he made love to me then, in his studio. I posed for him just once. It was in September, three years ago—yes, that is right; September, 1926—and he painted a picture of me."

Marchand said that he did not care whether he was indicted or not; that his only wish was to be permitted to clear himself in court, either as a witness or as an accused prisoner.

"This is a ridiculous thing," he said. "Apparently, I am in jail, though there is no accusation against me, for the crime of having an affair with a woman who was not my wife. You feel differently about such things in this country, I know, from what we do in Europe; but I do not disguise it from you, for it is nothing to be ashamed of.

"It is stupid to say I killed my wife, if for no other reason than she was the only critic of my work that I could trust. Her help and criticism and advice in the 32 years we were married was what made me as good an artist as I am."

Langley Field Planes Will Fly to California

Langley Field, Va., March 21 (A.P.). A trimotored Fokker plane, the advance ship of the Langley contingent in the Army Air Corps maneuvers at Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif., early in April, left here today for Pope Field, N. C., on the first leg of its cross-country hop.

The plane is to be followed Sunday morning by nineteen bombers with nearly twoscore Army pilots, who will participate in the aerial exercises.

Maryland Boy, 11, Injured by Auto

Car Speeds Away After Lad Is Tossed Into Air by Blow.

Thrown into the air when he was run down by an automobile bearing no lights and occupied by two unidentified men, 11-yearold Joseph Heming, of Waldorf, Md., received critical injuries at 9 o'clock last night as he was walking from services at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Bryantown, Md., with several companions along the main highway in the town.

The child, suffering from severe injuries to the head and face, was brought by Deputy Sheriff J. A. Grabis, of Charles County, to Providence Hospital. He was accompanied there by his father, Henry Heming, a farmer, and a sister, Mary, with whom he was walking.

The sister told the deputy sheriff that the automobile suddenly shot out of the darkness, struck the youth, tossing him into the air, and then was driven a short distance away and abandoned by its two occupants.

PILOT SHOWS MERIT OF BOMBING PLANE

McEvoy Puts Speedy Craft Through Paces With Half-Ton Load.

NAVY TESTS TO FOLLOW

A vivid commentary on charges of Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, contained in a resolution introduced March 13, that the United States lagged behind European nations in production of fast bombing planes was written in the skies over Anacostia Naval Air Station yesterday by William H. McEvoy, visory committee for aeronautics, chief test pilot of the national ad-

Flying the same single-motored Martin bomber in which he made six vertical power dives of 6,000 fet and more Thursday, Mr. McEvoy duplicated his feat, carrying a 1,000-pound bomb. He then looped the plane a number of times and performed Immelman turns. After that he flew the plane, still carrying its half-ton load, on its back more than a quarter of a mile and put it through several slow rolls, said by pilots to exert more strain on the structure of an airplane than any other maneuver.

The new bomber wa sbuilt by the Glenn L. Martin Co., of Baltimore, and is powered with a Hornet engine of 625 horsepower. It is of all-metal construction, the only fabric being used as covering for wings and tail assembly. The fuselage is triangular in shape and the landing gear is specially braced to withstand the terrific stresses placed upon it when carrying the heavy bomb.

Beginning Monday, the plane will be test-flown by Navy pilots.

Private Arrested In Tehft of Auto

Fort Myer Youth Chraged With Taking Car in Arlington.

Arrested yesterday morning in Martinsburg, W. Va., on a broadcast issued by Arlington County authorities, Private Thomas Walldrop, 17 years old, of Klupmont, Pa., who had been stationed for six days at Fort Myer upon his enlistment, was returned yesterday afternoon to the Arlington County Jail and charged with the theft of an automobile on March 20 from its parked position on the Lee Highway near Park Lane, Va.

The machine, according to police, is the property of William A. Pate, Rockville, Md., contractor, who declared an overcoat in the car at the time of the theft bore Government checks, notes and cash totaling $13,000. Policeman John R. Burke, of Arlington County, and Maryland State Policeman W. C. Poole, of Rockville, reported that the machine, badly wrecked, had been found near Martinsburg but that the valuables were missing.

QUINTET, PLANE HELD IN ALIEN SMUGGLING

$50,000 Transport Seized in Drive Against Bringing Aliens Over Border.

TWO SUSPECTS FLIERS

Los Angeles, March 21 (A.P.).—With the arrest of five men, two of them aviators, and the seizure of a $50,000 transport plane, Federal immigration agents said tonight they had broken up an elaborate plot to smuggle alien Chinese into California from Mexico by air.

George E. Flaherty, owner of the seized transport, was arrested at his home here late today and immigration agents said he confessed employing two fliers to pilot the plane on a smuggling expedition.

The pilots previously had been arrested. They are Harold A. Sweet, 26, of Los Angeles, former air line pilot, and George V. Gray, 34, of Taft, Calif.

Others in custody are John F. Smith, 24, of Los Angeles, and Eddie M. Collins, 34, of Long Beach, Calif.

First intimation of the alleged plot came early last Monday when Mexican authorities found Collins and Smith and nine Chinese in an automobile which had bogged down on a little used road near Mexicali, Lower California. The captives were turned over to immigration authorities for the United States at Calexico, American border city.

Shortly afterward, United States agents hurried to Imperial, Calif., and arrested Sweet and Gray as they landed their large ship at the Imperial airport. Federal agents charged the pilots planned to fly to a point in Mexico and meet the automobile, taking the Chinese aboard and flying them to Northern California.

News of the four arrests was not made public until the men were brought here today. The arrest of Flaherty followed.

Smugglers, the agents said, usually employ small, antiquated planes. The seizure of the big, modern transport was the first made in this territory in operations against smuggling activities.

Double-Killing Mystery In Henry County Grows

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 21.—Commonwealth Attorney Broaddus, of Henry County, today began an inquiry into the double homicide discovered between here and Martinsville yesterday when Mrs. W. L. Stone, 46, and Thomas Howerton, 19, were found lying dead side by side in the store of the woman's husband. While the sheriff and the coroner took the position that Howerton had killed the woman and then himself, certain mysterious aspects were not accepted by Broaddus.

Further examination of the bodies in an undertaking establishment failed to reveal powder burns on Howerton's cheek. Mrs. Stone bore no bullet wound and one of the two shots discharged from the revolver has not been accounted for.

CHICAGO DISCOVERS CAPONE IS NOT WANTED OFFICIALLY

what District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson wanted, if anything.

Johnson was not in, neither was his first assistant, and those on duty knew of nothing for which Capone should be held, so the entourage hurriedly drove out to the Criminal Courts Building to see what Pat Roche, the chief investigator for State's Attorney John A. Swanson, had to talk to Capone about. Roche also happened to be out, and his aids professed surprise that Capone should be brought there.

Meanwhile State's Attorney Swanson was in his office, but Capone was not taken there, and Swanson knew nothing about it. So back they went to the detective bureau, where Stege "laid down the law." He told Al Chicago didn't want him, and that detectives were under instructions to "pull him in" whenever they saw him on the streets.

Capone held a different attitude The man whose name once was synonymous with the William McSwiggin machin-gun killing and the North Clark street massacre of seven Moran gangsters said "Chicago is my home and I intend to live here."

Plans Florida Trip.

Capone, wearing glasses "because the Philadelphia cell ruined my eyes," said he planned to go to Florida next week to look after his iami interests and then would return to Chicago to look after his "business" here. He denied he was in the liquor racket.

Al's right hand was bandaged. He amilingly said he had "burned it taking a roast out of the oven" at his friend's house the other night. Al said he evaded the watchers in Philadelphia Monday by transferring from Eastern Prison to another prison the day before his sentence was up.

He said they drove straight to Chicago, taking their time, arriving Wednesday night.

Contempt Hearing Planned.

District Attorney Johnson said he would go into court next week and endeavor to have a date set for a hearing of the contempt of court matter against Capone on which the gangster is at liberty under $5,000 bond.

During a conference with Stege, Deputy Chief Egan and Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne at the detective bureau, Capone was asked about the St. Valentine's Day massacre. His only answer was "I was in Florida."

Ditchburne said: "I could ask you about 50 other killings in Chicago, but I don't suppose you would have anything to say."

Al didn't.

No One Follows.

Then Ditchburne said: "I don't suppose you would have anything to say if your brother was shot down at your home tonight while you were there?"

Al replied: "Put yourself in my place. What would you say?"

And that's all there was to it.

After the session broke up, Al looked out the window and saw a crowd of movie photographers, news reel men and news photographers waiting for him. He asked for an escort to evade the boys, but Stege said, "Get out the best you can." With Nash on one side and D'Andrea on the other, Al hurried from the bureau, clambered into a small coupe and the three of them whizzed south. Al said he was headed for home, the little brick bungalow on Prairie avenue.

No one tried to follow—not even the police.

Charges Are Upheld.

Miami, Fla., March 21 (A.P.).—Charges of possession of liquor and vagrancy, lodged against six men arrested during a liquor raid on the home of Alphonse Capone, on Palm Island at Miami Beach last night, were upheld in circuit court here today when Judge H. F. Atkinson denied petitions of the men for writs of habeas corpus.

The sextet was released on $500 cash bond each, however, pending trial. Two of the men were listed by police as brothers of the Chicago gangster. John Capone and Frankie Newtown, caretaker of the Capone estate, will be tried on charges of possession of liquor said to have been seized in the raid on the residence. Albert Capone, James Vincent, Louis Cowin and L. J. Brennan were charged with vagrancy. Cowin is said to be the publisher of a newspaper in Cicero, Ill.

Court officials said trials probably will be set for the latter part of next week.

CANCER-CURE CLAIM TO BE INVESTIGATED

Noted Medical Authorities Named to Inquire Into Coffee-Humber Cases.

WIRE BRINGS INVITATION

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Several distinguished American medical men were named today on a commission to go quickly to San Francisco to investigate the Coffee-Humber cancer experiment.

Included were United States Surgeon General Cummings, Dr. Charles Mayo, Dr. Morris Fishbein, secretary of the American Medical Association; Dr. Francis Carter Wood, of Columbia University; Dr. Clarence Cook Little, Dr. James Ewing, of Cornell; Dr. Gideon Wells, of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, of Johns Hopkins. The commission has a number of leading cancer experts.

The invitation was telegraphed from a train at Liberal, Kans., by Drs. Coffee and Humber, who are returning to San Francisco after testifying before a Senate committee about their cancer treatment.

Reason for Speed Given.

The urge for speed was issued by Dr. Bloodgood, who said that on yesterday alone he was personally asked by 60 cancer sufferers whether they should go to San Francisco and ask the Westerners to experiment upon them. These requests came to Bloodgood from as far as Guatemala.

The telegram named Dr. Bloodgood to select the members of the commission. It was addressed to General Manager William W. Buffum, of the Chemical Foundation, to whom Dr. Bloodgood assigned charge of arrangements. The foundation has offered to pay expenses. Dr. Buffum said those invited would be consulted about setting the earliest possible date.

In a statement Dr. Bloodgood said: "An extract from the adrenal gland now is being experimentally employed by Drs. Coffee and Humber in the treatment of hopeless cancer. The adrenal gland lies above the kidney and is one of the glands of internal secretion.

"The claim that it relieves pain is no evidence of the curative value because many other seria, extracts and other forms of treatment have temporarily relieved pain but never accomplished a cure.

Not Evidence of Curative Value.

"The claim that this adrenal extract produces central necrosis (breaking down of cells) in the cancer is also not an evidence of its curative value; because this necrosis takes place spontaneously in all cancer, and has been observed to take place after many forms of treatment.

"At the present time cancer students throughout the world agree that there are but two forms of treatment that have ever accomplished permanent cures; complete removal of the cancer tumor by operation or irradiation by X-ray and radium, with or without operation. * * *"

New Malta Fever Cases Appear in Hagerstown

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., March 21.—Two cases of Malta fever have developed in Hagerstown within the past few weeks, according to an announcement made today by County Health Officer Ernest Poole. The cases were found in two homes in the exclusive residential section of the city.

Three cases were discovered here last year, and the patients are still undergoing treatment. The disease similar to typhoid is contracted by using milk from infected cows. The germ is transimtted to humans who use the milk.

Noted Negro Educator Expires in Virginia

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 21.—William F. Grasty, 75, well known in Virginia as a Negro educator, died here this morning after a long illness. He had taught school here for over half a century, his services being rewarded a year ago by his appointment as principal emeritus of the colored high school.

He had served as president of the State Teachers Association, was a past grand master of the Virginia colored Masons and secretary of the Sunday school convention, colored, of Virginia.

Store Clerks, Attention

"For two years I suffered with irregularities and finally had to leave school. I got no relief until my married sister told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking only two bottles I felt well. Since then I have been able to clerk in a store, on my feet all day and have suffered only once from my old trouble. I want other girls, especially store clerks, to know what it did for me."—Dorothy L. Fairchild, 924 Walnut Street, Freeland, Pennsylvania.

May 12 has been selected as the date for the annual banquet and entertainment of the local chamber. It will be held either in the Stonewall Jackson Hotel or the Stonewall Jackson Golf Club, 3 miles north of here on the Lee highway. The committee for this annual affair consisted of Curtis P. Bowman, chairman; Clarke Worthington, W. Stuart Moffett, William A. Pratt, J. Harry Bryan, George B. Tullidge, Harold C. Gibson, F. C. Hamer and Gabriel Blosser.

POLICEMAN INJURED IN RUM AUTO CHASE

Second Patrolman Captures Car and Seven Gallons of Liquor.

MACHINE IS ABANDONED

Hurled head-first over the handlebars of his motorcycle while speeding after a rum-laden automobile, Policeman R. E. Burton, of the Eleventh Precinct Station, suffered severe injuries late yesterday.

The rum car was captured at Livingston road and Southern avenue southeast, but the occupants escaped. Police say they found seven gallons of liquor hidden under the seat of the abandoned machine.

Policeman Burton and Motorcycle Policeman J. E. Bennett chased the car for more than a mile along Livingston road. Their attention had been attracted to the vehicle by the high speed at which it was traveling.

In mounting his machine to give chase, Policeman Burton did not take time to pull up the stand of the motorcycle and as it dragged along the highway it struck an obstruction, Burton being thrown by the impact. He was removed to his home, 1404 Forty-fourth street southeast, where he is being treated by a family physician for possible internal injuries.

RITES ARE PLANNED FOR GEORGE TOPHAM

Leather Goods Merchant to Be Buried Tomorrow in Oak Hill.

WAS NATIVE OF CAPITAL

George Topham, 68 years old, long identified with the manufacture and retail of leather goods, and who died Thursday will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Oak Hill Cemetery. Services will be conducted at 2 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur B. Whittet, 3271 Van Hazen street, where he died of heart disease after an illness of several months.

Mr. Topham was a native of this city. His father, James S. Topham, established the first store under the name in 1855. After being on Seventh street the store was moved in 1881 to 1231 Pennsylvania avenue, where it remained until 1903 when it was moved to 1219 F street. In 1920 the business was sold.

George Topham conducted the business jointly with his brothers and sisters, following the death of his father in 1912. He had been in business with his father since 1880.

Mr. Topham was educated in the public schools of this city and at Western Maryland College. He was a member of Federal Lodge, No. 1, F. A. A. M., and of Fidelity Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Jesse Gover, of Passaic, N. J.; Mrs. Whittet, of this city, and Mrs. N. Eppesson, of Meridian, Miss.; two brothers, Washington and Howard W. Topham, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Lida T. Oldfield, of this city, and Mrs. Robert B. Bernheim, of Charleston, W. Va.

Rain and Sleet Promised On Second Day of Spring

Although winter was officially pronounced dead by Weather Bureau officials early yesterday, a post mortem reaction is forecast for today. All those who placed their heavy coats in moth balls might just as well retrieve them and have them in readiness for the weather bureau forecasts that winter will return with sleet and rain. A low temperature of 32 is forecast for today.

Yesterday morning at 3:30 o'clock the sun was reported as passing over the equator to mark the demise of King Winter and the birth of a vernal equinox, commonly known as spring

Despite the gloomy prediction of the weather observers many are willing to concede that spring has arrived. They are those nomadic souls who each year at spring are attacked with the wanderlust. If you were a bit late for the office yesterday and felt the urge for roaming, and pined for other climes and new scenery, it means just that you are suffering from spring fever.

Although the lever reaches epidemic proportions each year and attacks all sections of the country simultaneously it is soon obliterated. Two or three weeks is the normal period of convalescence.

DISTRICT COMMISSIONERS.

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby were nominated yesterday by President Hoover to be civilian members of the Board of District Commissioners. The selection of Gen. Crosby for the post was announced by the White House more than a month ago, but the actual nomination was held up until Gen. Crosby had completed his term as chief of cavalry and had retired from the Army. The nomination of Dr. Reichelderfer came as somewhat of a surprise inasmuch as he was not numbered among those prominently mentioned for the commissionership. Since the terms of Commissioners Dougherty and Taliaferro expired some weeks ago and both officials are anxious to return to civil life, early action on the nominations is anticipated.

Gen. Crosby's nomination has been widely debated. It is President Hoover's intention that Gen. Crosby shall assume supervision of the police and fire departments and the Traffic Bureau. These departments of the municipal government should fare well under the supervision of one who has been trained in the Army and it is admitted on all sides that Gen. Crosby, by nature and by training, would be ideally fitted to assume command of these departments. But a question has been raised as to whether or not a retired Army officer is a civilian as contemplated in the law prescribing that the commission shall be made up of two civilians and one Army officer who shall be the Engineer Commissioner. This question has raised opposition to Gen. Crosby's appointment that is due for an airing before the Senate District committee.

It is the President's intention that Dr. Reichelderfer shall become president of the board and shall assume supervision of the welfare activities of the local government. His long experience as a practicing physician, coupled with his executive training as an officer of the National Guard, as president of the local medical society and in an administrative capacity in hospitals evidence his fitness for the post. It is generally held that one member of the board should be a lawyer inasmuch as the commission is called upon frequently to deal with matters in which legal points are involved. A similar point can be made of the desirability of having a trained physician on the board to supervise the health and welfare functions of the Government.

RUSSIA'S CHANGE OF FRONT.

The bolshevist government in Russia is passing through a critical period. Revolution invariably goes from one extreme to the other. During recent months there has been a sharp drive toward radicalism and violence on both the economic and religious fronts. That is now followed by a conciliatory policy under which Stalin hopes to convert rather than to force the peasant population into collectivization and atheism.

The less rigid policy with respect to communization has been supplemented by orders against forcible closing of the churches and persecution of church members. The All-Union Congress of Atheists has given warning that the campaign to exterminate religion overnight must be supplanted by a movement for rational conversions. Heretofore religion has been fought by closing places of worship. Now the plan is to bring the peasants within the league of the godless, so that they will themselves demand destruction of the churches.

In both cases a swing of the pendulum away from the extreme left is apparent. The new economic concessions made to the peasants can be explained, at least in part, by the fact that the planting season is approaching. It is absolutely necessary that the Soviet Union have the good will of the peasants while they are actually engaged in the production of crops. The dictatorship very astutely reserves its rigors for the nonproductive season.

But the mitigation of the antireligious campaign can be explained in no other way than that the Communists are afraid of the extremities of their own measures. Having met with stubborn opposition, they are forced to retreat, and propose to accomplish their communistic revolution through persuasive means. This is done to strengthen the bolshevist cause. But human nature is such that people will not give up freedom and their belief in God through persuasion. The only hope the bolshevists have for success lies in force. Their remorseless tyranny might keep the peasants in subjection for some time, but if the peasants are allowed to think and act for themselves the experiment will be a failure.

It remains to be seen whether the advertised leniency is a camouflage, or whether it is a reactionary movement which may ultimately put the oppresors of Russia's peasantry to rout.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

Unemployment is being steadily relieved. Reports from 21 cities assembled by the New York Board of Trade give definite assurance that the critical period is passed and that business is on the road to recovery. Seasonal employment has begun to pick up and industrial plants are expanding their operations. Credit is cheap and stocks and bonds are at new high levels for the year.

A business slump is distressing to both industry and labor. When once the productive pace has been slowed down it is difficult to regain the previous momentum. Workers can not buy goods if they have no income. The manufacturer and merchant does not prosper if their markets are restricted. Existing conditions illustrate the damage that may be done by disrupting the normal swing of production.

Unemployment remains perhaps the most baffling economic problem. In recent years the Government has been called upon to cope with it. But the opportunities for constructive relief by the Government are limited. Considerable slack in seasonal employment can be taken up by long-time planning of public works. Aid can be given through free employment agencies. But the Government can do little else. To offer a dole to workers without jobs only aggravates conditions.

The problem is essentially one that industry must solve, with the aid of governmental units. This thought was emphasized in the address of Miss Frances Perkins, industrial commissioner of New York, before the unemployment conference held in that city. Since the solution is merely a question of more jobs, which can only be supplied on an extensive scale by industry and commerce, the remedy should be sought in the industrial system.

American employers have learned the lesson that payment of good wages makes their industries prosperous. They must also realize that laying off men in times of stress curtails their markets and makes the crisis more acute. Several industries have already eliminated unemployment. All industries can do so by making provision for fluctuations in the demand for their goods. As Miss Perkins puts it: "Last year's profits should be spent if necessary in stimulating this year's trade so as to insure next year's profits."

The habit of discharging men when demands are slack has the same effect as increasing the weight behind a blow. Nothing could be more effective in counteracting a period of depression than the maintenance of regular pay rolls. If this can not be done, the next best remedy is to reduce the hours per day that each man works and thus distribute the burden among many, rather than subjecting a few to distress. In this way the demand for staple articles could be sustained and the loss of momentum would be far less serious.

The country is recovering from the present period of unemployment, but the problem is nevertheless acute. Economic slumps will continue to occur upon slight provocation until the worker is insured against nonproductive periods. This is an elemental weakness in the industrial system. It should have attention of the keenest industrial minds in the country.

FARM TAXES.

A survey made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics shows that American farmers pay in direct taxes more than $900,000,000 annually. The fact that 84 per cent of this amount is paid through the general property tax, indicates how little the farmer contributes to the upkeep of the Federal Government and how heavy a toll is levied against him by the States and smaller political divisions.

Whitney Coombs, writer of the report, holds out some hope for the farmer in his statement that the rapid rise of farm taxes has probably passed. Nevertheless the prospects are for continued increases at a slower rate. There is little chance of materially reducing expenditures of local governments, and the farmer must look to a readjustment of the tax burden for relief. New sources of revenue to supplement the general property tax and the financing of schools on a State-wide basis would ease the situation.

The bureau found that taxes are taking 30 per cent of the net rent of farm real estate operated by tenants. On farms operated by their owners taxes amount to from 18 to 31 per cent of such returns. Gross inequalities were discovered in the assessment of agricultural property. Most of the State taxing systems are out of adjustment with modern conditions, and as a result the farmer bears an unusually heavy burden. The survey indicates that the States ought to get busy on a type of farm relief that can be handled only by themselves.

THE CEMENT SCHEDULE.

The Blease amendment to the tariff bill, adopted in the Senate by a 42-37 vote, in effect places cement on the free list so far as it may be used by or sold to States, counties, parishes, cities, towns, municipalities and subdivisions thereof for public purposes. The provision, if it survives in the conference, will go a long way toward mitigating the effect of the cement schedule. States, counties, municipalities, &c., are large users of concrete. It is estimated that 32.5 per cent, or 57,000,000 barrels, of all cement used in the United States in 1928 went into roadways, curbs, streets and pavement bases. If to the 57,000,000 or more barrels that are used for streets and pavements by political divisions is added the consumption for school and public building construction, &c., it is obvious that the cement consumption of States, cities and counties is large enough to be the dominating factor in the market.

Proponents of the cement tariff will make a vigorous fight to have the Blease amendment stricken from the bill. Whether they will succeed or not remains to be seen. The cement bloc has shown considerable strength, but the farm bloc, too, has strength, and it will resist any effort to remove the Blease amendment from the bill. The farm bloc has fought and is fighting all schedules that would add to the price of materials used by farmers. Cement is such a material, and its price is of direct concern to the individual farmer in that it is reflected in the cost of roads, for which the farmer pays taxes, and an increased price might result in a curtailment of road construction.

Like the Government, practically every State and most of the counties and cities purchase materials on a competitive basis. The award, by law, must be made to the lowest responsible bidder. The courts time and again have upheld the validity of this system, and have even gone so far as to say that the term "responsible" means little more than ability to carry out a contract with materials that fulfill specifications. With the State and municipal market cut out from under them, domestic cement manufacturers stand to gain precious little from the cement tariff.

JUDGE PARKER'S NOMINATION.

In nominating Judge John J. Parker, of the Fourth judicial circuit, to be Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court to succeed the late Justice Sanford, President Hoover acceded to the insistent Southern demand that a Southerner be appointed to the post. Justice Sanford was a Tennesseean. Judge Parker is a native of North Carolina. In 1920 he was the Republican nominee for Governor of that State and in 1925 he was appointed to the Court of Appeals by President Coolidge.

Judge Parker was indorsed by members of the bar of the Carolinas, Maryland, West Virginia and Virginia, States comprising the Fourth judicial circuit, as well as a number of prominent citizens and business men. He has not yet reached his forty-fifth birthday and will become, upon confirmation, one of the youngest men to have served on the Supreme Court bench. His nomination marks the first recognition of the Fourth judicial circuit in this respect in 70 years.

THE LINCOLN MUSEUM.

Now that a subcommittee of the House has favorably reported on the bill to convert the old Ford Theater, where Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, into a permanent museum to house all Lincoln relics, including the famous Oldroyd collection, it is to be hoped that this long-delayed project will be quickly carried out.

The things that a man has lived with and cherished serve to bring back much more vividly a picture of the man himself and his times than the cold beauty of a mausoleum or a monument. They reflect his personality and give a genuine background with which to appraise him. The Nation is extremely fortunate in possessing so many and such diversified relics of the martyred President. They should be carefully guarded for posterity.

The objection that the selection of the old Ford Theater Building for this purpose is inappropriate because it might "seem to sanctify the place of the act of a madman," is so far-fetched as to deserve no consideration. In a sense, the building has become hallowed by this tragedy. It should be preserved and in it should be placed all the Lincoln relics.

John Grandson, age 104, is recovering from injuries received when his horse bolted and threw him. When the boy gets a little older perhaps his father will let him learn to drive the car.

CANADA'S LIQUOR POLICY

From the Manitoba Free Press.

The people of this country never were in favor of the arrangement made between the liquor interests and the Dominion and Ontario governments by which the passage of liquor from this country to the United States was facilitated. There is no use beating about the bush about this matter. All the circumstances suggest that there was an understanding between the distillers and the "practical politicians" of both parties.

A new method of handling liquor exports had to be devised to make export of liquor to the United States possible. It was worked out jointly by the department of national revenue of the Dominion government and by the officials of the Ontario government who control the movements of liquor in the province. The Dominion released the liquor from the bonded warehouse upon the payment of the excise tax of $9 per gallon; the Ontario government, in contempt of its own regulations, permitted the distillers to take possession of this liquor as an ordinary article of commerce within the province; and when the liquor reached the frontier the Dominion government again, under the claim that it was an ordinary article of commerce, granted customs clearance.

The system was perfected and was being operated on a huge scale before the public had any inkling of what was going on. We doubt whether either the Dominion government or the Ontario government were officially aware of the arrangement that had been made. The thing was done in both jurisdictions by departmental action; and by the time that "busybodies," as they were regarded, began to look into the matter and show it up to the public the traffic had reached immense proportions, and involved in it were interests very powerful in the world both of business and politics.

The public has been put in possession of the relevant facts by newspapers which remained of the opinion that the business was a disgrace to the country despite all the plausible arguments put out in its behalf by its defenders: for instance, that this trade should be permitted because it was worth nine millions a year to the Dominion treasury; that it was a profitable business which in the interests of the trade of the country should be encouraged; that the widows and orphans had invested in the securities of the distilling companies under the promise that the bootlegging industry in the United States would insure them golden returns; that Canada owed nothing to the United States in the way of neighborly cooperation and should exploit to the utmost this opportunity to make a little money at her expense; and so on ad lib. Once the issue became clear it began to be evident that the claim of the distillers and their propagandists that the public was solidly behind them was a hollow bluff. There followed with promptitude the action by the government which received the unanimous approval of the House of Commons last week.

Said the little house: "Much joy I've known
Since first my floors were new,
About my porch have roses grown,
And a green lawn wet with dew.

"Ive heard them laugh and heard them sing
Who kept the fires within,
And I have shared their sorrowing
When death came stalking in.

"I've watched this little family play

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN

My dear Louise:

A year or two ago the members of your class, properly chaperoned by teachers, commandeered a school bus and went to the country for a moonlight weiner roast.

The bus was headed home in good time, but broke down on the way and left you stranded.

Fortunately, or unfortunately, two of your classmates had scorned the democracy of the bus and borrowed a cheap coupe for the adventure. These now came to the rescue and volunteered to bring you all to town, three at a load.

Of course you were first to accept their offer, and of course you returned with them for a second load when the first was discharged. Moonlight adventures are rare, and you were determined to make the most of the opportunity.

Somewhere on that return journey the driver of your car was blinded by approaching lights and swerved too far. You made an unsuccessful attempt to dive through the windshield.

The chaperons, thinking all was well, had come home in their own car; and when you failed to appear on time, we called them on the telephone to make inquiry. They went back to finish their job.

Thirty minutes later they appeared to make their report. They were hysterical. The coupe had been found in a ditch—shattered and empty.

"They can't be very badly hurt," one of them said, "for there wasn't much blood!"

I had been keeping a tight rein on my fears, for the house was full of guests and I didn't want your mother unnecessarily alarmed; but when the chaperone offered her encouraging deduction, my nerves blew up.

The car wrecked; glass shattered; blood—mute evidence of horrible tragedy, and my kid swallowed up by the night! You might be broken and dead in some farm home. You might be on the way to some hospital, unconscious and dying.

I ran out to the garage, climbed into the first car and began to kick frantically at the starter. By the mercy of Heaven I missed it six times in succession, for if the car had got under way, with me at the wheel in that condition it would have ended its career against some tree or building within 60 seconds.

While I was still kicking at the inoffensive footboard, Dr. Redick came down the driveway to tell me the good news. You had stopped at his drug store for first aid and were then at Dr. Thomason's home having stitches taken in a scalp wound.

That was all. A little cut, and a scar that wouldn't show. You couldn't even enjoy bandages next day.

But sometimes at night I relieve those agonizing minutes when you were not to be found, and a little more of my scant hair turns white.

Last night you were offended when I wouldn't let you go to the city to enjoy a movie. "Seventeen years old," you thought, "and still can't go out at night."

But there are so many wrecks on that road at night, and what have I done to you that you should be willing to cause me four hours of unnecessary fear and dread? Love,

DAD.

THE GARBLE SISTERS.

(Those girls who read while they run discuss the Russian situation, the naval limitations parley, trade conditions and what not.)

"Ain' it orful about Mahatma Ghandi?"

"You mean the feller that's tearing down all the Russian churches?"

"Yeah. He's forbidden religion all over Russia."

"What made him do a thing like that?"

"His cabinet was overthrown for the third time in a month or sumpin like that and he just got sore. If he would stick to Russia it wouldn't be so bad, but he's got agents all over America and they're filling Congress with lobbyists."

"Terrible things are going on everywhere, but I suppose the death of Primo de Rivera will make some difference."

"Primo de Rivera?"

"Yeah. He was the head of Russia. He took Tardieu's place when Tardieu resigned over the duty on sugar or sumpin."

"You don't mean Tardieu. You mean Capone."

"Oh yes; that's the one. I knew it began with a 'k.'"

"Well, anyhow, this conference that's been going on in London all winter is to blame for a lot of the trouble."

"You mean the big prohibition limitations conference?"

"That's the one. We sent Secretary Stimson and a big delegation to London six months ago and we're no nearer a solution of the liquor situation now than ever. On one side Sam Crowther, the Bishop of the Bowery, comes out for prohibition, and on the other side we have Gen. Atterbury, the head of the Ford Motor Co., opposing the Volstead act and saying the parley should either come to some agreement or adjourn and come back to America."

"The only good news I have seen in a month is that Admiral Lowell is safe back in civilization from the North Pole flight."

"Did you read how he discovered all those dinosaur tracks and found that the Peiping man was not a man, but a woman?"

"No, I was reading that when my mind was distracted by the story telling about the discovery of that new planet by Prof. Richard Byrd. It's a planet nobody ever knew of before and they're going to call it after Calvin Coolidge or somebody."

"I never cared much about planets, did you?"

"Oh, I like some planets, like poppies and chrysanthemums and orchids, but I never raised any myself."

* * * *

"I didn't know they were going to name it after Coolidge. I thought they had some other plan."

"What was it?"

"Why, it seems to me I read that it was going to be taken care of by the Literary Digest."

"How?"

"They're going to take a Nation-wide poll and see just what name the public prefers."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Chicagoan Suggests Plan for Preventing Overproduction of Wheat.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read your editorial on "Wheat," copied in the Chicago Tribune, and am writing you on the same subject. The so-called tariff wall has been erected around this country to protect our home markets against the pauper labor of Europe. This home market enables the manufacturer to pay high wages and big dividends, and has given him prosperity. When he overproduces he does not call upon the Government to help him to sustain prices, or to carry his surplus products. During the war wheat sold at over $2 a bushel, and a loaf of bread was then 10 cents. Now wheat is half that price, and the public is still paying $2 a bushel for wheat in a loaf of bread. Who is getting this money? Certainly not the farmer.

Why not put the farmer in the same position as the manufacturer? Have the Farm Board buy all the wheat that is used by the millers, and pay the farmer $1.50 a bushel for all this wheat. To insure orderly marketing, gradually increase the price to cover carrying charges and interest. Now comes the question of the surplus, which is at the bottom of all our trouble.

Going back 50 years, our home consumption during that period has increased 300 per cent. In another generation our home market will consume all the wheat now raised. If the millers are forbidden by law to buy any wheat except from the Farm Board, that provides our market for home consumption, thus insuring the farmer and Farm Board a good price for this grain. The surplus wheat, about 200,000,000 bushels each year, is then an easier problem for the Farm Board than attempting to elevate the price of the entire world crop.

To pay each farmer the high price according to the per cent allotted him for the home market, and pay that price only on such allotment, would mean that the loss on all surplus wheat delivered to the Farm Board would be borne by the farmer, according to his per cent. This would shortly stop overproduction. The farmer would get a handsome profit on a small crop, thus insuring his prosperity. The farmer under this arrangement occupies the same position as the manufacturer. Any overproduction of goods, causing loss and trouble, would soon cease.

The Farm Board can not compete with the European markets any more than the manufacturer can if our tariff wall is destroyed.

A. D. PHILPOT.

Machinery Makes Unemployment Problem Different From Former Crises.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If machinery—and the "if" is significant at this point—continues to displace human effort in manufacturing and farming in the United States, at even its present rate, for a decade to come, the army of the unemployed will be so large that this land will face a problem even greater than China is now facing.

Unemployment today is different from past unemployment, which was caused through financial disturbances. It is, indeed, the inevitable effect of science, and statesmen above others should understand the phenomenon as it presents itself. Lying about it is not the solution. Ignoring it is not the solution. Let us try to see the issue over and above our own petty self-interest. Then we can gather 'round the table and talk turkey. Which road shall we take? The modern "Frankenstein" is here. What are we going to do about it? When shall we eat?

DAN O'BRIEN.

Two Points for Amateur Gardeners to Bear in Mind.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The time is rapidly approaching when amateur gardeners will be busy. The lawns will need trimming and rose bushes and shrubs will have to be sprayed to rid them of insects.

Dr. C. T. Gregory, pathologist in the department of botany at Purdue University, recently gave a talk on the fight against plant disease. In describing the life of the fungi and bacteria to which the majority of plant diseases are due, Dr. Gregory said that gardeners must remember two things. First, to be accurate when spraying, as in the case of plant diseases there is a plant living on a plant. It is possible that the flower, vegetable or tree may be killed by the same treatment that kills the fungus and germs. Secondly, he stressed the point of thoroughness in the treatment, as the parasites are very tiny. When spraying and dusting plants, all surfaces of the plants and stems must be thoroughly covered.

Prof. S. D. Conner, chief soil chemist of Purdue University, says: "The best way to rid lawns of weeds and obtain good grass is to fertilize frequently and scientifically." He advises clipping the lawn frequently and closely. If lawns are cut frequently the clippings should not be removed, as they form a mulch which Prof. Conner says is good for the grass.

HAITI BOARD LAUDS U. S. WORK ON ISLE

Hoover Commission Returns and Promises Him Full Report Soon.

GEN. RUSSELL PRAISED

(Associated Press.)

Expressing appreciation of the "good work" which has been done in Haiti during the last fifteen years by American representatives, President Hoover's Haitian Commission returned and reported to him yesterday that it is ready to prepare a full report on its accomplishments in the islands during the brief visit there.

In a prepared statement, the commission, headed by W. Cameron Forbes, said it had been "particularly impressed with the splendid results accomplished under the sincere and efficient direction of Gen. Russell, whose policy had the cooperation of President Borno."

The statement followed a press conference at which President Hoover acknowledged receipt of a preliminary report from the commission on its activities in bringing about the provisional government which is to be inaugurated May 15 with Eugene Roy, Haitian financier, in the presidential power.

Election Next Fall.

President Hoover said the provisional president will remain in office until Haitian congressional elections next fall when a new president will be constitutionally elected.

After a conference with Joseph P. Cotton, Acting Secretary of State, the commissioners said they immediately will begin work on their report. For this purpose they established headquarters at the State Department.

The text of the commission's statement was:

"The commisison in reporting to the President expressed its appreciation of the good work which has been done in Haiti during the last fifteen years by the American representatives, both civil and military.

Russell's Work Praised.

"The commission was particularly impressed with the splendid results accomplished under the sincere and efficient direction of Gen. Russell whose policy has had the cooperation of President Borno, making such substantial progress possible in meeting the vital needs of the country along the lines of public health, public works and public order and full credit to these achievements will be given in the commission's report.

"The commission received the most hearty and cordial cooperation and support from Gen. Russell and his staff of able assistants. It also desires to express its appreciation of the extremely cordial reception accorded it by President Borno and by the other Haitians with whom it had the privilege of dealing."

VALLEE TO DESCRIBE RISE AS ENTERTAINER

has paid Washington a visit and during the course of a single day's stay in the Capital, he wiped away all the envious gossip which had been spread. He came to the Capital with the city asking him to "prove himself" and he left the hero of the multitude.

It is the life story of this young man which begins tomorrow in The Post. "Vagabond Dreams Come True" probably will never take any prize as a literary effort because it was not written by a master pen. It is a simple narrative of Rudy Vallee himself, giving the history of his life from his earliest remembrance to the present time when he is the idol of a million or more persons who have never seen him in the flesh and as many more who have.

The "crooner of the air" as he has been called, probably has had as sensational a rise to fame and fortune as any young man in years. Stepping out of college with his saxophone under his arm to sing love songs to an ever-increasing audience, he has swept all obstacles aside until he is one of the highest salaried entertainers on the radio.

In his story in The Post he will tell of the struggles which preceded this popularity, of the hard work in maintaining the standard of entertainment which he has set, of the attentions showered upon him which have failed to change his natural good nature and of many other interesting events in his career.

If you like Vallee on the radio you will like him more after reading his story. If you liked him in the pictures, you will find much to interest you in his story of the visit to Hollywood. If you never have liked him, you are likely to change your mind after you've read his straightforward story. Start it with the first line tomorrow and don't miss a paragraph.

Whalen to Resign In April, Is Report

New York Police Head Says He Will Not Quit "At This Time."

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—A high official at city hall, who refused to allow his name to be used, announced today that Grover Whalen would resign as police commissioner April 26. The official refused to be quoted directly, but pointed out that when Mr. Whalen accepted the police commissionership last April 1, he obtained only a year's leave of absence from the John Wanamaker store, where he was general manager.

Mr. Whalen, cornered by reporters shortly after the announcement was made, laughed and said he had no intention of resigning "at this time." He refused to answer when asked if intended to resign next month.

James A. Farley, secretary of the State Athletic Commission, has been mentioned as a probable successor should Mr. Whalen resign.

Several reports have said that he does not intend to return to Wanamakers, but will accept one of several other business offers tendered him. He is said to have received offers from two brokerage and banking firms and one from a newspaper publisher.

Byrd's Flagship Sails Homorrow For America

Dunedin, N. Z., March 22, (A.P.) (Saturday).—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd announced today that his antarctic exploartion bark, the City of New York, was ready for sea and would begin its return voyage to New York tomorrow with a portion of the expedition.

Admiral Byrd's other vessel, the steamer Eleanor Bolling, is expected to follow the City of New York a week later, both going by way of Tahiti and the Panama Canal. Admiral Byrd will rejoin his expedition at Panama.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THERE are many things that are doubtful and confusing and about which it is almost impossible to get at the truth. There are others that are just as clear as window glass and among these latter is the inescapable fact that Senator Park Trammell of Florida loves his country. He loves his State, he loves his Southland; the senator is undoubtedly enamored of the red, white and blue.

No one could have heard him the other day in the debate on the tariff censorship without realizing this.

He iterated it and he reiterated it. He beat his breast and shouted it to the sky.

* * * *

HE was not the man to let seditious literature come in. He was not the man so let the fair womanhood of this land be despoiled by such immoral writings as the foreigners would set loose upon our shores.

No siree, he wouldn't. And why? Because he loves this old land of his. It was under its fair clime and sunny skies that he first stared around with his baby eyes. And it has been good to him. It reared him, it favored him. America has taken Mr. Trammell in its fond embrace.

And nobody but an ingrate would turn upon it now in its hour of need, when it was standing back with its hands thrown out in terror like a horror stricken child — standing against this monster that less patriotic senators would let come right in, and, indeed, sit down.

NO one could have listened without being moved by Mr. Trammell's fervid protestations of faith, his stirring professions of love. The old country probably blushed at his honeyed words but they were words that made the blood course warm. They were martial words, words of defiance against anybody and anything that would do this country harm.

From the rock-ribbed coast of old Maine to the sand dunes of Key West, Mr. Trammell ran. He loves that entire strip of the land and in a great, all-consuming expanse of love, he loves the great bosom of it that embraces all of the West, the Central West, the Southwest, the Middle West, the Far West.

* * * *

"MY Country, 'Tis of Thee" is Mr. Trammell's theme song. "The Star-Spangled Banner" his refrain. It is hard to love anything just quite as much as Mr. Trammell loves the United States. One got the impression, indeed, that we other patriots had better watch out or Mr. Trammell, in his great love for our country, may go off with it, take it off to have it all by himself.

It is a passion with him, it is a great eternally burning flame that consumes him, that has enveloped his entire body and soul.

But one just can not help asking why, in view of all this, Mr. Trammell never does anything for his great love. He has been in the Senate fourteen years.

JUDGE JOHN J. PARKER IS NAMED TO POST ON SUPREME COURT

years old, and Joseph Storey, who was 32 when he was appointed.

Hailed with hearty endorsement by the two Democratic senators from North Carolina, the Parker nomination appeared last night to face no untoward opposition in the Senate, which recently engaged in a bitter controversy over the confirmation of Chief Justice Hughes.

Chairman Norris, of the judiciary committee, announced that he would refer the nomination to a subcommittee for consideration on Monday at the regular meeting. That is the usual procedure. He said the whole committee probably would be ready to make a report to the Senate a week from Monday.

Senator Norris and Senator Borah, of Idaho, who led the contest against the Hughes confirmation, both said they knew very little of Judge Parker's qualifications. Both added that such information as they had received was "favorable."

Senators Simmons and Overman, of North Carolina, were outspoken in their indorsement of Parker. They had recommended a Democrat, Justice Stacy, of the North Carolina Supreme Court. They said if a Republican was to be chosen that "Parker is the best man."

"We wanted a Democrat," said Senator Simmons, "but we made it clear to the President that if a Republican is to be appointed we wanted it to be Judge Parker. I think that is the attitude of the North Carolina delegation, of the bar and of the people of the State.

"Judge Parker is a young man, a very fine lawyer and he has made a very fine record. He has a high character, is able and has a judicial temperament. He is as good a man as there is in the South."

Senator Overman was equally enthusiastic.

The nominee was appointed to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals by President Coolidge five years ago. Thus, he has once been confirmed by the Senate.

Before going on the Federal bench Judge Parker was a practicing lawyer at Charlotte, N. C. He was the Republican candidate for governor of his State in 1920.

The contest over Chief Justice Hughes' confirmation was waged principally on the ground that he had retired from the Supreme Court to run for President and on the contention that he had shown himself aligned with the conservatives in his practice at the bar in behalf of corporate interests.

Senator Norris said he expected the judiciary subcommittee to examine thoroughly into the qualifications of Judge Parker. He will name the subcommittee Monday.

Observatory Gets Planes To Watch Eclipse of Sun

Naval Observatory officials here have been granted the use of airplanes to observe an eclipse which occurs on April 28 and which will be best visible in eastern California.

Capt. C. F. Freeman, superintendent of the observatory, made the request of naval officials at San Diego. The eclipse, a total eclipse of the sun, will be very brief. It will have a period of totality of only 1½ seconds and its path totality, in eastern California, will be only a half-mile wide.

The Naval Observatory is not sending a formal eclipse expedition, but Mrs. Isabel M. Lewis, an astronomer at the observatory, will go to the scene to study the eclipse for the Navy.

Two photographic planes from North Island, Calif., will be sent to Honey Lake, in the eclipse area, to assist her in the work. The eclipse will be visible partially in a good part of the United States.

Man Is Stabbed in Arm.

Siegal Peacock, 23 years old, of First street between T and U streets northwest, received a stab in the right arm early yesterday during an altercation with an unidentified colored man at Fourth and I streets northwest. Sixth Precinct police reported. He was treated at Emergency Hospital and later taken to his home.

The first of a course of seven lectures on national psychologies will be given tonight at the Jewish Community Center by Dr. Alexander Goldweiser, anthropologist, formerly of Columbia University and the New York School for Social Research. The following lectures will be given on successive Saturday evenings.

PARKER HAS LONG CAREER AS LAWYER

Nominee to Supreme Court Is Prominent in Affairs of North Carolina.

U. S. JUDGE SINCE 1925

Charlotte, N. C., March 21 (A.P.).—Judge John Johnston Parker, whose nomination as associate justice of the Supreme Court was sent to the Senate today by President Hoover, has for a number of years been prominent in the public life of North Carolina.

Judge Parker was born at Monroe, N. C., November 20, 1885, the son of John D. Parker and Frances Johnston Parker. He is lineally descended from Governor Abner Nash, Revolutionary leader of North Carolina.

Entering the University of North Carolina in 1903, he received his A. B. degree in 1907 and LL. B. degree in 1908. While in college he served as president of the freshmen and senior classes, Di Society, Athletic Association and Student Council. He was president of the Phi Beta Kappa during his senior year. In 1927, he was awarded an LL. D. by the university.

G. O. P. Congress Nominee.

Entering the practice of law in Greensboro in 1908, he served that year as secretary of the Republican committee in the Fifth North Carolina District. In 1909 he moved to his home town of Monroe to practice law, and in 1910 he was the nominee of the Republican party for Congress from the Seventh District. In 1916 he was nominee of the Republican party for the attorney general of North Carolina.

Judge Parker was nominated by his party for governor of North Carolina in 1920 and although defeated by his Democratic opponent, polled 330,000 votes, which was 63,000 more votes than any candidate for governor of either party had ever receiver prior to that time.

Judge Parker moved to Charlotte in 1922 to take up the practice of law in this city. Continuing his public life, however, he was in 1923-24 special assistant to the attorney general of the United States. In 1924 he was elected a member of the Republican national committee and was a delegate-at-large from North Carolina to the Republican national convention.

Appointed Judge by Coolidge.

Judge Parker continued to practice law in Charlotte until he was appointed one of the United States circuit judges of the Fourth circuit by President Coolidge in 1925. He holds that position now.

While practicing law, Judge Parker was for one term vice president of the North Carolina Bar Association and has served as a vice president of the American Bar Association.

In 1910, Judge Parker was married to Miss Maria Burgwin Maffitt, of Wilmington. They have three children, Sarah Burgwin Parker, 18; John Johnston, jr., 15, and Francis Iredell, 6.

A member of the Episcopal Church, Judge Parker is prominent in church and social life.

Dougherty Favors Tyndall Retention

Commissioner Urges Special Legislation for Veteran District Employe.

Enactment of special legislation, which would permit the retention in active service of Dr. William Tyndall, veteran employe of the District government, was urged in a letter made public yesterday from Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty to Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee.

Commissioner Dougherty said that he and his colleagues did not think such legislation should be made a "rider" on the District appropriation bill now before the House, but that they did approve of congressional action authorizing retention of Dr. Tyndall in active service.

Dr. Tyndall is 85 years old and has served 61 years in the District government. He was for several years secretary of the Board of Commissioners. At present he is chief of the information service of the District government. He is widely versed in District affairs and is the author of several books and pamphlets dealing with the history of the District government. Active and in good health, Dr. Tyndall will have to be retired in August unless Congress acts.

Planes Sought to Kill Herds of Wild Horses

Salem, Oreg., March 21 (A.P.).—Ranchers in eastern Oregon have appealed to Dr. W. H. Lyttle, State veterinarian, to arrange with the United States Army to send bombing planes there to wipe out herds of wild horses infected with "dourine," an infectious disease.

Dr. Lyttle said an order from the State live stock sanitary board will be necessary before the ranchers can resort to bombing, and such an order, he predicted, will not be issued unless an uncontrollable infectious disease should appear. Ranchers said that the disease, which eventually results in paralysis and death, is serious and increasing.

REDS STAGE PARADE IN WAR ON RELIGION

Demonstrations Are Protests Against Prayers Abroad of Intercession.

PASSOVER FOOD BANNED

Moscow, March 21 (A.P.).—As a protest against entercessory prayers abroad for Christians in Russia, huge parades were held today in Moscow and other cities throughout the Soviet Union. Russian officials consider foreign attacks on their handling of the religious situation a intervention in Russia's internal affairs.

Tens of thousands of workers, Red army soldiers, government empioyes and school children marched for three hours over the muddy pavements of Moscow, singing antireligious songs and carrying inflammatory red banners. They were led by brass bands playing martial and Communist airs.

As usual, Pope Pius and religion bore the brunt of the propaganda attack on the posters and banners. Many marchers carried huge, grotesque effigies of the Pope. Banners bearing the familiar Marxian inscription "Religion is the opium of the people," were conspicuous.

Crowds Along Line Dense.

The crowds along the line of march were so dense that all street traffic was suspended for more than two hours.

Moscow, March 21 (A.P.) (Jewish Telegraph Agency).—The Central Association of Cooperative Stores, which controls distribution of food in Russia, decreed today that no store was to sell matzoth, wine or other Jewish Passover ritual foods. The order also applies to the Russian Easter.

The association has ordered each store, restaurant and tea house to distribute anti-Passover pamphlets to its customers and special brigades of students will see that the instructions are obeyed.

Jews Will Bake Their Own.

Abandoning hope of receiving supplies from abroad, the Russian rabbis have decided to permit the Jews to bake their own matzoths from leavened flour. Jewish law forbids the use of any flour during Passover that is leavened or of any food that has come into contact with leavened flour, but there is a rule that permits of the use of ordinary market flour for Passover purposes in time of distress.

Bakeries now are being organized under the control of the various Jewish communities where the Jews will bring their own flour obtained on the usual bread cards.

Legislator's Secretary In Hospital After Fall

Mrs. Rose A. Delamater, 50 years old, of 323 C street southeast, secretary to Representative Francis Selberling, of Ohio, was admitted to Providence Hospital yesterday afternoon for bruises to both hips, received Tuesday morning in her room when she stumbled and fell to the floor.

She worked both Tuesday and Wednesday, but on Thursday suffered pain which led to her confinement at her home. Hospital attendants said an X-ray revealed that no bones had been broken and that she probably will leave the hospital today or tomorrow.

close to Kanchow, which is 210 miles northeast of Canton and 270 miles west of Foochow, both of which are Chinese seaports, the Department announced, telegraphed to the American consul general at Canton, Douglas Jenkins, of the danger of Bishop O'Shea and his subordinates. Mr. Jenkins relayed the telegram to Washington.

Consul General Jenkins at once took the case up with the local government, he reported, and received the promise that a telegram would be sent to Gen. Lie at Nananfu to send troops.

Minister Johnson cabled the department yesterday that he has wired the American consulates at Hankow, Shanghai and Nanking that the Chinese ministry for war and foreign affairs had requested that instructions be sent to Gen. Chin to dispatch troops to suppress the local Communists at Kanchow; that the Kiangsi province government, which includes Kanchow, has not refused, and that one detachment of troops will be retained at Kanchow.

Bishop O'Shea is a member of the Vincentian Fathers. At the headquarters of the National Catholic Welfare Conference here, it was said that with Bishop O'Shea at Kanchow are seven priests, a mother superior and six nuns. In the telegram from Mr. Young, but eleven American missionaries were mentioned.

The State Department gave out the following list, as of January 1, 1930, of the American Catholic missionaries at Kanchow:

Bishop J. J. O'Shea, of Deep River, Conn.; Francis J. Stauble, Rochester, N. Y.; Mary C. Beggs, Emmitsburg, Md.; P. L. Cahill, Germantown, Pa.; J. J. Corbett, Boston; Vincent Louise Delude, South Boston, Mass; Clara Louise Grocell and Anselma Jarboe, Emily P. Kolb, Helen C. Lucas, Sarah A. O'Neill, Anne Strable, all of Emmitsburg, Md.

Father Burke stated that the Rev. Robert A. Lennon, local superior of the Vincentian Fathers, whose headquarters are at Emmitsburg, Md., has cabled Bishop O'Shea to withdraw from Kanchow at the first opportunity.

Although on January 25 Bishop O'Shea telegraphed that "Red armies" were occupying then three districts 50 miles from Kanchow and were reported advancing toward Kanchow and that "the situation is very grave," he evidently refused to withdraw his little band of missionaries.

Will Not Pay Ransom.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 21 (A.P.). If the Chinese bandits who kidnaped ten Catholic missionaries at Kangchow, as reported from Washington, did so to get ransoms, the Rev. Jas. J. Keller, superior of Maryknoll Seminary, said today, they are to be disappointed.

The Maryknoll fathers, who sent the missionaries to China have discontinued the policy of paying ransoms, Father Keller said, and as a result the kidnapings have diminished. No direct word of the kidnaping had been received here.

NEW SUIT IS FACED BY GANNA WALSKA

Press Agent Asks $187,500 for Pay and Alleged Broken Contract.

BANK ACCOUNT ATTACHED

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—More litigation piled up today against Ganna Walska McCormick—brought this time by a press agent—and another litigant went down to the Bankers Trust Co. and clapped an attachment for $20,000 plus 6 per cent interest on her account there.

George Djamgaroff, the press agent in a suit filed in the Supreme Court, charging breach of contract, demanded $87,500 as his 50-50 share on opera, talking picture and other theatrical engagements which he said he obtained for the Chicago harvester king's wife.

In a second cause of action Djamgaroff asked $100,000 as his remuneration for publicity work for which he said Mrs. McCormick employed him from September, 1928, to March of this year.

Attachment Writ Served.

A writ of attachment for $1,453 [illegible] interest in a third suit, brought by the Musical Courier, was served a week ago on the New York Trust Co. The money is alleged to be due the publication for advertising.

The $20,000 writ of attachment was served today in connection with a suit for $50,000 damages for alleged breach of contract filed against her by Emile D. Gutcheon, vice president of Ganna Walska Perfumes, Inc.

In seeking the writ Gutcheon pointed out that Mrs. McCormick was a resident of Paris, France.

Refused to Appear, Charge.

In his suit he charged that after he had signed contracts with various department stores over the country for perfumes, subject to a personal appearance by her in the stores for advertising purposes, she refused to make the personal appearances. As a result, he said, contracts totaling $25,000 were canceled by stores in St. Louis, Los Angeles, Dayton, Ohio; Omaha, Nebr., San Francisco and Atlanta.

He said she also failed to invest $325,000 in the company, as she had promised.

Woman Kills Mother, Wounds Self and Leaps

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 21 (A.P.). Firing a shotgun charge into her mother's heart as the aged woman lay in bed today, Mrs. Joseph Colvin, 32, then turned the gun on herself. While a boarder ran out of the house for aid, the daughter leaped from a third-floor window. She is expected to die in a hospital here of the shotgun wound, a probable broken back and fracture of both legs. Her mother, Mrs. Louis Detner, 69, was instantly killed.

Although police refuse to advance a motive for the murder and attempted suicide, it is believed that family difficulties resulted in Mrs. Colvin's decision to kill her mother and attempt to kill herself. Police are holding Mrs. Colvin's husband and the boarder.

Prince's Arrest Shocks Society.

Warsaw, Poland, March 21 (A.P.).—Warsaw society has been shocked by the arrest of Prince Thomas Lubomirski, 37, nephew of Prince Stanislas, chairman of the Bank of Commerce, and a relative of Casimir Lubomirski, first Polish Minister to the United States. He has been charged with dishonesty in several financial transactions.

PRISONER IS SLAIN IN FREEDOM BREAK

Mystery Develops as to Who Killed Felon; Two Guards Seriously Hurt.

ANOTHER CONVICT HELD

Montgomery, Ala., March 21 (A.P.). One convict was dead tonight and two prison guards wounded, one probably fatally, as the result of a violent break from Speigner Prison, near here, which gave two young Alabama desperadoes freedom for a few hours.

Thomas Barnes, 22-year-old Etowah County bank robber, is the convict dead, but who fired the shot through his heart has not been determined to the satisfaction of all authorities. Lee Hudgens, 21-year-old burglar and hold-up man of Montgomery, Barnes' companion in the break, is in solitary confinement at Kilby Prison here after a seven-hour chase.

B. F. Baltzer, veteran guard at Speigner, was said at a hospital here to have little chance of recovery. He was hit by six of the volley of bullets Barnes fired from an automatic pistol, one striking him in the forehead. J. D. Richardson, the other guard, has a broken arm and thigh wound.

Barnes, mortally wounded, was dumped in the residence here of H. C. Swarengin from a truck by Hudgens. He died without making a statement. Dr. S. T. Centerfit, county medical examiner, said Barnes could not have lived 15 minutes with his wound, although it was four hours after the prison break that Hudgens deposited the dying man at Swarengin's residence. Hudgens said Baltzer shot Barnes.

Prison authorities said they had learned that Baltzer, lifted by a prisoner from the ground where he had fallen from Barnes' bullet, emptied his pistol at the men. Hudgens, questioned at Kilby Prison, said there was no other shooting than that at Speigner.

Van Lear Black Changes Plans.

Hongkong, March 21 (A.P.).—Van Lear Black, Baltimore newspaper publisher and aviation enthusiast, today changed his plans for continuation of his world flight. He said he would hop off for Shanghai Monday and go thence to Peiping and Tokyo. At the latter place he plans to ship his plane to Los Angeles and then fly to Baltimore, ending his flight.

BULL MARKET DRIVE SKYROCKETS STOCKS

Scores of Leading Shares Ascend to New Highs for Year.

BEARS STAGE RECOVERY

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The bull movement on the stock market became increasingly violent today and scores of leading shares rose $1 to $8 to new high levels for the year, although an abrupt tightening of call money gave a momentary advantage to the bears around midday, and a sprinkling of issues closed lower.

Trading quickened to a hectic pace comparable to bearish markets of last year. Sales for the day aggregated 4,629,290 shares, the largest turnover since December, and the ticker ran for 40 minutes after the closing gong.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent, as compared to yesterday's first 2 per cent renewal rate in nearly six years. Money became scarcer as the day advanced. The rate was jacked up to 4 per cent, then to 4½. The market's previous advance this week had been largely based upon cheap money, and the sudden scarcity caused sharp unsettlement for a time.

The run-up in the money rate appeared to be largely due to temporary factors, such as the withdrawal of credit put into the market incident to the quarterly Treasury financing and income tax collections. Furthermore, both domestic and foreign lenders have found the recent low rates unsatisfactory, and when about $100,000,000 in loans was called, replacement funds were not forthcoming at the low rates.

United States Steel and American Telephone each sold up more than $4 a share to new peak prices since the autumn crash, and Standard Oil of New Jersey rose $2.62 to a new high level for the year. A higher filer was United Carbon, which jumped $10 a share, then slipped back $2.25 from the top. National Cash Register was a soft spot, dropping $7 to a new low for the year. American Car & Foundry, American Locomotive, Gillette and Simmons also sold at new 1930 lows.

Date Set for Appeals In Textile Murder Case

Raleigh, N. C., March 21 (A.P.).—The North Carolina Supreme Court today set April 22 for hearing the appeals of seven National Textile Workers Union members from convictions in Mecklenburg County Superior Court of second degree murder of Police Chief C. F. Aderholt, of Gastonia.

Those appealing are Fred Erwin Beal, William McGinnis, Louis McLaughlin, George Carter, Joseph Harrison, K. W. Hendricks and Clarence Miller. They received sentences ranging from 5 to 20 years in the State Prison. Aderholt was slain during textile strike disorders.

Tear-Gas Bomb Routs 200 Textile Strikers

Elizabethton, Tenn., March 21 (A.P.).—A tear gas bomb hurled through a rear transom into an assembly hall of the United Textile Workers of America last night broke up a meeting of 200 union strikers. The bomb was believed to have been stolen from supplies of officers here.

The strikers, who walked out of the Bemberg & Glanzstoff Rayon Mills about three weeks ago, said the bomb came through the transom from an alley in the rear of the building, went over their heads and landed at the front of the hall.

WHOZIT?

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was a native of Bohemia.
2. He was a noted religious leader and his name is still borne by a sect whose adherents live chiefly in central Europe.
3. His religious teachings excited great controversy, particularly his adherence to the doctrines of Wickliffe.
4. Because of his religious teachings he was condemned as a heretic and burned to death in the year 1414 by order of the Emperor Sigismund.

Answer to yesterday: Fitz-Green Halleck.

EUROPA MAKES TIME AGAINST STIFF WIND

Bremen Sister Ship Covers 530 Miles During First 19 Hours of Trip.

IS BEHIND RECORD MARK

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Traveling against a stiff head wind and breasting a heavy swell, the new North German Lloyd liner Europa averaged a speed of 27.6 knots during the first 19 hours and 12 minutes of her maiden voyage across the Atlantic from Cherbourg Breakwater to Ambrose Lightship.

During this 19-hour period, which ended at noon today, the Europa covered 530 miles. Her speed was 1.1 knots better than that made during the same period by her sister ship, the Bremen, during the latter's record-breaking maiden run to America last summer, but the Bremen increased her speed to 28.6 knots for the first 24 hours out.

If her speed for 19 hours was maintained the Europa made slightly more than 648 miles in her first day's run. The Bremen's 24-hour record is 713 miles.

The Bremen, which encountered more favorable weather conditions, lowered her own record last October to 4 days 17 hours and 24 minutes for the crossing from the Cherbourg Breakwater to Ambrose Light.

North German Lloyd Line officials are noncommittal upon the possibility of the Europa bettering the Bremen's record. The Europa averaged 27.67 knots over a 200-mile course in her speed tests last week.

11 New Arrests Bring Dry Drive Total to 41

Greenville, S. C., March 21 (A.P.).—With the arrest of eleven persons today on charges of selling whisky, the total number held as the result of a dry round-up here was increased to 41. Thirty-one of those under arrest have been released on bonds. Ten are being held in jail.

The raids were started yesterday by J. A. Clifton, deputy prohibition administrator. They are the result of undercover work done by special agents in this section recently.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

WILL ROGERS has signed a radio contract to broadcast over WMAL and a nation-wide network of stations affiliated with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

This commentator on public affairs, whose first program will be heard Sunday night, April 6, at 10 p. m., will speak into the microphone at Hollywood, Calif. Mr. Rogers will give a running comment on the news of the day and an orchestra will complete the program.

This is the first time Rogers has signed any contract for a series of radio appearances. Heretofore his work on the air has been confined to single broadcasts.

A new series to be known as the "Library of Congress Musicale," presenting the same groups of musicians heard in recital in the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Auditorium, part of the Library, will be inaugurated over WJZ, WBAL and associated stations tomorrow afternoon.

These concerts have been broadcast over NAA, Arlington, direct from the Library since the beginning, and will continue to be heard. Hereafter the different groups will repeat the program in the National Broadcasting Co. studios for the benefit of a greater audience.

STATION WOL is devoting the half hour between 4:30 and 5 o'clock each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoon to World War veterans in the Mount Alto, Naval and Walter Reed Hospitals, respectively. The boys tell the director of Red Cross which numbers they wish played or sung and the programs are made up entirely from these requests.

"There is no doubt about it but that radio broadcasting has created a much better appreciation of good music in the general public than anything else has ever done," declares Richard Hageman, famous conductor, for many years with the Metropolitan Opera. "However, the best music must be done very well on the air to reach the people, and this, I would say, about 50 per cent of the radio programs are succeeding in doing."

James Melton, one of radio's best known tenors, has had screen tests and is being considered for the lead in "Naughty Marietta," the Herbert operetta, soon to go into production on the M-G-M lot.

THE first broadcast ever made from a ship at sea will take place when the Forty Fathom Trawlers program goes out over WMAL and the Columbia System at 8:30 o'clock next Wednesday from the deck of the fishing trawler Spray, while a mile or two from shore.

A stock market broker, whose automobile was equipped with radio, is reported to have made $3,500 on one deal alone, through information which came to him en route via the ether.

Arthur Bagley, director of the early morning exercises from WRC, points with pride to the fact that in five years he has never been late for a class.

But—the hotel clerk phones his room at 5:45. At 5:50 a specially constructed alarm clock rings. At 5:55 another clock sounds, and at 6 o'clock a third clock rings. Just to make sure that Bagley is up the hotel clerk phones again at 6:05.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

PACIFIERS.
(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

The habit of sucking on a rubber nipple, a pacifier or any other article of this kind is extremely bad for the baby.

But he does not teach himself this habit; the mother or nurse or some one else in the family is to blame for giving him this kind of thing.

Some of the evil effects of this habit are that it spoils the natural arch of the mouth by causing protrusion of the upper jaw; it causes constant flow of saliva and keeps the baby drooling; it may readily carry the germs of disease into the baby's mouth, and it is a habit which is particularly disfiguring to the baby's appearance.

If he has formed the habit it must be broken at once by taking away the pacifier and never letting him see it again. He will cry for it at first, but will forget it eventually.

Gloves are more than just gloves, and usually have something to say about what bag they are seen in company with, too! (Dahray Designs.)

Paris, March 21.

SHORT sleeves are back in style, hoorah! And don't ever think that it's only for summer dresses, either, because they make their appearance on dresses to wear in the city, and on the smartest of afternoon dresses, too.

And when I say "short," that can mean any length from just a little cap shoulder effect to just below the elbows; and anything from a sleeve with a cuff to one that is so flared it looks like a shoulder capelet.

And it's quite natural that short sleeves should inspire something interesting in gloves. The inevitable question arises, what can we wear with short sleeves in gloves other than long gloves which are pretty expensive and maybe sort of warmish in the summertime? And Paris, of course, answers all of our inevitable questions before we ask them—this one is answered by short gloves with terrifically interesting cuffs. You wear short gloves with fancy cuffs, and long, very loose gloves that are allowed to crumple down over your wrists, both in evening gloves and those for street.

But you must have gloves! You must have them even for the beach, made of canvass or printed silk—because the mode of suntan never extended to Miladi's pretty hands.

* * * *

And do you know something? We thought it couldn't be done really, when La Chic Secretaire suggested it as a leaflet, but after we all worked at it and ruined mill-yuns of pairs of gloves and hunks of this, that and the other thing, we discovered that there were one or two tricks you could do with glove cuffs and what-nots that were very interesting, and gave a twelve dollar and a half look to a dollar and ninety-five cents' worth of sale gloves.

* * * *

So we made two interesting glove things very simply, and two smart bags to match them—'n if you send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post next week, you won't be sorry when you get the leaflet telling you how to go about it!

* * * *

Why not cover up your bad points? There isn't a single bad point of the feminine figure that can not be covered up and even seemingly eliminated altogether by the clothes we wear.

But you can't do this by just wishing for it—you have to think it over and figure out just what these bad points are, and what can be done with the lines that show them off the least.

* * * *

Today's the last day on which you can send stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet for this week which tells you how to make those adorable short evening coats that you know everybody is going to wear this summer. And don't forget, these short coats are smart for daytime wear, too, 'case you're not in the market for an evening coat now!

"Do-I-get-on-your-nerves-yes-why-not?" Gee, when even your favorite laugh-getter doesn't get a laugh out of you—well, a clever woman should really learn to say "Hello, darling," over the telephone, and never let herself be trapped into mentioning anyone's name.

And tomorow's the day again, when you should look in the big Sunday Post for the weekly Dare fashion letter. It's worth your while.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Last Saturday we started consideration of the delightful hands (held by the partner of a player who has bid three No Trumps) which are strong enough to make a slam suggestion advisable. We must remember that the jump from three all the way to six No Trumps should not be made with a count of less than 14 (with an expert partner 13 is reasonably safe); but with a count of 9 it is safe to bid four No Trump. Doing so, however, does not show the location of the jumper's strength. Some players believe in bidding four of any suit which contains an Ace after partner has bid three No Trumps, provided the hand has enough additional strength. This is unsound, because with such a hand as—there would be small probability that the game could be made at No Trumps, and a good chance that it could be made at Spades. Partner's original bid of three No Trumps has guaranteed strength in that suit as well as in the other three; so a bid of four of a major over three No Trumps shows a weak six-card holding. Its message to the No Trumper is "Partner, I am so weak that I do not believe you can make your three No Trumps; but I am very long in my major and with your help I may get game in my suit; do not think of changing back to No Trumps and do not jump my bid."

But the holder of a long, weak minor suit, who faced a three No Trump bid, would not change a game-going No Trump into a nongame-going minor. The fact that he is without assistance for the No Trump does not mean necessarily that the No Trump contract can not be fulfilled.

As four of a minor would not be bid over three No Trumps with weakness, it is safe to make that bid a slam invitation, although four of a major under like circumstances is a rescue. Consequently the minor four-bid does not show length, but is made with a hand which counts at least 9 and has the Ace or the King and Queen of the minor named.

This subject will be continued next Saturday.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Revenge."

STRANGE that any one having lived through 50 years of life, and life's vicissitudes, should still believe there might be sweetness in revenge. Yet that is all Mary asks, and Mary is 50, and a mother. What could this "revenge" possibly mean to Mary?

"All I want is to see him suffer as he has made me suffer the past two years."

Yes? Who ever found joy in seeing a loved one, however misguided, actually suffering?

But read Mary's letter. Poor soul. What Mary really wants is to forgive, that would end the suffering on both sides. But revenge? Never. The human heart just is not built that way: Dear Miss McDonald:

"I am a woman of 50. A good wife and mother for 25 years, and now I must sit by and see my husband make a fool of himself and his family. He is 48, and for over five years he has acted in an underhand way, staying away from home till all hours without explanation, etc.

"But the past two years he has been well talked about, taking girls riding in his car, one in particular. This girl is about 27 years of age and has boasted that she could have him any time she said the word. I believe she could, for he certainly never comes near his home if he can help it. His children are disgusted and have no use for him. In fact, they want me to get a divorce. However, I hesitate to do this as it would mean great privation for us all and just more liberty and good times for him. But I told him I was going to get our lawyer over and he went on at a terrible rate, said he had done no harm, the girls were decent girls and he did not want any of them. This does not tally with letters I have found around, however, which he does not know I saw. For this one girl surely talked about the "future" in very certain manner.

"But I don't care about his girls or his future. What I care about is my future and my daughters who are just married and not having it any too easy. I do not want to do anything that would leave me where I could not help them financially, as I can now, and I do not want to make it easier for him to have his good times. All I want is to see him suffer as he has made me suffer the past two years. I want revenge for the things he has done to us in this town. Divorce would do that as he is so proud, but it would also break up my home. He all but went on his knees to me when I mentioned it so I know it would fix him, but how about me?" MARY.

Yes, Mary, how about you. With your level head, and your 25 years of caring for this man. How about you, as you see him "suffer as you have suffered." And all because he has ridden around in his car with some girl who thinks riding around in his car is more exciting than sitting home doing nothing at all, but who thinks him a silly old goose and wishes the car belonged to Bill, or Tom or Ted.

He is, of course, silly, but he is probably telling the gospel truth when he says he would not exchange you for two or three of these thrill-seekers. And you really could cause him great suffering by divorcing him. But I want to tell you, Mary, that of the two you will suffer most, for when it comes to the point you will suffer for yourself and for him too. Nature never meant two people to be as one for 25 years and then suddenly be jerked apart and watch each other suffer, alone. Tell your husband you have waited patiently for him to get over the foolish forties fever and that now you expect him to behave. Get some new clothes and make him take you on a trip instead of "having the lawyer over." I have seen many people separate after years of marriage, but I have never known one who was happy over it.

Forgiveness, not revenge, is sweet, Mary, when it comes to the question of the woman of 50 divorcing a man who is merely making a goose of himself.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF March 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a. m. to 8 a. m., from noon to 1:30 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., and from 7:45 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Inspirational influences will be in force on this date and you will probably have some clever "brain storms," although your ideas may not be put into action for some time to come. This date is marked by romance, but also by some unhappiness.

Children born on this March 22 will possess very determined characters, and what they do and what they become will altogether depend on the environment in which they are brought up. They will be hot tempered and fiery.

You will, undoubtedly, get more out of life than the average person and your career will not be without its excitement and sudden change. There will be many ups and downs—financial and physical. Whether, however, up or down, you will never lose that cheerful spirit that endears you to one and all, nor the confidence you have in yourself.

Your nature is a very kind one, and you are broadly sympathetic. As a companion, you are congenial and a good listener. You talk very little about yourself. Your judgment is dispassionate and sound. Sometimes, it errs on the side of clemency, but never on that of severity. You work hard, and hustle all the time, and, if left to carry out your own ideas and plans, are destined, in spite of temporary setbacks, to achieve a fair degree of success.

The opposite sex makes a strong appeal to you, and you do it. You will only, however, have one real love, and this will be productive of enduring happiness. You are a home addict, and social life—with all its insincerity—has no attraction for you. Your loyalty is undoubted. Your frankness is always refreshing.

Successful people born March 22:

1—Stephen P. Andrews, philosopher.

2—August Gemunder, violin maker.

3—Emilio Aguinaldo, Philippine leader.

4—Alfred Le Roy Becker—New York lawyer.

5—Charles Gilbert DuBois, president, Western Electric Co.

6—Laura Jean Libby, author.

With NELSON B. BELL

DESPITE the fact that the next formal step in the attempted solution of the Fox-Otterson-Halsey riddle is not scheduled until early April, the case grows more and more intricate to those who are watching it from the bleachers.

It came as a shock to many in the industry recently to learn that five Fox "cabinet" members were opposed to the Fox-favored refinancing plan but emphatically in favor of a continuance of the Fox-Otterson-Stuart trusteeship. The suggestion that this quintet may emerge as the heads of a new company sponsored by the Halsey - Stuart - Electrical Research Products interests will probably come as another one.

That, however, is the reported plan that comes from a source that is believed to be reliable.

When they came out in favor of the plan their chief opposed, the five Fox officials did so in the belief that their course was best for the company, and with no malice toward Mr. Fox, for whom they all entertain the warmest personal regard. It nevertheless is persistently rumored that they have been tendered an offer of leadership in an entirely new organization of which they would be the executive nucleus.

The five are Winfield Sheehan, vice president and general manager of Fox Films; Saul Rogers, vice president and general counsel for Films and Theaters; James R. Grainger, general sales manager; Clayton P. Sheehan, head of the foreign department, and John Zanft, director of Fox Theaters.

But if you want to go against the real razzle-dazzle, try to solve the one about voting the class "A" and class "B" stocks.

In the passing of our good friend, Walter Brownley, whose obsequies are to be held today, the Washington theater has lost one of its most enthusiastic and most helpful friends.

Although Mr. Brownley's major interests lay in other fields of business activity, he nevertheless was the largest single stockholder in the Loew enterprises in the Capital, and, when in health, one of the most inveterate of Washington's discriminating first nighters.

In respect to the memory of their associate, a group of Loew executives from the New York home office of Loew, Inc., will be present at the funeral services today. This column joins them in grieving the loss of a long-standing and valued friend.

Sharon Lynn, who comes to the Fox screen today in "Let's Go Places," proved she had a level head when she accepted direction so graciously that she got a part intended for Fifi Dorsay. The fiery little French brunette indulged in a tantrum and all she got for her pains was the guillotine—and more pains!

Rumors of the engagement of Billie Dove and Howard Hughes, president of the Caddo Co., and millionaire producer of "Hell's Angels," are causing a good deal of comment in celluloid circles, inasmuch as Mr. Hughes—a nephew of Rupert Hughes—already has a wife.

Maybe what they mean is the engagement of Billie Dove by Howard Hughes. He has been trying to purchase her contract since 'way back yonder.

Jim Tully, the belligerent biographer, evidently considers himself in line for the championship. His turbulent Hollywood career has been further enlivened by a brief bout with Murphy McHenry, 26-year-old writer, who made the mistake of objecting to Tully's alleged treatment of John Gilbert.

James A. Fitzpatrick, many of whose interesting travel pictures have been seen on Washington screens this season, has reached Colombo, Ceylon, in his latest globe-circling quest of suitable material for short camera subjects. He goes next to Java, then Singapore, Siam and the Philippines. The lucky this and that!

When I first knew Sam Rothafel, alias "Roxy," he was a corporal in the Marine Corps serving as mail orderly on the U. S. S. Bancroft, "baby of the White Squadron," stationed in the West Indies. During the war, he was made a reserve major. It has remained for Gov. Sampson of Kentucky to pull the fast one, though, by converting the Broadway showman into a Southern colonel by giving him an appointment in the State Guard.

Heigho! It may be that tooth, but I think probably it is just another return of my old spring fever!

Apartment Hotel Design Rejected

Architects' Council Says Owners' Plans Are Not Artistic Enough.

Disapproval of the design for a projected apartment hotel at 1320 Connecticut avenue, presented by Joseph J. Moebs, owner and designer, was announced yesterday from the office of the Architects Advisory Council in the District Building.

It was stated there that the particular location of the proposed building, abutting Dupont Circle, warranted artistic treatment of the building instead of the straight walls with mere openings for windows, as shown in the design. Mr. Moebs, designer and prospective builder, said he had no comment to make regarding the council's action.

Last week, he filed plans for the structure with the office of District Building Inspector Oehmann. They provide for a twelve-story addition to an existing one-story building bounded by Connecticut avenue, Dupont Circle and Nineteenth street. As the matter now stands, Mr. Moebs must either revise his design or take legal action.

Speaker Reveals Cost of U. S. Crime

Annual Expense Is Twice That of Public Education, Lecturer Asserts.

"Crime, Its Causes, Cures and Prevention," was the subject of the last of a series of five lectures which have been given during the winter under the auspices of the World Federation of Education Associations.

Dorsey W. Hyde, secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the cost of crime to the people of the United States. "Its cost," he said, "appears to be at least double the total amount spent each year for public education. While it is impossible to make an exact estimate, the annual cost probably is in the vicinity of $6,000,000,000.

"This huge sum," he continued, "if used to create new jobs, would reduce America's unemployment problem to the minimum, if it would not banish it completely." In addition to Mr. Hyde, Dr. William Knowles Cooper spoke on "The Social Aspects of Crime." The meeting was held with that of the District League of American Pen Women at Stoneleigh Courts.

Group Changes Meeting Date.

Change in the monthly meeting date from the third Wednesday night to the second Monday night was announced yesterday by the Connecticut Avenue Citizens Association, which made public that the shift had been voted to avoid conflicts in meeting dates of other organizations in which its own members are affiliated.

Navy Fighter Eliminates Champion

Fitzgerald Defeats Epstein, Penn State, Featherweight.

Tardugno Stops Foe in Third; Fish and Murphy Win.

Special to The Washington Post.

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—One defending champion was eliminated in the opening night's feature of the Intercollegiate Boxing tournament tonight. Fitzgerald, of the Navy, was the nemesis of Julian Epstein, Penn State's defending featherweight champion, winning a clean cut decision in three rounds.

Three of the first four Georgetown fighters in the preliminary round eliminated their opponents. Mike Tardugno, featherweight, scored a knockout, and Charley Fish, defending welterweight champion, and Murphy gained decisions. McAllister lost by a decision.

The early bouts were full of action. The first fight of the evening brought Jack Dempsey, of the Middies, against McAllister, of Georgetown. Dempsey was too skilled, winning all three rounds, but the eGorgetown fighter exhibited pluck in sticking the route

Sloop's Victory Is Booed.

Flater, of Western Maryland, pulled a surprise in outpointing Bernfield, of New York University, as a result of a tantalizing left hand.

In the feature bout of the bantamweight class Sloops, of Penn State defeated Orleman, of M. I. T., by a shade in a bout which was replete with the spectacular. Sloops, normally the Nittany Lion's featherweight, did not win by any great margin and the crowd booed the decision

Two champions met in the 125-boot class, Fitzgerald, of Navy, holder of the division crown, meeting Julian Epstein, heretofore State's bantamweight and intercollegiate champion. The bout was close until the third round when Fitzgerald battered Epstein at will and would have won by a knockout but for the bell.

Tardugno, of Georgetown, completely outclassed Kalman, of M. I. T. Tardugno blocked most of Kalman's advances and in turn was a battering ram. Chandler, of Western Maryland, a newcomer, easily outpointed Shadel, of Penn. In the other bout Finsky, of New York U., gained a technical knockout over Rosa, of Syracuse.

Murphy Outslugs Syracuse Man.

In a bout which drew the greatest applause of the evening, Murphy, of Georgetown, outpointed Joe Bruno, of Syracuse. Both battlers stood toe to toe, with the Washingtonian coming out the fresher.

Booing greeted the decision which Crosby, of Western Maryland, gained over Wallace, of the Middies. The Terror, who is defending his title, lost the second round decisively and the third was close until Crosby got in a series of rights near the close. Slomowitz, of the Violet team which is proving a real threat, and Casoni, of Penn State, were the other lightweight winners.

Three consecutive knockouts occurred in the welterweight class, Hall, of Navy, flooring Rosenbloom, of Penn, in the second round; Daniels, of M. I. T., flattening Romig, of Syracuse, out in the third, while Lewis, of Penn State, undefeated this season, gained the first real knockout when he dropped Gold, of New York U., in the second stanza.

"Wild Bill" Adds 69 for 140 Total in La Gorce Tourney.

Burke, Smith Tie for Second With 143; Armour Third.

By CHARLES E. WARD.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 21 (A.P.).—"Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, Pensacola professional, today turned in a subpar 69 to lead the field at the halfway mark of the $15,000 72-hole La Gorce open golf tournament.

Mehlhorn posted his 69 beside a 71 turned in over the first 18-hole round yesterday for a 36-hole total of 140. His steady playing today won for him $200 in prize money—$100 for medalist honors at the end of 36 holes and $100 for low score on the second 18-hole round.

The "wild one" got away to a comparatively bad start, taking a pair of 5s on the par four first and second holes, but struck his stride on the short number three to take a birdie 2. Mehlhorn proceeded to chalk up birdies on holes four, five and six. He made seven and eight in par and took one over par on the 400-yard ninth for a 34 on the outward trip.

Coming in, "Wild Bill" shot par golf on the first seven holes, dropped a birdie 4 on the par 5 seventeenth and finished with a par 4 on the eighteenth for a 35.

Billy Burke, Westport, N. Y., who was out in front at the end of first eighteen-hole round, and Horton Smith, Cragston, N. Y., winner of La Gorce top money last year, shared second place at the halfway mark with scores of 143.

Burke was 1 over par on the first nine, taking a 36, and 2 over par on the back tour with a 37 for a total of 75. His score, with the 68 which won for him $100, low-score money, yesterday gave him a 36-hole count of 143.

Smith turned in a par 35 on the outgoing nine, but shot a pair of 5s on the start of the home trip to run his card to 37 and a total of 72 for the day.

Tommy Armour, Boca Raton, Fla., was in third place with a total of 145 for the 36 holes. He was 1 over par on the first nine with a 36 and used 37 strokes in negotiating the distance after the turn for a total of 73 for the day. Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., and Clarence Gamber, Boca Raton, were on the heels of Armour all day and tied for fourth-place honors with 36-hole cards of 146. Turnesa had a 36 and a 37 for a total of 73 to match his 73 of yesterday, while Gamber posted a 37 and a 38 for a total of 75 to go with his par 71 of the opening day.

Jimmy West, Miami, amateur, took the lead among the Simon-pure group with a total of 158 for the two days' play. West took a 39 and a 41 today for a total of 80, which with his 78 of the first day gave him a 36-hole total of 158.

The 64 low scores will tee off tomorrow in the 36-hole final play of the tournament.

Doeg Wins From Pare In Florida Semifinal

St. Augustine, Fla., March 21 (A.P.).—John Hope Doeg defeated Emmet Pare, of Dayton, Ohio, holder of the national clay court singles championship, in the semifinals of the Southeastern Tennis Tournament here today, 6—0, 3—6, 6—2 and 6—3, and tomorrow will meet J. Gilbert Hall, national clay court doubles champion, in the finals

Hall defeated Marielle Rainville, of Montreal, Canada, today, 7—5, 6—3 and 6—3.

Scott Limps Into Port; Is Welcomed by 5,000

London, March 21 (A.P.).—Phil Scott, British heavyweight, limped into London from a transatlantic liner today, still complaining that a foul blow brought about his defeat by Jack Sharkey in three rounds at Miami, Fla., February 27. Scott received a warm welcome from a crowd of 5,000, and police had difficulty getting the defeated hero through the cheering throng at the station.

Scott said he was anxious to fight again as soon as he could.

"I've heard about the proposal that I should fight Young Stribling here," he said. "I should like that fight, but I shall have to rest a good while because my leg is still very painful."

Open Tennis Is Vetoed By International Body

Paris, March 21 (A.P.).—The United States Lawn Tennis Association's request for the approval of open tennis championships, also for matches between professionals and amateurs, was rejected tonight by the International Lawn Tennis Federation "by a very strong majority," according to an official communique.

The French members were most outspoken in opposition to the American proposal, which would permit open tournaments along the same lines as those conducted in golf.

The vote was taken after a lengthy debate. The official statement of action specified it was decided "amateurs can not meet professionals either for prize or any other motive."

The federation passed a resolution asking that control of the Davis Cup matches be transferred to it from the present Davis committee.

The federation admitted Brazil to membership.

American League Survey Reveals No Serious Rival For Athletics in Flag Race

Yankees Are Elected to Make Fight Against Champions; Improvement of Chicago and Detroit Conspicuous; Mack Wary of Pitfalls.

This is a summing up of baseball prospects for 1930 in the American League, the seventeenth of a series of first-hand Associated Press stories.

By BRIAN BELL.

ATLANTA, March 21 (A.P.).—Nothing has transpired in the spring training camps of American League baseball clubs to justify unbounded enthusiasm over the chances of any one of the other seven clubs to dethrone the Athletics, of Philadelphia, but ample reason exists for suggestions that the race will be close.

Conspicuous improvement has been in the array of talent sponsored by the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox, two clubs who were going nowhere throughout the last American League test.

Detroit, a powerful offensive aggregation, has added defensive strength and may have uncovered two or three pitchers who can take their turn with the club's more experienced moundsmen.

The White Sox, a discouraged, woebegone outfit last year, have taken on new life under the driving inspiration of wee Donie Bush and may be very hard to beat.

Yankees Elected to Make Fight.

By popular consent the Yankees have been elected to make the fight against the champion As and if the freshman manager, Bob Shawkey, gets good pitching they may do it.

Connie Mack is prepared for some pitfalls along the path. The Athletics won seventeen games from Washington last year and the veteran manager says quite frankly that it is not in the cards to have this bit of baseball history repeat itself. The tall tactician expects and is prepared for war.

The Athletics naturally will stand pat on the outfit good enough to win in a walk last year. Big Roy Mahaffey may add considerable pitching strength, and some bright youngsters will increase the population of the bench.

Revamped in large part from last year, the Yankees will take the field with two recruits, Ben Chapman and Allan Cooke, filling the important third base and left field posts and with Mark Koenig restored to good standing as the shortstop. In company with several other clubs in the leagues the Yankees are wondering if they will get the pitching, and time only can tell.

Indians Start With Wobbly Infield.

Cleveland may start with a somewhat wobbly infield and the chances are even that Lew Fonseca, leading hitter of the American League, will have to stand aside for a youngster for at least a few days of the season. Fonseca is convalescing from an attack of scarlet fever. The Indians, however, will be as strong as last year in other departments.

St. Louis has a new manager, but

Phils Hit 5 Homers and Lose To Robins Who Make Only 3

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 21 (A. P.).—With home runs ringing off the bats almost as frequently as singles the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 12 to 9, today

Eight home runs, five by the Phillies, turned the contest into a hitting orgy. Friberg, O'Doul, Klein, Hurst and Sigman contributed the Phillies' circuit drives, three coming in the third inning. Seven runs in the first inning gave Brooklyn a lead which the Philadelphia sluggers were unable to overcome.

The Robins collected thirteen hits off the combined deliveries of Milligan, Benge, Dailey and Sweetland while the Phillies found Elliott, Vance and Pheips for a like number.

The Phillies pounded four over the fence in the first three innings. Friberg contributed the first in the opening inning, with O'Doul, Klein and Hurst continuing the act in the third. Lee, a rookie outfielder, also hit a home run for the Dodgers. Brooklyn, however, held a 9-to-5 lead at the conclusion of the third round.

The Robins continued the home-run orgy in the fourth. Gilbert and Bressler hitting over the fence for four bases. Brooklyn held a 12-to-6 lead at the end of the inning.

Race Forces Chisox To Work Indoors.

San Antonio, Tex., March 21 (A.P.). Spring's 1930 debut brought rain and forced the White Sox to work out indoors today. Vic Frasier, promising young pitcher, injured his hip so severely that he may be lost to the team for two or three weeks.

Outfielder Alex Metzler quit his holdout role and appeared in uniform.

Indianapolis Beats Tigers Again.

Tampa, Fla., March 21 (A.P.).—The Indianapolis American Association Team made it two in a row here today by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 10 to 4, in a 26-hit game.

The Tigers were just as strong on hitting as the Indians, each side making thirteen, but the minor team's fielding kept the Tigers to two runs each in the second and fifth innings.

Uhle, Tiger pitcher, whose arm required treatment at the beginning of the training season, allowed three hits in three innings and knocked a home run.

Don's Rift With Designer Ended by Speedway Head

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 21 (A.P.).—A break between Kaye Don, British driver, and Louis Coatelen, designer of the Silver Bullet, which threatened to put an abrupt end to their quest for the world's automobile speed record, apparently had been averted today, for the time being.

Difficulties arising as a result of sharp disagreement between Don and Coatelen over the racing schedule as well as the conditioning of the big machine were understood to have been partially ironed out over night at a conference with Val Haresnape, speedway director, and other officials. It was reported Haresnape served an ultimatum on the Britons to patch up their differences or have the official sanction for their speed trials withdrawn.

Racing officials had become especially annoyed during the past few days by the uncertainty as to when Don's record attempts would be made. The driver repeatedly announced plans for trials at certain times, only to change his mind after officials had put up the timing apparatus and cleared the beach. It was understood Don's attitude reflected dissatisfaction with Coatelen's methods of getting the car in condition and disagreement over necessary alterations and adjustments.

As a result, it was understood Haresnape has named a committee of officials to inspect the beach at each tide, decide whether it is fit to race on and then notify Don.

Don in one of his first practice spins attained a speed of 198 miles per hour. At no time, however, has he made a real attempt to break the record.

De Luxe Team Scores Surprise Victory in A. A. U. Tourney.

Dixie Pigs Defeated by Emerson & Orme Quintet, 27-21.

TWO mild upsets featured the program last night at Tech High School as the District A. A. U. championship tournament moved nearer completion. The Emerson & Orme Pirates earned a 27-to-21 verdict over the Dixie Pig A. C. Five, while the DeLuxe Quintet eked out a 30-to-27 decision at the expense of the Cresents in the 145-pound class.

The Montrose A. C. Team continued its winning way at the expense of the Calvary M. E. Five, 49 to 25.

Stewarts Hard Pressed In First Half.

Not until the second half was the Stewart Brothers Five able to breathe easily in its 42-19 defeat of the Calvary Drakes who surprised everyone, including themselves, by battling their foes on even terms for the first half of the game. The Stewarts thus entered the quarter finals of the 145-pound class. After seeing the Photographers go into a 7-1 lead in the first eight minutes of play, the Drakes uncovered an attack which carried them to within one point of their rivals, who walked off the floor with a scant 14-13 lead at intermission.

Coming back just as strong, the Drakes sent their followers into wild hopes by scoring the first field goal in the second half to give them the lead for the first time during the game, and for five minutes the two teams battled on even terms. However, the Photographers, led by Dave Keppel, diminutive, back-passing forward, soon launched a swift-moving attack which carried them into a safe lead, never to be headed. The losers were handicapped early in the going when Latona, crack center, had his third personal foul inflicted and was removed from action for half of the game. He returned in the fourth quarter, but too late to do any good.

Emerson and Orme Five Upsets Dixie Pigs.

Another upset was scored in the following clash, when the Emerson-Orme Five, composed of Central and Eastern High School players surprised by turning the last half of its game into a rout to down the Dixie Pigs, 27 to 21 and enter the unlimited quarter finals. Only in the first part of the game were the Dixie Pigs able to hold the advantage, ending the first 10 minutes of play with a 9-7 score, but losing their lead for the last time in the second quarter.

Flashing a swift passing attack that bewildered the Dixie team, the high school athletes swept into a 16-12 lead at half time, and from then on, were supreme. Holding their foes to one field goal in the third quarter, Emerson-Orme piled up 8 more points, to be found 10 points in the van as the final stanza got under way.

Russ Lampson, Central High crack guard, played a leading part in the play of the winners, holding three opposing forwards to one field goal, while finding time to register 9 points, himself. The Eastern High contingent, made up of McCullough, Noonan and Shirley, contributed 15 points to the cause. Dix, of the losers, played acreditable game, being the only member of the Dixie Pigs able to score consistently. He re-

NAT HURLERS RUSHED BY JOHNSON

Seeks to Avoid Slow Start That Befell Staff in 1929.

Special to The Washington Post.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 21.—An indication of the manner in which Manager Walter Johnson is rushing his pitchers in their training so as to prevent a repetition of the Nationals' late 1929 start, when none appeared to be able to go the route, is seen in the fact that their shifts already have been extended.

Last spring it was not until the final stretch of the training period was reached that the moundsmen were asked to work more than three innings. This season, with only two games behind them, they are being called upon to work five and four innings apiece in each game and Johnson states that some of his strong men, Fred Marberry and Irving Hadley, for instance, will be asked to go the entire route at least once before the team returns to Washington.

LOMAX HURLS G. U. TO 8-0 VICTORY AT WAKE FOREST

Deacons Held To 4 Hits in Defeat

Dunn's Home Run in Seventh Accounts for 3 Tallies.

Scalzi and Donovan Each Get 2 Hits to Lead Attack.

Special to The Washington Post.

WAKE FOREST, N. C., March 21. Georgetown University evened its count against North Carolina teams by blanking the Wake Forest College Deacons here today, 8 to 0, behind good pitching by Bill Lomax, young right-hander.

Georgetown tallied three runs off Tom Lanning, star Deacon southpaw, in the fifth on hits by Rapp and Donovan, a walk to Lomax, Morris' single, which sent home two tallies, and McCarthy's sacrifice fly.

The Hill Toppers scored four more in the seventh off Newsome, right-hander. McCarthy singled and scored one following a walk to Rapp, Donovan's hit and a choice, while Dunn hit for the circuit to bring in three tallies. The last run came in the eighth on a brace of errors and Donovan's sacrifice fly.

Morris and Dunn played the biggest part in batting in runs, but Scalzi and Donovan topped the Hill Toppers in hits, with two each. Lomax let the Deacons down with four hits and fanned seven. The Baptista got only three runners as far as second base and none past the midstation.

Georgetown moves to Greensboro tomorrow to play Guilford College.

Baseball Notables' Kin In Georgetown Game

Special to the Washington Post.

Wake Forest, N. C., March 21.—Kin of baseball notables drew attention of fans here today as Georgetown University blanked Wake Forest, 8 to 0.

Bill Rapp, Cleveland scout and one-time diamond star, watched his son play right field for Georgetown. Young Rapp got one hit, scored two runs and had a perfect day afield. Johnny Evers, jr., son of the fiery Evers, of Evers-to-Tinker-to-Chance fame, is a second stringer with Georgetown and did not get in the game.

Wake Forest offered its contribution when Darwin Cobb, Georgian and cousin of the famed Tyrus, was sent in as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. He lived up to his family reputation by singling for one of the four Deacon hits off Bill Lomax, Georgetown hurler.

WOODMEN DRILL TOMORROW

The baseball team of Oak Camp No. 4, Woodmen of the World, will practice at 1 o'clock tomorrow on Monument diamond No. 10. "Smoky" Willner and Ken Fisher are asked to report.

CAPITAL PINMEN MAKE DEBUT IN WATERBURY TODAY

6 D. C. Teams Scheduled in Tourney

Benson, Defending All-Events Champ, Among Group.

Baltimore, Brooklyn Men Also Listed to Roll Tonight.

THE vanguard of Washington's duckpin army will invade Waterbury, Conn., today to participate in the third National Duckpin Bowling Congress tournament.

The six teams slated to shoot for honors and the cash that goes with the glory are the Georgetown Recreation, Southern Dairies, Times-Herald, H-K Advertising, Thayer's Printing Co. and the National Capital Press.

Most notable among the individuals slated to take the drives is Sam Benson, who faces the task of defending his all-events crown, donned in the dying moments of the second anuual tourney at Richmond last year.

Benson Erratic This Season.

Benson has been having an in-and-out season, flashing brilliantly at intervals only to falter in the next set. He has been aiming at something big ever since he stopped the field at Richmond and he is hopeful that he will again reach the pinacle in the championships.

Washington's representatives comprise but a small portion of the field today as the major portion of Baltimore's men and women stars will crowd the drives a major portion of the afternoon and night. Barney Spinella and his Brooklyn bowlers will also have a prominent part in the day's festivities. Ray Von Dreele is Baltimore's best bet to contribute something sensational.

Ounce Harrison, brother of Paul and Joe, of bowling fame, won the junior sweepstakes at the Arcadia yesterday when he added a 528 set to his previous 585 string for an 1,111 total. Francis Sisler was second and Jackie Simmons, third. Fritz Purnell and Stuart Patti were next in line. Monk Fraser presented Harrison with the gold medal offered the winner.

William "Brud" Kessler, who last week set a new set record for the current District League season with a 426 score, last night rolled up a 410 set for the Company F Team in the Prince Georges County League. His games were 141, 126 and 143. Lieut. Hugh McClay had a 394 set with games of 129, 151 and 114.

HOLD SWEEPSTAKES.

The first duckpin sweepstakes is scheduled at the new Takoma Park alleys this afternoon and tonight. Only bowlers averaging 105 and under are eligible. Total pinfall for five games will determine the winners.

SHINING IN ATHLETICS' CAMP

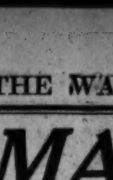
Jim Keesey, a first sacker, is one of Connie Mack's favorite rookies. He's making a fine showing at the Athletics' spring training camp at Fort Myers, Fla.

ON THE SIDELINES



by BRIAN BELL

A BIG minor league pitcher, who is training with the St. Louis Browns at West Palm Beach for later duty at one of the baseball farms, has the other ball players guessing. They can not make up their minds if he is kidding them or is a candidate for some kidding from them.

Dick Coffman, who spent many hours in the Browns' bullpen last summer, was watching the big fellow pitch in batting practice. "How did you go last season?" Coffman asked.

"Pretty well," was the reply. "Except when I threw my 'gopher' ball."

"What's a gopher ball?" queried Dick.

"It's hard to explain what it is, but I can give an illustration. Every time I pitched it I heard the fellows on the other team yelling, 'Go for two! Go for three!'"

LEO DUROCHER will be a right-handed batsman, if any, with the Cincinnati Reds. Miller Huggins, the late Yankee manager, turned the Loquacious Leo around to bat left-handed against right-handed pitchers and he became a turn-around hitter, going up to the plate on each side, but not hitting very well from either.

"Huggins was the greatest manager who ever lived, in my opinion," said Dan Howley, manager of the Reds," and he thought Durocher would get a lot of passes turned around. Huggins recalled his own career and the many bases on balls he coaxed from pitchers. He thought Leo could do the same. Durocher, however, is not so hard to pitch to as was Huggins. Baseball has seen few men who have been as hard to pitch to as Huggins. I think Durocher will be much more natural batting right-handed and we do not plan to have him bat left-handed at all."

LU BLUE, great first baseman and lead-off man of the St. Louis Browns, was talking of batting and pitching tricks. "We used to know when Walter Johnson's curve ball was coming," he said. "When I was with Detroit he was so fast it seemed impossible to hit his speed. At that, when I commented on how fast he was, some of the older fellows on the club said, 'You should have seen him ten years ago if you think he is fast now.' At that he was so fast that every one wanted a chance to hit at his curve rather than his speed ball. He would pitch fast ball after fast ball, and then maybe he would shake his head when the catcher gave the signal. This would be the tip-off. The catcher was signaling for another fast one, but Walter had decided he would throw a curve for a change. Then we would rush it and try to hit the curve, knowing we had a much better chance against it than one of the hopping fast ones.

"When Dutch Leonard was pitching against Johnson, which was often the case, he kept watching for Walter to take a long, deep breath. Then he would yell at us: 'He's getting tired, fellows; go in there and get some runs for me.'"

WILLIAM G. ROGELL may prove to be the long-sought shortstop of the Detroit Tigers. Manager Bucky Harris experimented all last season and never did get the right combination, although young Bill Akers, purchased from Beaumont, was doing very well at the close. Akers will have a job with the Tigers in 1930, but every indication points to Bill Rogell, former Red Sox infield utility man, taking the shortstop position over entirely.

Rogell has been playing professional baseball for seven years although he is only 25 years old now. Boston released him last winter to St. Paul, where he had a great summer, hitting .336 and fielding in sensational style. A National League club and one in the American League put in a bid for his services. Bob Connery, president of the Saints, left the decision up to the player himself. "I can sell your contract to clubs in either the National or American League," said big-hearted Bob. "Which league do you prefer?"

Rogell promptly selected the American, for, he said, "I want to show the Red Sox that I am a major league ball player."

When he reported to the Tigers, Manager Stanley Harris advised him that shortstop was wide open on the Detroit Club, and he had every chance to make a regular place for himself. Bill responded with a will, and the chances are that when the Tigers open the American League season he will be at shortstop.

SPEED is not often associated with catchers, most of the receivers of today being big, powerful fellows who can hit and throw, but can do little in the way of effective running. Two of the fastest men in the Detroit camp are Catchers George Rensa and Bill Steinecke. Rensa was with Toronto last season, while Steinecke came up from Seattle. Both are well built and, as the ball players say, they can "carry the mail." Rensa spent part of last season with Fort Worth in the Texas League. Steinecke, a Cincinnati boy, was a baseball, football and basket ball player at school and college, attending DePauw University. He was a second baseman in college, but became a catcher when he turned to the professional game.

GORDON SLADE and Mickey Finn, the second Pacific Coast twins to make a united attack on major league baseball, may not play short and second for Brooklyn, just as Lary and Reese probably will not be teamed up with the Yankees, but, like the other Pacific Coast pair, the Missions' duo will wear Brooklyn uniforms. Wilbert Robinson is too short in his infield reserves to let either of the promising pair get away, and sooner or later they will get a chance to team up again. "Uncle Robby" was impressed at first glance by Slade and Finn. "They look like ball players," said the veteran manager. "And that's something."

Luray Beats Culpeper, 12-5, in Opening Game

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., March 21.—Luray High School today defeated Culpeper High, 12 to 5, in the first baseball game played by either team this year. The weather was more suited to football and the outfielders spent most of their time dancing about to keep warm.

Hudson, of Luray, was the most consistent hitter of the game, getting three hits out of six times up. Campbell, of Luray, and Humphries, of Culpeper, each got three-baggers, and Baker, of Luray, drove a long outfield fly, which looked like a homer, with two men on base, but Grimsley made a long run for a pretty catch and held both runners to their bases. Cave fielded well for the visitors.

A BENEFIT program will be staged tomorrow night in the Armory Hall for George Ramey, an athletic follower in every sport, who has undergone an operation for the removal of one of his eyes. Fred Pettit, coach of the Knight Store Five, is arranging the contest. He has scheduled two attractive basket-ball games The Knights will meet the Scholastic Five while the St. Marys are playing the Marine Barracks Quintet. The Scholastic Team will be composed of star players of the Alexandria, George Mason and Washington and Lee High School Teams.

The first contest will start at 7:30 o'clock, while the second game will follow immediately. Hobey O'Meara, a Washington official, has donated his services.

The Clover A. C. has issued a challenge to the Whitestone Team for a game.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., March 21.—The Teachers, of Alexandria High School, uncorked a last-half rally in Armory Hall here tonight to defeat the girls' sextet of the same school, 22 to 19, after trailing three-quarters of the game.

Trailing, 12 to 8, at half time, the Teachers began to melt away the students' lead early in the third quarter, and by the end of the period had narrowed the gap to one point, at 17 to 16. Foul shooting by Miss Wright sent the Teachers ahead in the final stanza to stay, five points by this player being made via this method.

De Luxe Cover Russell In Beating Crescents.

Some of the closest guarding ever seen in tournament play was exhibited in the opening clash of the evening, when the DeLuxe Five upset the dope to advance to the quarter-final round by nosing out the Crescents, 30 to 27, in the 145-pound division. Throughout the game, the Crescents were forced to take long and hurried shots at the basket, at no time being left free by a DeLuxe player, while their opponents were running up the score by virtue of short "snowbirds" throughout.

Especially brilliant was the defensive play of Dougherty and Kessler, who combined to hold Everett Russell, all-high forward from Tech, without a field goal for the first 32 minutes of the game. Russell finally succeeded in locating the net three times from the center of the floor in the last period but it was not enough to offset the lead maintained by DeLuxe.

The eventual winners hopped off to a 9-to-5 lead in the first ten minutes of play and had increased their advantage to 12-to-7 as the half ended. Entering the last quarter on the short end of a 22-to-15 score, the Crescents threatened for the only time during the game, and did succeed in outscoring their foes, 12 to 8, but it was too late, Crescent not once being able to secure the lead.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

PROFESSIONAL HELP IS INVALUABLE TO THE BEGINNER!

Should a beginner start his lessons with a good professional or pick it up playing around the course?

Answered by WILLIE OGG,

New England professional, former Massachusetts open, Shawnee open champion.

A beginner should start with a professional, as it is much easier to acquire the proper swing when there are no faults to correct. I do not know of any golfer who has started to play without lessons who has not regretted it for, once set in their own ways of hitting the ball, the chances are they will keep on playing that way.

The average golfer has not the time nor the inclination to work a complete change in his method after he has once learned, so my advice to beginners is to take at least six lessons and save both time and money. Six lessons at the beginning will do more good than sixty later.

Silver Spring Pair Tops Bowlers at Waterbury

Special to The Washington Post.

Waterbury, Conn., March 21.—Johnny Saunders and Ollie Webb, members of the Frank L. Hewitt duckpin team of Silver Spring, Md., today moved into first place for the national doubles championship in the National Duckpin Bowling Congress tournament when they totaled 778. Saunders contributed 371 and Webb clicked off a nice 407 set.

Saunders and Webb displaced Morton and Lynch, of Bristol, Conn., who had led the way with a 760 total.

The score of Saunders and Webb is three pins better than that with which Red Morgan and George Friend won the title at Richmond last year and just one pin short of the highest doubles mark rolled in national competition at Baltimore in 1928 when Ray Von Dreele and Frank Smith totaled 779.

YOUNG BOWLERS MEET.

Two matches are slated at the Hyattsville Arcade alleys today between young bowlers. Ted Glasgow, Hyattsville, and Alfred Dahoe, of Washington, will meet at 2 o'clock, and Al Hunt, Petworth, and Fiddles Holland, Hyattsville, will clash at 7 o'clock. Each match will be over a 5-game route.

SPIEGEL NOW CAPTAIN.

Benny Spiegel, erstwhile Tech High basket ball manager, will now captain the Maroon and Gray Baseball Team from the pitcher's box, where he will assume the mound burden again.

Few Changes in Grid Code Expected at Rules Meeting

E. K. Hall, Committee Chairman, Indicates That Many Suggestions for Changes Will Be Reviewed.

By TED VOSBURGH.

NEW YORK, March 20 (A.P.).—Football, 1930 model, will be much the same as the 1929 product, with only a few minor and technical changes and no freak appurtenances whatsoever, E. K. Hall, chairman of the national rules committee, indicated today.

When Mr. Hall and his colleagues get together in their annual weekend session at Absecon, N. J., tomorrow, the chances are that thumbs will be turned down generally on such proposals as eliminating the point after touchdown, continuing first downs in the scoring, moving the goal posts back to their old position, outlawing the runback of an intercepted pass and altering the year-old fumble rule.

Majority Favor No Changes.

The majority is all in favor of letting the game alone, the rules head made it clear. In the meantime he and his fellow members of a recodification committee are bringing to a close two years of painstaking effort in rewriting the rules into logical form.

Begun back in 1928, on a pingpong table in the basement of Mr. Hall's Montclair, N. J., home, the new codes had been drafted and redrafted five different times. The fifth proof which presents the laws of the game in simple straightforward style beginning logically with the field and the ball as explaining the play from kickoff to final whistle will be laid before the rules committee at the seaside conclave for alterations after which a sixth and final version will be given to the football world. As to the various suggested changes in the actual content of the rules Mr. Hall said:

"Eliminating the point after touchdown—this was favored by a committee of the football coaches' association, but the body as a whole turned it down. The extra point does not decide all close games but it decides a great many of them. If the point were abolished there would be all kinds of clamor the next year for a change in the scoring system to prevent the many ties that would result."

Counting first downs in the scoring—"Glenn Warner has been quoted in favor of this, but I think that if anyone talked to him for five minutes and pointed out how impracticable it is, he would change his mind."

Wood Duckpin Stakes To Conclude Tonight

With any one of more than a score of contenders in line for first prize, the large field competing in the Bill Wood Duckpin Sweepstakes for bowlers having averages under 108 will complete its fifteen-game test at the two King Pin establishments tonight.

A. L. Boyd leads the way with 1,133, 3 pins in front of Harold Hunt. Bill Zier, 1,129; Ira Spier, 1,127; Thurmont Cordell, 1,124, and Frank Isaacs, 1,113, are trailing the leader closely.

WIN DUCKPIN MATCH.

The Book of Washington bowlers easily defeated The Star team yesterday at Lucky Strike in the opening block of a match which will be completed on the same alleys next Friday afternoon. The victors gained a 132-pin lead.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

OVERCOMING STOOP SHOULDERS.

H. M. J. writes:

Please name a special way for building up the back and neck muscles so as to overcome stoop shoulders.

REPLY.

You are right in thinking the only way to overcome stoop shoulders is to build up the muscles of the neck and upper back. In the ordinary case of stoop shoulders the cause of the deformity is the shape of the chest. Behind that often lies rickets in childhood. The shape of the chest undergoes progressive change from the beginning until about the twentieth year. At first narrow and deep, it gradually becomes broad and shallow. At first the trunk is bent forward and the shoulders are rounded, but as time progresses the trunk becomes straight and the shoulders become square. This is a natural evolution brought about by changes of one kind or another, but all normal. If, because of rickets or for any other reason, this normal evolution stops, the chest remains deep and narrow and the shoulders stoop.

After childhood it is not possible to make much change in the shape of the bony chest structure. The best we can do is to build up powerful sets of pull-back muscles, and let them hold the shoulders back as well as they can. To accomplish this, something more than a slight straightening of the muscles is required. The building up must go a long way. The muscles must take on the dimensions of those of a wrestler; otherwise they will never hold flat shoulder blades on the back part of a strongly curved chest wall.

For this purpose I should say that work is better than play. Pitching hay would head the list if it were a year round job; loading wagons with a shovel is work that is good for the purpose; wrestling is one of the best sports; rowing is good, particularly if it takes the form of a job at which one works eight hours daily.

Nothing equals carrying weight on the head. The tropical women who carry water on the head or the washerwomen who carry clothes that way, the laborers who carry burdens that way, the Indians who carry their babies on their backs with a supporting band around the head—these groups have found the ideal method of preventing and of curing stoop shoulders.

GLYCERIN FOR WINTER ITCH.

A. H. B. writes: Your discussion of winter itch recently makes me bold enough to write you of an experience in my own household in the treatment of a similar ailment—bath itch. After using various prescriptions with a grease base, with only moderate success, I decided to see the effect of glycerin, realizing its moisture binding powers. Two ounces in a moderate-sized bath have proved in this one instance an unfailing remedy. I might say that each case would require a different amount of glycerin, to be determined by the patient. A glycerin lotion could, of course, also be tried.

DIET FOR BAY WINDOWS.

C. P. R. writes: In your recent article entitled "A Diet for Bay Windows," two fresh vegetables are mentioned for luncheon and dinner. Does this mean raw or cooked, or vegetables fresh from the garden cooked, or would potatoes, carrots, or onions, or any such from the cellar be acceptable?

REPLY.

As a rule, vegetables should be eaten cooked. Vegetables from the cellar are acceptable.

The preference for fresh, raw vegetables applies to dieting against scurvy, swollen gums and tooth decay.

STOCKS' PRICE INDEX TOUCHES NEW PEAK

Upward Trend Continues, Despite Higher Call-Money Rates.

4,629,290 SHARES SOLD

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—The bull movement on the stock market was forced to hurdle a barrier of a higher money market today, but acquitted itself with fair success, after momentarily shying away from it. Speculators for the advance, who have grown increasingly aggressive under the stimulating influence of cheap money this week, concluded that the higher charges today would be but temporary.

Call money renewed at 3 per cent, as compared to yesterday's 2 per cent renewal rate, the lowest in years, and advanced successively to 4 and then 4½ per cent, as about $100,000,000 in loans was called. Heavy selling profit taking swept into the market around midday, and bears launched telling drives against a small group of issues.

Bulls regained control of the price movement in the late afternoon, however, and closing prices were mostly higher, net gains running from 1 to nearly 8 points in the more active issues. The gross currents of bullish and bearish activity piled up total sales of 4,629,290 shares, the largest day's business since December. The index of 90 leading shares was elevated more than a point further into new high ground since October. The ticker ran 40 minutes after the close.

Higher Money Rates Forecast.

The tightening of purse strings in the money market was largely attributable to the withdrawal of credit through wiping out of the Government's quarterly overdraft at the Federal Reserve, of which about $70,000,000 remained. Furthermore, banks have been finding the low rates of the last few days unprofitable and were unwilling to place funds over the week-end save athigher rates. A heavy demand for sterling in the foreign exchange market indicated that foreign lenders were also growing dissatisfied with the low rates of return in this money market and withdrawing funds.

With readjustments incident to the midmonth Treasury operations completed, bankers predict that call money will settle back to comparatively cheap levels next week, although it probably will not approach the low levels seen this week.

The weekly business and mercantile reviews stressed the stiffening in commodity prices this week as the outstanding favorable development. Trade and industry generally continued to make slow and irregular recovery. Dun's said, "Existing conditions point to a gradual and uneven advance, rather than a rapid and general upturn."

U. S. Steel Advances.

The market activity centered in several of the old standbys, such as American Telephone and U. S. Steel. Both reached new high levels for the recovery in the early trading, slipped back around midday, and rallied toward the close. U. S. Steel reaching its best level in the last hour, at 191, up more than 4 points.

Oils were again brought forward in the late trading. About a dozen were sent up to new tops for the year, including Standard of New Jersey, which touched 69, up 2¾. Coca Cola, Electric Auto Lite, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Vanadium and Warner Bros. were other strong spots, rising 3 points or more. United Carbon sold up 10 and closed up nearly 8. Coppers were generally firmer in response to better sales reports.

National Cash Register joined the group of bear favorites, selling off about 7 points to a new low for the year, to the accompaniment of reports of disappointing sales and the early necessity of new financing to provide working capital. American Car & Foundry, American Locomotive, Gillette and Simmons also dropped to new lows for the year or longer. Du Pont and Allied Chemical lost a couple of points in realizing.

Commodities were generally firm, although May corn sold off more than a cent on large offerings. Wheat moved higher, the July position gaining 1⅜ cents. The movement was helped by better export sales and cold weather. Cotton closed about 30 cents to $1 a bale higher.

Foreign exchanges were generally firm, sterling cables rising ¼ of a cent to $4.86¾.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 21 (A.P.).—Apparent fatigue of the Northern Hemisphere as a big source of breadstuff supplies for Europe put wheat prices on the upgrade today. It was reported that Argentina has little more for export of good millable quality. Furthermore, Argentine wheat exports this week, and Australian as well, show a huge falling off, in volume as compared with a year ago.

After rising to 9 cents a bushel higher today than last week's bottom level, Chicago wheat futures closed unsettled, ⅜ to 1¾ cents above yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛ to ½ cent down, oats, unchanged to ¼ cent off, and provisions, 5 to 15 cents advanced.

Upturns in wheat values formed the rule here today right from the outset, but top figures reached were not maintained, as the market had to absorb a tremendous amount of selling done for holders who were in a position to realize profits. Reported shipments of available stocks of wheat in Argentina, it was pointed out, were in line with advices current at harvest time that the Argentine crop contained an unusual percentage of poor, lightweight wheat. Further emphasizing the Southern Hemisphere situation it was announced that Argentine wheat exports in the last week total only 1,487,000 bushels against 8,121,000 bushels at this time last year, and that Australian outshipments for the week were but 1,240,000 bushels compared with 3,616,000 bushels a year ago.

Sharp advances in price today at Liverpool and Buenos Aires were also construed here as significant that countries below the equator are rapidly passing out of the picture as serious rivals to North America in furnishing wheat to Europe during the remainder of the season. Giving further advantage to the buying side of the market today were persistent crop complaints from parts of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, together with indications of dearth of moisture in hard winter wheat States Southwest. Fears were also expressed that the cold snap may prove to have been a severe shock from which recovery of wheat Southwest would be slow. Export purchasing of North American wheat today was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels, chiefly Canadian grown, although United States wheat is now closer in line to compete.

Enlarged rural selling of corn to arrive led to a late setback in corn prices. Oats sympathized with corn.

Provisions advanced responsive to upturns in the values of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May, 1.08⅞ to 1.09; July, 1.07⅞ to 1.08, 1.10⅜ to ⅝; September, 1.09⅞ to 1.10, 1.13¼. Corn, May, 83¼ to ⅜, 85⅝ to ¾; July, 83⅝ to 85½, 87¼ to ⅝; September, 86⅛ to 88¼.

BOND PRICES LOSE; MONEY RATES RISE

Few Utilities Score Fair Gains, Sending Group to New Peak.

INVESTMENT RAILS DROP

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Stiffening in money rates brought a lighter demand for bonds today and prices of most of the leaders in the recent bull market eased in a day of mixed trading. Declines were rather persistent in the railroad division, where losses averaged half a point.

Call of about $100,000,000 in loans brought a 6 per cent call money renewal rate. This was later raised to 4 and eventually to 4½. Time funds likewise hardened about a quarter of 1 per cent. In view of this trend bonds offered less attraction, although there was still a fair inquiry for some of the speculative listings.

Despite the general strength in stocks, convertibles were only firm. The outstanding exception was the American Telephone issue, which closed at 166¾, a new 1930 high, up 2½ points. Early in the session the bond touched 168. Baltimore & Ohio 4½s were firm on the day's largest turnover. International Telephone 4½s lost a point in an unusually small volume of sales.

Investment Sales Decline.

Investment rails which had been bid up to peak levels in the Thursday trading were much less popular and an average loss of half a point came out in a broad list. Santa Fe general 4s sold up to 96, a new top, but then eased to 95¼, off ½. Declines of about the same proportion developed in Canadian Pacific 4s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, New Haven 4½s, Pere Marquette 4½s, Union Pacific first 4s, St. Louis San Francisco 4½s and Southern Pacific 4s. Morris & Essex 4½s dropped a point and Southern Railway general 4s lost 1½.

A few utilities scored fair gains, lifting the average for that group to a new high for the year. Utah Power & Light 5s, Postal Telegraph 5s, Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, and Southwestern Bell Telephone 5s gained ground, the first named rising a point. Investment industrial were quiet. Bethlehem Steel purchase money 5s and Wheeling Steel 5½s were firm spots. Amusement Co. bonds turned heavy.

U. S. Shares Lose Ground.

United States Government closed lower. The decline in the case of the Treasury 3¾s amounted to 2 1-32 of a point, while the 3¾ lost ½. Others were steadier.

Profit taking caused some irregularity in the foreigns, although some of the South Americans, notably listings of Brazil, continued strong. Australia 5s rose more than a point. Belgian bonds were firm.

The day's new issues included two oil company loans, both of which attracted oversubscriptions. The larger of the two was the $40,000,000 Royal Dutch Co. debenture 4s at 89½. Union Oil of California sold a $15,000,000 issue of debenture 5s at 99½.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 21 (A.P.).—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: At least three features of importance stand out in the week's resume of trade and industry. Perhaps the most immediately important one is the stiffening of prices of a number of farm products and raw materials, the effects of whose weakness in recent months have hardly received the notice their importance deserved. Another is the continued easing off in quotations for money, both at home and abroad, which has usually been a prerequisite to a renewal of trade activities, after such a series of events as has faced the business world since the autumn of 1929. A third feature earlier predicted, based partly, by the way, on the late date of Easter this year, has been the evident leisurely advance of spring buying, which, it is now conceded, has run true to traditions of other similar years. Weekly bank clearings $12,377,184,000, a decrease of 18.2 per cent from a year ago.

Earnings of Pullman, Inc., and all subsidiaries in 1929, after deducting Federal taxes, amounted to $17,678,698, equal to $5.23 each share on the 3,375,000 shares of capital stock. Earnings for 1928 were $16,393,696, or $4.86 a share.

The record of business failures in the country this week changed slightly from last week, but the number was more than 100 above the failures for the corresponding interval a year ago, R. G. Dun & Co. reports. There were 558 insolvencies reported for this week, compared with 560 for last week, and 438 for the same period in 1929.

The cigar manufacturing plants of the Porto Rican American Tobacco Co. will be on a 100 per cent machinery basis by the end of April, Luis Toro, president, said today. The company is now making 80 per cent of its cigars by machines, savings of from $4 to $7 a thousand cigars are effected by the use of machinery, Mr. Toro said.

The Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co., of Birmingham, Ala., is reported to be shipping more pig iron than is being produced at present, with three blast furnaces in operation

CAPITAL TRACTION INCOME IS $31,103

Profits for February, 1930, Drop $4,664 From Month Year Ago.

FINANCING IS ANNOUNCED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Capital Traction Co.'s net income for February, 1930, was $31,103.32, a decrease of $4,664.72 from the month a year ago, the company's statement of operations filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission revealed. Net income for the first two months of the year was $70,853.65, a decrease of $4,993.44 from the same period last year.

Compared with February, 1929, the report for last month showed decreases in the following items: operating revenues, $2,862.78; taxes, $1,621.09; operating income, $3,829.12; nonoperating income, $134.62; gross income, $3,963.74; revenue passengers, 95,577; total passengers, 122,313.

For the same comparative periods increases were shown last month as follows: operating expenses, $2,587.43; operating expenses and taxes, $966.34; deductions from gross, $700.98; car and bus mileage, 2,575.

Sees Business Improvement.

"While business improvement during the past week," states Y. E. Booker & Co., "has not been very tangible, the commodity markets have firmed up, the bond market has done well and there has been a budget of favorable expressions from Washington and elsewhere which has tended to dispel the latent apprehension that all was not well with the return to prosperity.

"It still seems likely that the present depression will not last much longer than that of 1927, which began in the late spring and ended in the following December. Following is an approximate compilation of the length of former depressions: 1914, eight months; 1918, four months; 1920, eighteen months; 1923, twelve months; 1927, eight months. Our current depression dates from about October, and it seems likely that it will have run its course before eight or ten months have elapsed."

Financing for the Royal Dutch Co., which with its controlled subsidiaries constitutes the world's largest enterprise engaged in the production and distribution of petroleum and its products, is being carried out in the American market today with the public offering of an issue of $40,000,000 fifteen-year 4 per cent debentures, series A, with share purchase warrants, by a syndicate consisting of Dillon, Read & Co., Chase Securities Corporation, the Equitable Corporation of New York, Guaranty Co. of New York, Bankers Co. of New York, Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, Harris, Forbes & Co., First-Chicago Corporation. Arrangements for the loan were made by the bankers with Sir Henri Deterding, managing director of the Royal Dutch Co., over the transatlantic telephone.

Commercial National Dividend.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Commercial National Bank, a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent was ordered paid on April 1 to shareholders of record March 24. This means, according to announcement from President Wade H. Cooper, that the dividend of the Commercial National Bank will be on a permanent 10 per cent basis, the dividend being paid on a basis of 2½ per cent quarterly.

W. W. Spaid, of W. B. Hibbs & Co., is attending a meeting of the out-of-town section of New York Stock Exchange firms in New York this week.

Frank Owings, former cashier of the Bank of Commerce & Savings, has taken an office in the same building in which the bank is located. He is devoting his time to personal business.

Banker With Dental Hobby Held on Woman's Charges

Beautiful Teeth Have Strange Fascination for Him, Man Asserts in Telling How He Treated 200 Without License.

St. Louis, Mo., March 21 (A.P.).—Elwyn Bentley, 60, a wealthy retired bank president, is held here on charges of practicing dentistry without a license and common assault.

Bentley, a dapper bachelor and member of a prominent Springfield, Mo., family, is accused by Mrs. Mildred Rankin, 25, of having represented himself as a skilled dentist and to have extracted three of her teeth without her permission after she had agreed to permit him to clean them. The incident was two years ago, and Mrs. Rankin caused Bentley's arrest yesterday after she met him on a downtown street.

Taken to police headquarters, Bentley said practicing dentistry in an "unprofessional way" had been his principal hobby since he retired from the banking business at Springfield ten years ago after amassing a fortune. His patients were women, he said, and he charged them nothing.

Bentley maintained no office, but said he had given dental treatment to about 200 women in St. Louis, New York, Kansas City and Joplin, Mo., in the last ten years. A large dental kit was found in his room in a fashionable hotel, in addition to several recently pulled teeth.

"I guess I get a thrill out of it," Bentley told Detective Chief Kaiser, in discussing his hobby. He added that he guessed he would have to quit as some of his patients appeared not to appreciate his dental skill.

Bentley has also had other hobbies; one is philosophy and another dancing. A graduate of Cornell University, he has taken several post-graduate courses specializing in philosophy, has studied dancing and piano, and said he had taught dancing.

He is a son of the late J. F. G. Bentley, who established the Bank of Springfield, Mo., which was dissolved by the son after his father's death and his elevation to the presidency.

REMOVAL OF TRUNKS CAUSES $5,000 SUIT

Woman Says Apartment House Agents Let Husband Obtain Baggage.

MATE IS NOW IN JAIL

Alleging that agents of an apartment house on Massachusetts avenue northwest, near Tenth street, had permitted John B. Showalter, her husband, to invade the basement and remove two trunks containing valuables and wearing apparel, Mrs. Madeline E. Showalter, now residing at an apartment house on Thirteenth street northwest, near I street, yesterday filed suit for $5,000 damages against W. J. Pilling, of 1416 F street northwest, said to be a real estate man in charge of the Massachusetts avenue apartment house.

Showalter, a former real estate man, is now serving a 90-day term in jail on a statutory charge imposed by Judge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Court.

Last December, Mrs. Showalter filed suit for absolute divorce against her husband, naming as corespondent the woman who figured in the Police Court case.

Mrs. Showalter in the suit filed yesterday states that at the time she moved into the Massachusetts avenue apartment house she explained to the management that she was apprehensive that her husband would seek to disturb and harass her. Despite this, she alleges, the agents of the apartment house permitted her husband to remove the trunks, and she was inconvenienced and has been put to great expense in her efforts to replace clothing and other articles. Attorneys Vandoren, Rafferty and Rogers appear for the plaintiff.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia: Increasing cloudiness and continued cold Saturday, with some probability of rain by Saturday night or Sunday; moderate north and northeast winds.

For Maryland: Increasing cloudiness and continued cold Saturday, with some probability of rain in the south portions Saturday night or Sunday; fresh north and northeast winds.

For Virginia: Mostly cloudy Saturday and Sunday; probably rain Sunday and in south portion Saturday; colder Saturday; fresh, possibly strong, north and northeast winds.

Pressure remains abnormally low over the Canadian maritime provinces, Harrington, Que., 28.78 inches, and it is little low and falling from the Gulf of Alaska east-southeastward to Montana and Saskatchewan. Ketchikan, Alaska, 29.20 inches. Another disturbance is moving eastward over southern Texas, Brownsville, 29.72 inches. These disturbances have been attended by rain within the last 24 hours in the north Pacific States, the middle and west Gulf States, and in portions of the Ohio Valley, and by snow flurries in the lower Lake region and the interior of New York. Fair weather has prevailed in all other sections. The area of high pressure from the Northwest is advancing slowly eastward over the upper Mississippi Valley and the Lake region, Gaudinton, Mich., 30.32 inches, and pressure remains high over and west of California, San Francisco, 30.22 inches. The temperature has fallen from the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States and the lower Lake region southwestward to Oklahoma and Texas, and it has risen in practically all other sections. The weather has become much colder from Indiana and Ohio northeastward to Maine, and much warmer in the northern Rocky Mountain region, the northern Plains States and Minnesota.

The Texas disturbance will move east or east-northeastward, and will be attended by rain within the next 24 hours in Tennessee and the South Atlantic States, possibly extending northward over the southern portion of the Middle Atlantic States by or during Saturday night. The weather will probably continue fair Saturday and Sunday in the Ohio Valley, the lower Lake region and the North Atlantic States. The temperature will be lower in Tennessee, the South Atlantic States, and the southern portion of the Middle Atlantic States Saturday, and in the South Atlantic States Saturday night, while it will rise slowly Sunday in the Ohio Valley, the lower Lake region, the North Atlantic States, and the northern portion of the Middle Atlantic States.

MINISTERS TO TALK ON LENTEN THEMES

Penitential Season Spirit Will Be Evidenced in Sunday Subjects.

DR. SHEARER TO PREACH

The spirit of the Lenten season will continue to pervade churches in Washington at services tomorrow and throughout the coming week.

Lenten services under the auspices of the Federation of Churches will enter their second week tomorrow at the First Congregational Church. Because of the illness of the Rev. J. R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, the address on Monday will be delivered by the Rev. R. Paul Shearer, pastor of the Takoma Park Presbyterian Church. The address on Tuesday will be given by the Rev. Samuel E. Rose, pastor of the Petworth Methodist Church. The speaker on Wednesday will be the Rev. H. A. Woolfall, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

The third of a series of Lenten sermons will be preached at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church by the Rev. Henry W. Snyder, the pastor. The subject of the sermon will be "The Great Confession."

Meditation Is Planned.

A Lenten meditation entitled "Every Weight" will be given by the Rev. F. F. Holsopple, pastor of the Washington City Church of the Brethren, tomorrow morning. The church is situated at Fourth street and Carolina avenue southeast.

The second sermon in a series of Lenten services dealing with "The Essentials of Spiritual Development" will be given tomorrow morning by the Rev. Coombs Reynolds at the Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church.

The third service in the Chevy Chase Union Lenten meetings will be held next Thursday evening in the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church. Dr. Robert R. Wicks, dean of the chapel, Princeton University, will be the speaker.

A message for the Lenten season entitled "Dwell Deep" will be given at the Chevy Chase Baptist Church by the Rev. Edward O. Clark at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow.

Services at Cathedral.

Washington Cathedral will begin a series of Lenten lectures next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in St. John's Church. After next Thursday the lectures will be given on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays during Lent.

Sermons of topical interest will be heard at several other churches in the District.

The Rev. R. W. Brooks, pastor of the Lincoln Congregational Temple, will speak on "Is Russia Right—Do We Need Religion?" at the morning service tomorrow.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, will speak on "Christianity and Politics" at the Concordia Lutheran Evangelical Church tomorrow evening.

Predictions that the world is soon to face the second coming of Christ will feature a sermon by Dr. B. G. Wilkinson tomorrow evening in the L'Aiglon Auditorium. Dr. Wilkinson will also point to the increase in cigarette consumption among men and women as a sign of lowering moral standards.

Taft Memorial Service.

Prayer for the soul of the late President and Chief Justice William Howard Taft will be offered at high mass tomorrow morning at 8S. Constantine and Helen, Greek Orthodox Church. Archbishop Vasilios, head of the Greek Orthodox Church in America, will preside.

Archbishop Vasilios will preach on the life and virtues of the late President and Chief Justice. He will be assisted by the Rev. Thomas Daniels, pastor of the church, in the high mass.

The week's Lenten program of the Y. M. C. A. will begin with a vesper service tomorrow afternoon at the Elizabeth Somers residence. Lenten lectures will be given Tuesday morning by William Knowles Cooper and Tuesday night by Dr. George Duncan at the Y. W. C. A. On Wednesday Miss Mabel Nelson Thurston will continue her series on "Adventuring in Faith."

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ELECTION MEETING CALLED IN VIENNA

Mayor, Five Councilmen and Town Sergeant Are to Be Designated.

FIELD DAY IS PLANNED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

A mass meeting of the citizens of the Town of Vienna will be held this evening in the town hall, on call of the town council, for the purpose of nominating candidates for mayor, councilmen and town sergeant.

The offices of mayor, five town councilmen and town sergeant will be filled at the general election on June 10, 1930. The offices are now held by Edgar T. Bennett, mayor; Vernon Gowin, Fred Hagman, jr., William W. Louk, Joseph Berry and Alton Money, councilmen, and W. E. Thompson, town sergeant.

Citizens who wish to vote in the general election on June 10 must have had their poll taxes paid before December 10, 1929. This qualification also applies to candidates. During the last general election several candidates were disqualified because their poll taxes had not been paid in time.

The offices of secretary and treasurer of the town are not elective but are filled by the new council at the first meeting following the election. At the present time both of these offices are filled by Frank Wilcox.

The committee, consisting of Miss Elizabeth Elmore, of Floris; C. B. Scott, of Falls Church and Harris Nipe, of Oakton, in charge of the program for the annual field day and track meet of the Fairfax County High School Athletic Association, has completed the list of the events to be held on May 24 on the grounds of the Fairfax County Fair Association, at Fairfax.

The program was announced earlier this year so that pupils might have a longer time to train. The meet will open in the morning at 10:30 o'clock and continue for two hours. During that time the following contests will take place:

The 100-yard dash for boys, 100-yard dash for girls, 50-yard dash for junior boys, baseball throw for girls, high jump for boys and 44-yard dash for boys which was substituted this year for the mile run, a feature of all the meets during the previous years.

The afternoon program will start at 1 o'clock and includes a 75-yard dash for junior boys, 50-yard dash for girls, pole vault for boys, basket ball throw for girls, 880-yard run for boys, discus throw for boys, broad jump for girls, 220-yard dash for boys, high jump for girls, 220-yard relay race for junior boys, broad jump for boys, relay race for girls, shot put for boys and relay race for boys. The junior boys' classification includes those who weigh less than 105 pounds.

The various events will be assigned to different teachers to managed. Ribbons will be awarded to winners of the first, second and third places in each event.

Miss Jennie Tomko, of McLean, secretary of the association, is planning to secure medals for winners among both girls and boys scoring the highest number of points. Similar medals were offered last year by H. D. Seal, of Floris.

A card party will be held tonight in the Great Falls Inn by Mrs. Mark Turner, of Forestville. She will be assisted by Mrs. Marvin Sanders, of Colvin Run. The proceeds of the party will be used to assist in paying the transportation expenses of the 4-H Club members to Kamp Kahlert, Md., this summer.

The members of the Andrew Chapel Epworth League of the Southern Methodist Church will hold a benefit social tonight in the parlors of the church at Andrew Chapel. The program, which includes games, music and refreshments, will commence at 8 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Berry has been appointed general chairman. She will be assisted by a program committee consisting of Mrs. Ruth V. Day, chairman; Mrs. Curtis Money and Miss Stella Morris. The decoration committee will be Miss Agnes Orrison, chairman; Miss Dorothy Pierpont and Miss Anna Day, and a refreshment committee, Miss Sara M. Cockerille, chairman; Miss Sara Day and Miss Ottie Money. The program includes special music and a minstrel show by the young men of the church.

The task of rebuilding the crossing over the Southern railway at Springfield has been practically completed by the county road force under the direction of County Engineer F. Noveile Larkin. It has reached the point where only a half-day's work would complete it but this work can not be done until the railway company lays the crossing between the rails. Under the State law the county engineer can not do this work between the rails. Within the past two weeks the county engineer has asked the railroad company officials several times to do this but up until now it has not been done. The new road over the railroad tracks is so constructed that the old dangerous curves have been eliminated and a good view can now be had on both approaches of the tracks. The new grade has been surfaced with gravel and can be used by the traffic in practically all kinds of weather.

The State road forces, following the plan to make Chain Bridge road safer for traffic, have been widening the narrow bridges between Oakton and Fairfax. Four feet is being added to each side of the bridges which will make them 24 feet wide, allowing ample room for cars to pass. It is proposed to widen all narrow bridges on the Chain Bridge road within the next few months, eliminating all dangerous one-way bridges. The work is being done so as not to interfere with traffic.

BODY OF SLAIN MAN FOUND IN POTOMAC

Card of Local Piano Salesman Found in Pocket Is Only Clew to Identity.

DESCRIPTION IS GIVEN

Washington police last night were searching for a local piano salesman in an effort to unravel the identity of a murdered man whose water soaked body was recovered yesterday afternoon from the Potomac River at Indian Head, Md. An inquest proved that the man had been killed before being thrown into the river, a bullet wound having been located in his right temple and his forehead having been crushed.

The body apparently had been in the water for several weeks and was in a state of decomposition when discovered by Arthur Johnson, of Indian Head. It was being held last night pending instruction from Washington police.

The only clew that might lead to identification was a business card of "R. R. Galliett," a salesman for the Charles M. Stieff Co., of 1340 G street northwest. His name could not be found in the city directory.

The dead man weighed between 150 and 160 pounds, was about 40 years old, had dark hair and was smooth of face. He wore blue serge trousers, a black and white shirt and a brown sweater, with patent leather shoes. A gray leather belt bore a silver buckle with the letter "T" engraved on it. A woman's figure was tattooed on his right forearm.

Police of the Capital could find no name on the missing list that began with a "T," nor did any description coincide with that given by the Charles County authorities.

Staunton Shrine Club Names Fisher as Head

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., March 21.—Dr. Guy R. Fisher last night was elected president of the Staunton Shrine Club, succeeding Charles K. Brown, who refused to stand for reelection.

INJUNCTION ASKED TO BAR MORTUARY

Rockville Residents Object to Funeral Parlor Near Homes.

DISTURBS PEACE OF MIND

Petition for an injunction restraining William R. Pumphrey, jr., from establishing a funeral home at Williams street and Commerce lane, Rockville, was filed in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville yesterday by Attorney F. Bernard Welch, acting on behalf of property owners in that vicinity.

Walter A. Williams, Lucy S. Simpson, Nicholas Brewer, Bessie S. Brewer, Ella M. Laird and Augusta P. Daisley are named as plaintiffs.

The petition alleges that the neighborhood is the center of the residential district of the Town of Rockville and is solidly built up with residences and that no commercial or industrial enterprise of any kind is now or ever has been located within two blocks of the corner. They allege that Mr. Pumphrey on January 11 purchased the A. F. Prescott parcel of land at the southwest corner of the intersection and that he plans the establishment of a funeral home.

The plaintiffs then go into a long list of the efects of such an establishment on the neighborhood, claiming that the establishment will house many corpses and will be the scene of numerous funerals to the detriment of the comfort and repose of mind to which the plaintiffs are entitled and to the depreciation of property values.

The petitioners allege that they will be continually confronted by depressing reminders of death and the mental depression, horror and dread thereof and ask that Mr. Pumphrey be enjoined from establishing, maintaining or conducting such an establishment at that location.

Mr. Pumphrey recently dissolved partnership with his brother, Warner Pumphrey, and decided to open an establishment of his own.

Tucker to Face G. O. P. Opposition

Republican in Tenth District to Gather to Plan Fall Campaign.

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., March 21.—Republican leaders in Virginia, particularly in the Tenth District, will gather here Monday for a conference relative to the congressional campaign this fall. C. Bascom Slemp, Republican national committeeman, has been invited to attend, as also has R. H. Angell, of Roanoke, State Republican chairman. Duncan Currey, of this city, Republican State vice chairman, is authority for the statement that the Democratic nominee for Congress from the Tenth District will have opposition, but asserts party chieftains have reached no conclusion on who will make the run.

In the meantime, the Tenth District Democratic committee is tentatively arranging for a party conference about the middle of April, perhaps in Lynchburg. Formal call will be extended shortly by Samuel L. Ferguson, of Appomattox, district chairman. While Henry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, has made no formal announcement, it is considered a foregone conclusion that he will be a candidate for reelection.

Local Democrats say if Tucker is a candidate there is small likelihood that he will have opposition within his own ranks, and if not opposed will be declared the party's nominee by the district committee, making unnecessary a primary election.

Man Severely Burned As Blaze Razes Home

Cleveland R. Milstead was severely burned about the hands yesterday while battling flames which destroyed his home at Burnt Mills, Md. He was given first aid treaament by members of the Silver Spring Volunteer Fire Department Rescue Squad.

The building, a two-story frame structure, was burned to the ground despite efforts of firemen from Silver Spring and Takoma Park. Adjoining property was saved by the firemen. The cause of the fire is unknown. Damage was several thousand dollars.

Mine Employe Killed When Dragged by Horse

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 21.—Dragged by a horse-drawn car in the McCandlish Mine of the Hutchinson Coal Co., at Meadowbrook this morning, O. A. Knarr, 53, of Bridgeport, driver of the car, was fatally injured and died later in a Clarksburg hospital.

He was dragged several hundred feet before he could stop his horse. The victim leaves a widow and several children.

ARLINGTON WARNED ABOUT POLL TAXES

Levy Must Be Paid by May 1 if Voters Would Enter August Primary.

EXPLORER GIVES SPEECH

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The attention of Arlington County taxpayers is called to the fact that all poll taxes must be paid on or before May 1 in order to permit voters to enter the primary to be held in August when a candidate will be chosen by the Democratic party for Congress to fill the vacancy which will occur when the incumbent, Representative R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, will retire.

In the presidential election of 1928 the heaviest vote ever cast in Arlington County was polled when more than 6,000 ballots were cast.

It is understood that if all persons entitled to vote pay their poll taxes the qualified voters will reach close to 10,000.

While it is claimed by political leaders that it is early to start an active campaign with meetings, much interest is already being manifested and much work is going on.

There are three candidates who will enter the Democratic primary, State Senator Frank L. Ball and Capt. Crandal Mackey, former Commonwealth's attorney of Arlington County, and Circuit Court Judge Howard W. Smith, of Alexandria.

The Alexandria-Arlington-Fairfax Real Estate Board held a dinner meeting last night at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

Considering many matters pertaining to the development of this section of northern Virginia, it developed that the question of the tax rate stood out as the principal subject of discussion.

After discussing taxes for some time, it was voted that the board will make a special comparative study of the tax rates of the District of Columbia, Maryland and this section of Virginia comprising the Counties of Arlington and Fairfax and the City of Alexandria.

No action was taken on the question of the establishment of a Federal postoffice building for Arlington County by the executive committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation meeting last night at the home of the secretary, E. L. Bennett in Lyon Village. It was voted to leave the matter entirely up to the federation at its April meeting.

The secretary reports that a number of the constituent associations have acted on the recent resolution referring to the pending school building program and that in each case the action has been favorable.

The committee reports that much progress is being made with the plans for the annual banquet to be held at Arlington Hall the evening of April 5. Gov. John Garland Pollard and his daughter Sue are announced as the honored guests of the evening.

Leonard W. Kephart, of the United States Department of Agriculture delivered an illustrated lecture on the "Experiences of An Explorer in East Africa" last night before a large audience in the Lyon Park Christian Church.

More than 200 persons attended the dinner given last night in the Lyon Park community house by the women of the Lyon Park Womans Club.

Following the dinner a musical program was presented.

William S. Hoge, jr., of the Lee Boulevard Association, who had arranged to go to Richmond accompanied by members of the county board of supervisors today to confer with Chairman Col. H. G. Shirley regarding the rights of way for the Lee Boulevard, announced last night that the trip would not be made today. He stated that plans are now that the group will go to Richmond Monday.

Miss Betsy Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cannon, of Arlington, won the oratorical contest at the Washington Lee High School Thursday night.

The subject of her oration was "The Advantages of the Rigid Over Flexible Constitution."

Second place was won by Walter Spauls.

The judges were Miss Grace Holmes, of Eastern High School; Dr. J. Orin Powers, of George Washington University; and Dr. Frank Collier, of American University, Washington.

The Organized Women Voters of Arlington County will hold their March meeting Wednesday at the Lyon Park Woman's Clubhouse.

The business meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6 o'clock.

Services tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at St. George's Episcopal Church will be conducted by the Bishop of the Diocese of Virginia, the Right Rev. H. St. George Tucker, who will administer the right of confirmation.

In the evening the rector, the Rev. Henry J. Miller, will present an organ-sermon, "A Meditation on the Moods of Holy Week."

The Creative Arts Club of Arlington County meeting last night in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce listened to a lecture on Japan delivered by Gideon A. Lyon, which was illustrated with colored slides.

Mr. Lyon was a member of a group of journalists who, as guests of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, recently made a three-month tour of the Far East, visiting Japan, China, Manchuria and Korea.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. William Waddington Wells, chairman in charge of the arrangements for the meeting.

Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock the women of the Clarendon Circle of the Guild of St. Georges Episcopal Church will hold a luncheon meeting at the parish hall. All members have been requested to attend.

Morning and evening services tomorrow at the Clarendon Methodist Church will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. George H. Fielding.

Paralysis Is Fatal To Judge Barnard

Allegany County Leader Succumbs to Illness of Several Days.

Special to The Washington Post.

Westernport, Md., March 21.—Judge Fuller Barnard, sr., aged 74, for many years one of the leaders in Democratic politics in Allegany County, died late yesterday of paralysis. He was stricken March 14 upon his return from Cumberland where he sat during the day as a judge of the Orphan's Court. Judge Barnard was for a number of years chairman of the Democratic State central committee for Allegany County. In 1902 he was elected sheriff, although the county was heavily Republican. His father, John Barnard, was sheriff of the county in 1848. His family has resided in this section since 1676, migrating from Virginia.

Judge Barnard was a lifelong member of St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church South, Piedmont, of which he was an elder. He was one of the most active laymen in the Baltimore Conference. He was twice married. Surviving are his wife, one son, James C. Barnard, Washington, D. C., and one daughter, Mrs. Glenn O. Workman, Keyser, W. Va. Former State Attorney Fuller Barnard, jr., candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Sixth Maryland district, is a nephew.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon with the Rev. H. L. Hout, Hinton, W. Va., an intimate friend, conducting the service.

TEACHERS' LIST CUT IN LOUDOUN COUNTY

Several Schools Will Have Half-Day Sessions, Board Decides.

BUS PLEAS ARE DENIED

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., March 21.—The number of teachers in Loudoun County was reduced at a special meeting of the County School Board held in the school auditorium at Leesburg. Several schools will be run only a half day, it was decided. The budget was adopted and principals of several schools were elected.

The board decided that four years of high school work be continued at Waterford in 1930-31 with two teachers and that three high school teachers be employed upon the condition that the State school authorities will indicate the probability that the school be accredited with three teachers next session and could not be accredited with two; three teachers to be employed at Lucketts, three at Aldie and seven at Leesburgh; three teachers at Hillsboro, six at Purcellville, three at Hamilton, two at Bluemont, and one each at Pleasant Valley, Mountville and North Fork; that Red Hill and Sycoline, Clarks' Gap and Cool Spring, and Airmont and Paxson each have a half day of school with one teacher for each school; and that two years of high school be taught at Middleburg.

Application will be made to the State Board of Education for a loan not in excess of $9,000 from the literary fund for use in construction of the Round Hill school auditorium.

The travel allowance of the division superintendent of schools will be changed from the lump sum of $400 to the basis of 8 cents per mile. An addition to the school lot at Ashburn will be purchased at a cost of $500 provided that the local citizens contribute $200. A colored supervisor will be employed in 1930-1931. The Sycoline Colored School will be closed and an additional teacher will be employed in the Leesburg colored school.

The board voted against the closing of Tankerfield and transportation to Lovettsville; transportation by bus from Oatlands and Oak Hill farm to Aldie; closing of Oak Hill school and transportation to Lucketts; transportation by bus to Lucketts requested by certain patrons now attending that school; employment of school supervisor for elementary schools of over two teachers.

Principals of schools were elected as follows: Ashburn, Charles S. Monroe; Round Hill, J. F. Harrison; Hillsboro, Mrs. Evelyn T. Adams; Lucketts, J. S. Simpson; Lovettsville, L. A. Womeldorph; Union-Bloomfield, A. O. Hutton; Middleburg, Miss Gaylor Gibson; Lincoln H. S., Henry P. White; Lincoln G. S., Sarah E. Cox; Purcellville, Miss Bertha Gruver; Hamilton, Ocie R. Graham; Bluemont, Eliza D. Lunceford; Leesburg, Alexander S. Jenkins.

JESSE IS INDORSED FOR CIRCUIT BENCH

Alexandria Bar Association Asks Nomination to Succeed Smith.

WILL INFORM POLLARD

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Members of the Alexandria Bar Association held a meeting yesterday, presided over by Gardner L. Boothe, president, with Judge William S. Snow acting as secretatry, to consider a recommendation as successor to Judge Howard W. Smith, of the Sixteenth judicial circuit, who will shortly tender his resignation to Gov. Pollard in order to enter the race in the Democratic primary for Congress to succeed Representative R. Walton Moore, of the Eighth District.

The association went on record as indorsing Charles T. Jesse, of Arlington County, for the vacancy, by a large majority, and the secretary was instructed to submit the result of the meeting to Gov. Pollard for his consideration.

There were 29 members of the Bar Association present, and the names of all the candidates were placed in nomination and duly seconded. It is understood Mr. Jesse has already received the indorsement of the bar of Arlington County.

The use of the corporation courtroom by the United States Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, during the construction of the new Federal building, has been authorized, according to an announcement yesterday by Postmaster F. Clinton Knight. Both Judge William P. Woolls, of the Corporation Court, and Judge Howard W. Smith, of the Circuit Court, have given their consent to such use of the courtroom.

Bids for temporary quarters for the transaction of Federal Government business will be opened in the custodian's office of the local postoffice on April 7, these bids being for appropriate offices in which to carry on the work of the postoffice and other Government activities. According to Postmaster Knight, if one building of sufficient size to accommodate the several departments is not available, the work will be divided into groups and operate from different buildings.

Mrs. Nannie Louise Fossett Entwisle died Thursday night at her home, 718 Oronoco street. She was the wife of the late Charles F. Entwisle, and is survived by these children: Charles W. and Beartine Entwisle, Mrs. C. E. Emmert, Mrs. James McFadden and Mrs. William Milner. Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence by the Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, and burial will be in Union Cemetery.

Funeral services for John R. Hammersley, 73 years old, who died Thursday, following a long illness, will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at his late residence by the Rev. Edgar Carpenter, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, and burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Mr. Hammersley was for many years superintendent of St. Paul's Cemetery, and was the oldest member of the Friendship Veterans Fire Association, the members of which will attend the funeral.

Miss Alice Lorraine Swann, 82 years old, died yesterday at the home of her nephew, C. A. Swann Sinclair, at Braddock Heights, following a stroke of paralysis. She was the daughter of the late Charles Alexander Swann and Louisa Johnson Orrick Swann, and was born at Berkeley Springs, W. Va. She is survived by three nephews, C. A. Swann Sinclair, W. Talbot Sinclair, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Beverly Kennon Sinclair, of New York City, and one niece, Mrs. C. A. Swann Sinclair. She had been an invalid for many years.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

The Junior Board of the Anne Lee Memorial Home has elected Mrs. Richard B. English president, to succeed Mrs. Leonard J. Miller. Mrs. Harry D. Kirk is vice president; Mrs. W. Milton Glasgow, treasurer; Miss Dorothy Miller, secretary, and Miss Elizabeth Schneider, historian.

Judge Howard W. Smith has named Dr. W. Lewis Schaffer, city health officer, as physician to Ivakota Farms, at Clifton, to succeed Dr. W. Clyde West, who recently resigned.

Governors to Meet In Salt Lake City

Group's Executive Council Selects Convention Site at Annapolis.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 21.—The annual National Conference of State Governors will be held at Salt Lake City June 30 to July 2, inclusive, it was decided today by the executive council of the association, meeting here as the guest of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, who is a member of the group.

Four outstanding topics were selected for discussion at the conference. The speakers to handle them are yet to be assigned. The subjects are: 1. The Hawes-Cooper bill, making illegal after 1934 the interstate shipment of prison-made goods. 2. Taxation of national banks. 3. The sales tax, especially as it relates to such articles as cigarettes, tobacco, &c. 4. Unemployment and old age pensions.

Attending today's conference of the council held at the executive mansion, in addition to the host, were Govs. John H. Trumbull, of Connecticut, known as the "pilot governor" because of his interest in aviation; C. Gardner, of North Carolina; George H. Dern, of Utah; and former Gov. Cary R. Hardee, of Florida, the latter of whom is secretary of the National Association of Governors.

Man Given 18-Year Term For Crime Against Girl

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 21.—George Smith, Negro, was under 18 years' sentence in the penitentiary today, being convicted in the Pittsylvania Circuit Court of a statutory crime against a white girl. The jury deliberated for half an hour.

This morning Frances Smith, wife of the convicted man, was fined $100 and sent to jail for six months, being convicted of carrying a concealed weapon into the county jail the night before Smith was due to be tried. She denied it was her intention to give the revolver to him.

Cumberland Ready In Drive for Funds

Campaign to Be Launched by Community Chest Next Monday.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., March 21.—The annual drive for funds for the Cumberland Community Chest starts next Monday, to continue all week. J. George Smith is director of the campaign. He will be assisted by Clarence Litzenburg, J. Milton Patterson and Mrs. Robert R. Henderson as leaders of the three divisions. Mr. Litzenburg will be assitaed by Ralph F. SHIPPING ACT AIDS PORTS OF VIRGINIA

Hampton Roads Benefits From Merchant Marine Expansion, Meeting Hears.

SERVICE PLANS MADE

Old Point Comfort, Va., March 21 (A.P.).—Hampton Roads probably will be among the first ports of the Nation to benefit from the United States Shipping Board's projected plans for immediate expansion of the merchant marine, Rear Admiral H. I. Cone, of Washington, commissioner of the board, told the Virginia Foreign Trade Conference here tonight.

Forty ships to be constructed under mail contracts yet to be awarded, with 17 vessels which have been contracted for under the merchant marine act of 1928, will make a total of 57 ships of 600,000 gross tonnage costing approximately $250,000,000, most of them to be built in the next five years, Admiral Cone said.

The Shipping Board already has completed plans for a first-class service from Baltimore and Hampton Roads to Hamburg, Germany, he stated, this service offering a weekly sailing of first-class combination passenger and freight vessels capable of handling all business.

One of Most Important Ports.

"Hampton Roads, by virtue of its central position, its excellent harbor and anchorage area, its extensive terminal and rail development, together with shipbuilding, ship repair and drydocking facilities, can be rated as one of the most important ports in the country," Admiral Cone declared.

Virginia's development of foreign trade for both State and national purposes was praised by William L. Cooper, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the United States Department of Commerce, speaking before the conference. He predicted a steady increase in the State's trade with foreign nations.

He recalled the pioneer work of Virginians in exporting, pointing to the tobacco trade with the Old World developed 300 years ago.

Spectacular Instance of Growth.

"Perhaps there is no more spectacular instance of the growth of an export trade," he said, "than is found in the comparison between those few bales of tobacco which were loaded into the little eighteenth century vessels, with their squat bows and flapping sails, and the 556,000,000 pounds of tobacco shipped to every part of the world from the United States in 1929."

Last year, said Mr. Cooper, American goods sold to foreign countries were valued at nearly $5,250,000,000, an increase of 142 per cent over the average yearly value from 1910 to 1914. Foreign sales now provide the outlet for approximately 10 per cent of all American production, he said.

Capital Baseball Fan Injured in Auto Crash

Special to The Washington Post.

Birmingham, Ala., March 21.—Charles E. Richards, of 7119 Chestnut street, Takoma Park, D. C., who for many years has accompanied Washington baseball teams during the training season, was slightly hurt in an automobile near Meridian, Miss., yesterday, it was learned here today. Mr. Richards' machine overturned while rounding a turn, and he and two boys who were hitch-hiking were lacerated about the hands and face and badly shaken up. One of the boys said his name is Calvo and that he lives in Washington.

It was the second automobile accident reported by those attached to the Nationals' training squad. Mrs. Lloyd Brown, wife of the Nat pitcher, left the Hattiesburg, Miss., hospital last night, after being treated for minor injuries sustained when an automobile she was driving overturned.

PAPER CHALLENGES LEGALITY OF JURY

Montgomery Weekly's Tilt With County Officials Reaches Courts.

JUDGE CONSIDERS PLEA

Challenging the legality of the present Montgomery County grand jury, counsel for the Montgomery Independent, weekly newspaper which has been attacking the county government, yesterday asked Judge Robert B. Peter to dismiss the present grand jury and impanel a special grand jury to investigate the charges made by the newspaper.

Judge Peter stated that he did not believe that the substitution is necessary, or that it would be legal, but took the matter under consideration. He is expected to make his decision known Monday.

The action followed the demand by county officials that the grand jury investigate charges of inefficiency and grafting alleged to have been published in the newspaper and either indict the county officials for malfeasance in office or indict the newspaper owners and editors for criminal libel.

County G. O. P. Leader Is Lawyer.

F. Barnard Welch, Rockville attorney and Republican leader of the county, appeared for the Independent publishers and W. S. Casey, managing editor. Mr. Welch presented a petition which declared that a nephew of one of the county commissioners is a member of the grand jury; that a stockholder of the Montgomery County Printing & Publishing Co., publishers of the paper, is a member; that one or more members of the body is an employe of the county government, which will be under investigation, and owe their position to Maj. Lee or the county commissioners; that there are several members of the county Democratic organization on the body 'and thereby prejudiced against your petitioners;" that "the said grand jury is at liberty and must have heard the charges discussed outside of the jury room because of the publicity given said desired investigation by those who voluntarily appeared before said grand jury."

The petitioners further allege that the action of Maj. Lee and the county commissioners is in furtherance of their political fortunes in the coming county elections and urge that a special prosecutor, preferably from outside the county, be appointed. Further, it is claimed that the services of a certified public accountant will be necessary.

Public Accountant's Aid Sought.

The petitioners therefore ask that the present grand jury be dismissed and a special grand jury appointed by the court to investigate the charges and that a special prosecutor and certified public accountant be appointed to aid the special grand jury.

Mr. Welch was assisted by Edward Peter, a director of the Independent and one of the leaders of the anti-organization of Democrats. Albert M. Boule, generally recognized as the leader of the insurgent faction of Democrats, sat nearby and several times conferred with the two attorneys. John E. Oxley, who is expected to run as the antiorganization's candidate for State's attorney at the fall elections, also sat with Mr. Welch.

Special Prosecutor Is Requested.

Later in the morning State's Attorney Robert B. Peter, jr., appeared with the grand jury and asked that a special prosecutor be appointed to assist in the investigation.

The judge also decided to take this under consideration and advised the grand jury that it would be permissible for that body to recess until Monday, when it is expected that he will decide on the petition.

County leaders last night were confident that the petition would be dismissed, although they said they would be glad to have a special grand jury to investigate the county affairs if the judge believed it necessary. They challenged the statement of counsel for the newspaper that the jury is not competent to hold the hearings and pointed out that the antiorganization faction and Republicans evenly balance the organization members of the jury. It was claimed by the officials that a more representative jury could hardly be empaneled, with the same intelligence noticeable in its personnel. The leaders assert that "the Democratic antis, owning and operating the Independent and in sympathy with the Republican county organization, are fuly determined not to go to trial on the charges they have made against the county government and officials."

Says Commissioners Welcome Audit.

According to Maj. E. Brooke Lee, county Democratic leader and speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates, the county commissioners are entirely willing that a certified public accountant inspect the books of the county if such an audit is believed necessary by the grand jury or court; in fact, probably will order such an audit anyhow.

Robert D. Hagner, county auditor, of Bethesda, who is a cousin of Randall H. Hagner, Washington realtor, completed the audit of county accounts from July 1, 1921, to July 1, 1929, recently. He audited disbursements totaling $12,000,000 of State and county and found a total of $226 in bookkeeping discrepancies or errors.

Three weeks ago State auditors visited Rockville and audited the county books in the offices of the county treasurer, clerk of the Circuit Court and register of wills. Their audit of the county treasurer's report came within $20 of the result of Mr. Hagner's report.

Community League To Meet in Bedford

Special to The Washington Post.

Bedford, Va., March 21.—Representatives from all the senior and junior community leagues of District F, made up of Bedford, Campbell, Botetourt, Alleghany, Rockbridge, Appomattox, Amherst and Buckingham Counties, will meet in the auditorium of the Bedford High School Friday, March 28. Dr. Dice R. Anderson, of Lynchburg, is chairman of this district, Mrs. K. C. Gould, vice chairman, and J. J. Pray, of Campbell, secretary.

Dr. Anderson will preside and make the opening address, and among the other speakers on the program are Frank Bane, State commissioner of public welfare; Dr. Mary S. Brydon, director of the Bureau of Child Welfare; J. H. Montgomery, executive director of the Cooperative Education Association of Virginia, and Miss Frieda Koontz, Junior League secretary. There will probably be other speakers of prominence.
